Congressman Goodloe Byron

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks:

Did you support the amendment to the Housing and Community Development Bill concerning social security increases?

Yes. The amendment to which you refer exempts increases in Social Security benefits, after June 1974, in computing income eligibility for public and federally subsidized housing and the amount of required rent for such housing. The Housing and Community Development bill passed the House 351-25, as did this particular amendment, 285-114.

Please describe the various Federal financial aid programs available to students who will be attending college.

Parents of students who are enrolled or accepted for enrollment at a college, vocational school, technical school or hospital school of nursing may write my office here in Washington for a HEW Fact Sheet on the five major Federal financial aid programs. These are Basic Educational Opportunity Grants, Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, College Work-Study, National Direct Student Loans and Guaranteed Students Loans.

What is the extent of foreign investment in the United States?

The Senate Commerce Committee estimates foreign investment in the U.S. to be around $58 billion. Because this figure is an uncertainty, however, Congress has authorized the Secretaries of Treasury and Commerce to conduct a comprehensive study of foreign investment. Issues to be considered include the nature, scope, magnitude and rate of investment, reasons for it, impact on American businesses and on U.S. policy, the effect of U.S. laws and policies, geographic distribution and impact and the adequacy of information, disclosure and reporting requirements.

I know there are many former Western Maryland miners who are receiving black lung benefits, but what is the extent of this disability nation-wide?

At the present time, over 500,000 miners, widows and dependents are receiving monthly Social Security black lung benefits.

What was Maryland's share from the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund this year?

The Interior Department informs me that Maryland was apportioned $3.5 million from the Land and Water Conservation Fund for fiscal year 1973. The purpose of the fund is to insure open space and recreation opportunities for present and future generations through land acquisition. Also included in the fund is the Federal surplus property program which transfers to State and local agencies, at no cost, Federal surplus real property suitable for park and recreation use.

FALL IS APPLE TIME

Fall is a fine time to fit apples into any meal time situation. They are nutritious and easy for the school lunch and are good in many salads and as brisk weather turns our tastes to spicy and warm treats apples will be a perfect starting point. Serve them baked or in applesauce, cake, cookies, and pies.

The U.S. Department says that there are many varieties of apples which differ widely in appearance, color, flesh characteristics, seasonal availability, and suitability for different uses. Depending on the variety, apples are in best supply from October through June. The largest number of varieties start coming to market in the Fall.

The buyers should select the kind of apples best suited to the use he has in mind. For eating out-of-hand or other fresh uses look for Delicious, Jonathan, McIntosh, Stayman, or Winesap, all red varieties. Or look for Golden Delicious, a yellow variety that is fine for eating out-of-hand.

You will want a tart or slightly acid variety for pies and apple sauce. Gravenstein and Jonathan, both reds; Grimes Golden, Yellow Transparent, both yellow; or Newton, a green variety, are good for use in pies, tarts, and applesauce.

Baked apples make a good fall dessert and for this purpose you will need a firmer-fleshed variety of apple. For baking look for the Northern Spy, Rome Beauty, Winesap, or York Imperial, all red varieties. A green apple, The Rhode Island Greening, is also good for baking.

When buying apples check for quality. The U.S. Department of Agriculture or similar State grades are sometimes shown on packages of apples. U.S. Extra Fancy apples are top quality. They have the best color, shape and general appearance. U.S. Fancy apples are next best. U.S. No 1 apples may have less color and more russeting than U.S. Fancy, or they may have a lacy or solid netting on the skin, but this does not affect the flavor.

TAPIOCA APPLES

⅓ cup sugar, 3 tbls. quick-cooking tapioca, ¼ tsp. salt, 1½ cups water, 5 cups tart, pared apple slices, Gravenstein, Jonathan, Grimes Golden, Yellow Transparent, Newton.)

Mix sugar, tapioca, salt, and water in a large saucepan. Let stand while preparing apple slices. Then bring tapioca mixture to a full boil, stirring to prevent sticking. Add apples. Boil gently, covered until apples are tender, 10 to 15 minutes. Stir occasionally to prevent sticking. Makes 6 servings, about ⅔ cup each.

Note: Sprinkle with nutmeg and serve with plain or whipped cream, if desired.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs. Marcia E. Pike who died three years ago October 18, 1971.
Those who have a mother,
Treasure her with care.
You never know her value
'Til you see her empty chair.
God saw the road was getting rough,
The hills were hard to climb.
He gently closed her weary eyes,
And whispered "Peace be thine".
No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have lost can tell.
The grief is borne in silence,
For the one we loved so well.
What would we give to grasp her hands
And see her smiling face.
To hear her voice and see her smile,
These things we can't replace.
Sadly Missed by Her
Family and Loved Ones

Be On The Job . . .

Voters are being urged to "be on the job" on election day, next Tuesday, November 5, and assume their responsibility.

Imagine waking up to a day in which over one-third of America's work force has decided to take the day off. You amble to your front door, only to find your morning newspaper missing; the paper boy has gone fishing. After waiting an hour for your bus you decide to walk to work; the driver, too, is away from his job. You arrive home at the end of a hectic day to find no groceries for dinner—your wife says the store was closed. The point is obvious—none of us can function without the performance of responsibilities by those on whom we rely.

Yet many of us apparently expect our country to operate smoothly when over one-third of us are "off the job" as citizens and voters. In 1972, for example, 80 million Americans—37 percent of the electorate—failed to vote in the presidential election. Worse, in the last non-presidential election year, 1970, nearly 50 percent of eligible voters failed to cast ballots.

So, how about being on the job this year. Go to the polls on Tuesday and vote! You will feel better for having done it.

Another Freeway Stretch Opening Enters Garrett Co.

Another stretch of the National Freeway, this one running into Garrett county, will be opened Friday morning at 11 o'clock in a brief ceremony at the Midlothian interchange, according to John D. Bushby, district 6 state highway administration engineer.

The new section will be from the Midlothian interchange to a point just west of the Finzel road interchange, a distance of four and one half miles.

The dual lane highway crosses from Allegany county into Garrett county westward. The new highway runs somewhat south and parallel with the old U.S. route 40 and crosses along the southern breast of Big Savage mountain. The Freeway is 111 feet lower than the old highway atop the mountain.

A few weeks ago the section from relocated state route 36 to the Midlothian Interchange was opened to local traffic. The distance on the Freeway from route 36 to just west of the Finzel road interchange is five and a half miles for through traffic, Mr. Bushby noted.

Motorists traveling eastward over the Freeway will have an impressive view from the high vantage point of Big Savage mountain. The opening of the new stretch will by-pass Frostburg and will eliminate the congestion of traffic on Main street in that town, which is part of Old U.S. 40.

Among officials attending the official opening will be Garrett

Two Resurfacing Projects Listed For Garrett County

A number of Western Maryland projects are included in a major program of resurfacing of Maryland highways according to Bernard M. Evans, state highway administrator. Two of them concern Garrett county.

In addition to the million of dollars worth of black-top a concentrated effort had been made to improve merge lanes by widening and lengthening, to increase the safe flow of traffic.

The Maryland legislature allowed Mr. Evans to designate funds for safety, emergency and resurfacing projects and a sum of $6,500,000 for resurfacing and $6,000,000 for safety projects as well as for highway maintenance was approved during the last session.

Among the projects are Maryland 135, to be resurfaced from the Garrett County line at Luke, westward for 2.75 miles. The contract was awarded to Phoenix Construction company for $193,-901.

Maryland 39, from Oakland to the West Virginia line, a distance of 6.2 miles, is also among the projects to be improved.

The other projects are in Washington and Allegany counties.

Rankin Lusby Addresses 432 At Farm Dinner

Rankin Lusby, associate editor of American Farm Bureau Federation magazine, addressed members of the Garrett County Farm Bureau last Thursday evening on many of the problems of vital concern to all farmers.

A record crowd of 432 persons were on hand at the Grantsville fire hall for the turkey dinners prepared and served by members of the Grantsville firemen's auxiliary, to hear Mr. Lusby, a former assistant county agent here, and to elect new Bureau leaders.

Mr. Lusby, a Washington, D. C. resident, is also a past executive secretary of the Maryland Farm Bureau. He and his wife have two children, aged three years and six months.

Gary Fratz was master of ceremonies, and Rev. David E. Fetter gave the invocation.

Mr. Lusby's talk touched many of the issues currently concerning farmers, including inflation, food production levels, and the energy crisis. He noted that exports may be limited in the future, rather than continue the emphasis on limiting imports.

He asked farmers not to overreact to outside influences like the export-import debate, and noted that the Farm Bureau is fighting strict export limitations.

He also pointed up farm bureau success in helping stop federal land use legislation, and in dealing with agencies such as OSHA, Environmental Protection Agency, and others. In closing, he urged a large voter turnout in the coming elections.

Following Mr. Lushy's address, elections were held with Clark Kolb elected president of the Garrett County Farm Bureau. Gary Fratz was named vice president, and James Bowman, Accident; Leslie Guard, Friendsville; Ira Stark, Grantsville; Ray Ridder, Oakland; and Hubert Custer, Deer Park, were named directors.

Delegates chosen are Ira Yaste, Robert O. Glotfelty, William Merrill, Arthur Fitzwater, and Wayne Collier with Ralph Lichty and William Fitzwater, Jr., as alternates. Mrs. Leslie Guard is the new chairman of the Farm Bureau Women's Committee. Members elected Thursday evening include Mrs. George Bishoff, Friendsville; Mrs. Darwin Fike, Crellin; Mrs. Robert Harvey, Swanton; Mrs. Bertram Upole, Grantsville; and Mrs. Gary Fratz, Accident.

Delegate is Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, with Mrs. I. William Umbel, alternate.

One resolution adopted following the elections urges cooperatives to be bonded or other appropriate action taken to limit losses to the farmers due to financial crises within cooperatives.

Additional remarks at the close of the evening were made by Mrs. Joyce Bishoff, county women's committee; Nevin Umbel, representing the county Young Farmers, and I. William Umbel, of the farm bureau.

Raiders Win In Youth Football

The Oakland Raiders walked away with the Youth Football League championship last Sunday afternoon as they earned a hard fought 8 to 0 win over the last year champions, the Oakland Jets.

The winning tally came at the beginning of the third quarter when an Oakland Jet running back fumbled on his own 18 yard line and was recovered by the Raider defense. On the ensuing play Raider quarterback, Jerry Watson, rambled 15 yards into the end zone. Watson then added the 2-point conversion to complete the scoring.

In the consolation game the Terra Alta Dolpins earned the third spot honors with 14 to 0 win over the Friendsville Steelers. The Dolphins got on the scoreboard in the first quarter when quarterback Gary Mersing connected with Mike Rogers for a 53-yard touchdown pass. Mersing then added a two-point conversion to complete the scoring for the first half.

The other Dolphin TD came in the third period when running back Bob Frazee plunged in from the one-yard line.

The final standings: Oakland Raiders, 1st; Oakland Jets, 2nd; Terra Alta Dolphins, 3rd; Friendsville Steelers, 4th; Grantsville Colts, 5th.

Francis Nickler, representative of Island Creek Coal Company, presents a check for $500 to Mrs. Ramona Wotring, Southern High Band Booster president, as a contribution for the band's coming trip to Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade in New York City. Seventeen Southern Highlander Band members have a parent employed by either the North Branch or Alpine mines, according to Mr. Nickler.

Golden Robert Kirk, 50, of Kingwood has been lodged in the Preston county jail on charges of felonious assault.

Kirk was picked up Sunday afternoon by sheriff's department personnel in connection with an assault on his former wife, Dorothy Kirk, about two miles east of Kingwood in the area known as the grape thicket.

He was taken before Justice of the Peace Joseph Sereno, who set bond at $5,000. In lieu of bond, Kirk has been lodged in the Kingwood jail until a preliminary hearing can be held.

Hearings Set On Md. Forest Trails

Some 54 miles of trails in state forests for supervised use by off-road vehicles have been planned by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, and hearings are scheduled for this week on these trails.

One hearing was Monday in Oakland, and Wednesday at Naves crossroads near Cumberland, while this evening the hearing will be at Snow Hill.

The proposed trails are in Swallow Falls, Potomac, Savage river, Green Ridge, and Pocomoke State forests.

They have been located so as to minimize conflicts of use between off-road vehicles and other existing types of recreation. The locations seek to minimize disturbance of wildlife and disruption of habitat.

According to proposed regulations trails may not be located in officially designated wilderness areas, park, wildlife management areas, fishery management areas or areas where noise from the vehicle operations interferes with picnicking and camping.

In Swallow Falls State forest the proposals call for three trails totaling 11.1 miles.

There are four trails totaling 9.4 miles in Potomac State forest; two trails totaling 10.3 miles in Savage river state forest; four trails totaling 17.4 miles in Green Ridge state forest, and one trail totaling 6.1 miles in Pocomoke State forest.

Some sections of the trails are open to motorcycles, snow mobiles, and four-wheel drive vehicles, while others are restricted to one or more types of vehicles.

Trails in Swallow Falls, Potomac and Savage river forests would be closed during the six weeks prior to the spring turkey season.

county commissioners representing the county.

The five and a half mile stretch cost approximately $15 million. The cutting of the Freeway along the southern side of Big Savage was through solid rock.

The construction including draining and grading from Midlothian Interchange to the Allegany-Garrett line was done by Buckley and company, Philadelphia, at a cost of $3,707-221. Penn Central Industries, Hazleton, Pa., did the section from the county line to 1.01 miles west of the Finzel road Interchange at a cost of $8,181-598. Paving of the five and a half mile stretch was done by the Cumberland Contracting company, division of Interstate Amiesite company, at a cost of $2,204,933. There were a number of smaller jobs done in connection with the main highway project.

of his retirement, had slipped Sunday night while jacking up his truck which was stuck in the woods about two miles from his camp.

The jack handle slipped and hit him over the eye, according to a spokesman for the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Early Monday morning Mr DeWitt returned to the truck with his wife and started to jack it up again. His wife, who was with him, said he suddenly became ill and told her he had chest pains before he collapsed. His wife then walked to the nearest residence and called the rescue squad.

The body was taken from Sacred Heart Hospital to Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland. Funeral services are being conducted this afternoon at 2 p.m. at the funeral home by Rev. Frank Johnson, pastor of the Mellenry United Methodist Church. Interment will be in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

Born September 15, 1923, in Tennessee, Lt. DeWitt was a son of Whitfield and Anita (Gillespie) DeWitt, Mellenry.

Lt. DeWitt was a member of Mt. Lodge 40, Fraternal Order of Police, the American Rifleman's Association, a veteran of World War II, and a member of the Frostburg American Legion.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his wife, Valetta L. (Ruehl) DeWitt; two sons, Lt. Russell DeWitt, with the U.S. Army in Honolulu, Hawaii, Ronald DeWitt, Riverdale, a stepdaughter, Mrs. Sharon Reed, Somers, N. Y.; a stepson, George H. Kinsley, Flushing, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Bropst, LaVale, and Mrs. John Hauser, Middleton, Ohio; one brother, Harold G. DeWitt, Mellenry.

Active pallbearers and honor guard include Ross Holliday, Robert Smith, Lawrence Selby, William Meyers, Dave Anderson, Harvey Harmon, Claude Fike, Carl Ramsey. State Police members will be Tpr. Donald Wade, Lt. William Massey, Cpl. Willis Forman, Capt. Sam Conrad, Lt. William Turnbull, Lt. Milton Hart and retired MSP members Blair Buckel, Robert Henline, and Sheriff Jack Browning.

School Heads Hold Meets At McHenry

The Maryland school superintendents convened for their annual fall conference on October 24 and 25 at the Village Inn at Deep Creek Lake, with Dr. James A. Sensenhaugh, State Superintendent, presiding. Over the two-day meeting some 20 items were presented and discussed. A feature of the program was the topic, "Population Development and Implications for Public Education and Other Public Sector Activities," with the presentation by Dr. Matthew Tayback, Assistant Secretary for Scientific Affairs, Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. Dr. Tayback outlined student population trends and the impact that he believed this would have on the public school building program in the State of Maryland.

The in-service of reading teachers was highlighted at the conference via a presentation of the Appalachian Education Satellite Project, "Reading for Teachers," with a presentation by Dr. William Brish, Director, and Maryland's ITV Series in Production, "Reading for Pupils K-8".

The problems of maintaining confidentiality of student records as they relate to Public Law 93-380 were also discussed at the conference.

Probably the most widely discussed topic according to Dr. William H. Buser, local superintendent was the revised secondary school standards presented by Mr. R. Kenneth Twentey, Coordinator, Region 1, Maryland State Department of Education. The major changes in the proposed standards would require a minimum of 20 credits for graduation as opposed to the current 18 and physical education activities would be required to a minimum of two days per week throughout the four-year program for students.

Some of the superintendents present felt that it would be difficult for local school principals to supervise and evaluate these noncredit activities even though local guidelines for approving them are to be establish-ed. The new high school standards will be acted upon by the Maryland State Board of Education at its October 30 meeting and, if approved, will affect freshmen entering high school in the fall of 1975.

Three new members joined the club, bringing the total membership to 85.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Charles A. Barkman, who was taken away from us October 28, 1963.
Eleven long years ago he was called to his heavenly home,
Without the word of goodbye.
Have been lonely, but today is the saddest of them all.
God needed him more than us.
There are silent tears and heartaches,
For we love him so much.

The contest is for boys and girls between 8 and 13 years of age. Joseph L. Winters, local chairman, is also Tri-State West District chairman for this activity. He is extending an invitation to all boys and girls of the county to practice and enter the local contest. The three age groups are 8-9, 10-11, and 12-13 years of age.

Dates for competition have been set. November 16 the Southern County preliminaries will be held at the Southern High gymnasium. The date of November 23 has been set for boys and girls in the northern part of the county at the Northern High gymnasium. PLATFORM

Thomas E. Doyle

Republican Candidate

COUNTY COMMISSIONER

If elected to the office of County Commissioner, I will work toward the following goals:

REDUCE TAXES:

I believe that we should have reduced the rate by more than 25c this year. May I point out that the major cause of any tax increase is overspending. Inflation is rampant in our government, not only nationally, but state wide and especially locally. It takes some straight action to cut spending; but it is necessary if we want to reduce taxes.

ELECTED SCHOOL BOARD:

Reasons for it: Presently, our school board is appointed by the governor. He picks those who please him; not on the basis of their qualifications. If we care about our kids (and we all do) then we want to decide here in Garrett County who will be at the top; then if we don't like them, we can vote them out. Now we are at the mercy of our Governor! Let's change it. Soon!

OPEN COMMUNICATIONS:

Yes, this is a good idea. If I am elected, you will not need an appointment to come into the Commissioners' office. If you do come in to speak your piece, I will listen with an open ear.

"Help Tom Doyle so he can help you!"

Three Persons Are Treated, Released Following Mishaps

Three persons were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following motor vehicle wrecks during the past week in the southern part of the county. Two others were apparently less seriously injured.

Roy James Peterman, Oakland, was treated and released from the hospital following a one-vehicle wreck just before 7 a.m. last Thursday. He was traveling south on Md. Route 560 near Oak Grove road on a wet surface. He lost control of his truck which went off the left side of the road and overturned.

Ifc. Ronald Lewis made no charges against Peterman who was taken to the hospital by a passing motorist.

The operators of two cars were treated and released from the hospital following a wreck on U. S. Route 219 just north of the Oakland town limits last Wednesday evening.

Bonnie Kay Wagner, McHenry, was headed south on Route 219 about 7:35 p.m. and stopped suddenly to avoid hitting an unidentified vehicle which cut sharply into the north-bound lane. It, in turn, attempted to avoid hitting a second unidentified vehicle which had pulled from the Super Dollar parking lot unto Route 219. Robert Lynn Brenneman, RD 1, Accident, following, also failed to stop and hit the Wagner car, Cpl. R. J. Reed investigated.

Two other persons were slightly injured in separate accidents last Friday, one south and the other west of Oakland.

Charles Lee Pangh, Oakland, a passenger in a car driven by Larry W. Beckman, Mt. Lake Park, was slightly injured in a one-car wreck just before midnight last Friday.

Beckman, headed south on U.S. Route 219 at a high rate of speed, lost control of his car which ran off the right shoulder and hit a deep embankment.

Tfc. Lewis charged Beckman with negligent or reckless driving.

Earlier that evening, Marie C. Reckart, Star Route 2, Oakland, was slightly injured in a two-car crash on the Hutton Road near the Crellin Straight ruad.

She was stopped headed east on the Hutton Road waiting to make a left turn when Gilbert A. Lewis ran into the rear of her car when his brakes failed.

Tfc. Lewis charged Lewis with operating an unsafe vehicle.

Four other minor accidents occurred late last week in the southern and central parts of the county.

Debrah J. V. Clelland, RD 3, Deer Park, was traveling east on the Garrett road about a mile south of Boiling Spring road last Thursday afternoun as Paul F. Deal, Mt. Lake Park, in a pick-up, was headed west. Due to the narrow road, Debrah Clelland applied her brakes skidded across to the left side of the road and struck the Deal vehicle.

Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Deborah Clelland with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

The following afternoon, Evelyn M. White, Star Route 2, Oakland, was traveling east on the Hutton road near the Crellin Straight road. The operator stated a vehicle apparently crossed the lane of travel, causing her to swerve to the left to avoid hitting it and hit a culvert on the left side of the road. Tfc. Lewis investigated.

Lawrence E. Wilt, RD 2, Swanton, was traveling north on Paradise Point road late Saturday night when his vehicle failed to negotiate a left curve in the roadway. The car went off the left side of the road and hit a tree. Trooper Broadwater investigated this one and charged Wilt with operating a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated condition.

Trooper Lawrence R. Rosage, RD 1, McHenry, was traveling south on U.S. Route 219 at Kings Run road last Saturday morning and had stopped to make a right turn. Carole Ann Peck, RD 2, Swanton, following Rosage, thought he was going to make a left turn and started to pass on the right and the two collided. Tfc. Ronald Lewis investigated.

Three Injured In Weekend Mishaps

Weekend accidents in the county caused injury to two persons who were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Treatment of a third was not indicated.

Ward D. Clemens, Star Route, Oakland, was treated and released from the hospital following a collision on U.S. Route 219 at Mayhew Inn road late Sunday.

Clemens was driving north on Route 219 in a pick-up and was preparing to make a left turn into a driveway. Charles R. Ferguson, Phillipsburg, Pa., also in a pick-up, following, started to pass Clemens and the two collided.

Ferguson was charged by Tfc. Ronald Lewis with passing on left when unsafe.

Injured in a pre-dawn Saturday, one-car mishap was Denise Kennedy, 20, St. Clair, Pa., a passenger in a car driven by Charles L. Kuclinic, 20, Pittsburgh. She was treated and released from the hospital.

Kuclinic was traveling south on Mattingly Hill road just south of Squire Fike road about 2 a.m. when a deer jumped onto the path of his car. He swerved attempting to miss the animal and struck an embankment.

Trooper G. A. Berkebile investigated.

Another accident about an hour later just north of Red House on Route 219 caused injury to the operator of the one-car wreck.

Stephen G. Savage, RD 1, Oakland, was driving north on Route 219 when his car ran off the road, ont of control, struck several trees and overturned.

Tpr. J. E. Foley charged Savage with operating an unsafe vehicle. The car was ealled a total loss. There was no report of treatment of Savage's injuries.

One minor mishap was noted.

Mary Etta DeWitt, Star Route 2, McHenry, pulled into a private drive off the Sang Run road Sunday evening and then started to back to turn around but backed into a yard fence of Paul Cosner. The operator gave Cosner her name and left the scene and contacted the police later. Tfc. Lewis charged her with operating without a license and improper backing.

Southern Language Students Travel

Foreign language students at Southern High School are taking two field trips to see dramatic productions in French and in German. The field trips involve about 75 students, are sponsored in part by the Garrett County Board of Education, and are supervised by Miss Anna Mae Norris and Miss Ducy Snyder, French teachers, and Mrs. Joan Lambert, German teacher.

The first of these field trips was to Frostburg State College to see the annual theatrical production by the Department of Foreign Languages on October 25. Two plays were presented, one in German and one in French. The German play was "Der Gast ist immer Recht." The French play was an adaptation of Moliere's farce "Le Medecin Malgre Lui." Approximately 40 Southern students participated.

November 7 at Goucher College in Towson, the professional Parisian acting troupe, "Le Treteau de Paris" will present "Le Roi se Muert." The play by Ionesco and is considered an outstanding example of "the theatre of the absurd," a movement in French theatre which developed after W. W. II. Thirty-six French students of Southern High School will be attending the evening performance.

DABNEY, JR.

State's Attorney

Lever - 16A

Dear Fellow Garrett Countian:

In this last letter before the election, I would like to discuss with you my feelings about the office of State's Attorney.

As you are aware, this office was established to enforce the laws of our State. The man who is elected State's Attorney must be prepared to devote his full attention and time to this most important position. He must be readily available to act on criminal complaints made by concerned citizens.

Your State's Attorney must enforce the laws fully and fairly, treating all persons equally. For him the enforcement of the law is a matter of integrity. He must not have any interests which conflict with his duty of representing the citizens of Garrett County.

I have offered my candidacy for this position because I believe I am able to meet these requirements and perform these duties without reservation.

Sincerely,

Thomas B. Dabney, Jr
Candidate for State's Attorney

Groups Discuss Simulated Search, Rescue Missions

A round table discussion regarding the two simulated search and rescue drills held recently by members of the Northern and Southern Garrett County Rescue Squads and other concerned organizations was held Wednesday, October 23, at the McHenry fire hall.

Tfc. Carl D. Skidmore, of the Maryland State Police, acted as moderator for the discussion, which aimed to provide constructive criticism so that those concerned could discover good points and areas of weakness.

Discussion came under three main categories: organization, communications and command post operations. After the searches were discussed, proposals were made to aid in organizing a more efficient search and rescue effort in the future.

Representatives were present from the Bittinger, Grantsville, Accident, Deer Park, Oakland, and Deep Creek Volunteer fire companies; Lt. William Turbull, Tpr. Ronald Georg and Tfc. Delbert Broadwater, of the Maryland State Police; Robert Warnick, Maryland Forest Service; and both rescue squads. The "victim" of both searches, Michael Matese, Frostburg, also was present.

Additional simulated searches will be conducted in the future.

World Community Day To Be Celebrated Friday

World Community Day will be celebrated by Church Women United on November 1, at 1:30 p.m. at the St. John's Lutheran Church, Meadow Mountain. The women of Garrett County will join other women across the country in the annual celebration of this day.

The origin of World Community Day can be traced to the week of Pearl Harbor when a convention of United Council of Church Women met in Atlantic City. "As nations were flying apart, women are coming together," said Amy Welcher who became the first president of this interdenominational council, the forerunner of Church Women United. One of the first acts of this council in 1942 was to inaugurate a day of peace. The following year this day became known as World Community Day. Water Pollution At Luke Plant Is Being Abated

A $700,000 water pollution abatement project to impound and reuse condensate at Westvaco's Luke mill has been announced by Arthur L. Noble, mill manager.

Mr. Noble stated that the project will have a marked beneficial effect on the Potomac River eliminating the last significant outfall containing BOD.

Heart of the project is the installation of a 400,000-gallon impounding tank to collect and redistribute condensate for reuse in mill operating areas.

Construction is already underway on this part of the project.

The large impounding tank will prevent surface condenser condensate from going to the waste treatment plant or river. The surface condensers were a $13 million water pollution abatement facility installed last year to replace the mill's barometric condensers.

The 41x10-foot tank is already under construction on a former electrostatic precipitator site at Luke. Hoods, fans and ducts have been installed at the Luke kiln filter, along with the necessary stainless steel piping in all parts of the new system.

When completed in late fall, the system will eliminate any possibility of accidental spills of black liquor to the Potomac River. This liquid, high in biochemical oxygen demand (BOD) is concentrated in the evaporator as an essential step in the mill's chemical recovery system.

Let's Do Our Own Thing!

Americans owe their prosperity to private individuals who produce goods and services. This may come as quite a shock to our children because they somehow heard that most middle-class businessmen are fat and greedy with big cigars. That is wrong. Businessmen own the means and the knowhow to produce the goods, services and jobs that make the U.S. what it is. They do their own thing. Most of us sell our labor to businessmen because we can't or won't do the thinking, take the risks, and produce the goods ourselves. We depend on their extra ability and initiative for our paychecks. If you can produce a better product for a cheaper price on the free market DO IT, and your former employer will wind up working for you. That is elementary free enterprise. It is the most efficient, practical, and individualistic marketing system Mankind has ever seen.

Unfortunately, there are a few fat and greedy men whose lust for power is insatiable. These men always gravitate toward positions of power in government to use the just authority of government for their own business and financial interests. This is nothing new. Tyranny has plagued people from Pharoah to George III to Lenin to (Rockefeller!?). Anyway, the Founders of our Republic wrote the Constitution to restrict the powers of government in such a way that the power-seekers will never be able to impose slavery on the American businessmen and their employees again.

In the Declaration of Independence, our Forefathers accused the King of Great Britain of erecting "a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither Swarms of Officers to harass our People, and eat out their Substance." They also accused him of "imposing Taxes on us without our Consent." For these and other grievances, the colonists said "NO" to their oppressors with their guns.

Then with astounding insight and wisdom they set up the Constitution, which has safeguarded the rights of the American people for almost 200 years. They gave us the power to say NO to our oppressors with our votes instead of our guns.

Our oppressors would use the U.S. Government, the State of Maryland, the Board of County Commissioners, and any other vehicle of authority to impose their selfish will on us, in flagrant violation of the Constitution. They are conditioning our children to believe that "middle-class bourgeois hypocrites" are somehow oppressive and greedy, and that "liberals" are kind and generous. The "liberals" are mostly innocent people who have been convinced that government agents must "plan" our future for us. They imply that Socialism (Govt. ownership of goods and services) is necessary. They don't understnad that the fat and greedy tyrants plan to run the Government. It has happened before, and it will happen again (even in Garrett County) UNLESS we say NO to the professional politicians and let our professional producers and businessmen get the Government off our backs, and out of our wallets.

One Is Held For Robbery, One Fined For Assault

A Kitzmiller man is being held for alleged robbery with a deadly weapon and a Barton man was fined $100 for assault and battery in District Court by Judge Lewis R. Jones Monday.

Harold A. Haddix, Kitzmiller, has been charged with robbery of an automobile with a deadly weapon.

Haddix allegedly took a 1968 Dodge Dart from Elmer S. Likens of Rowlesburg, W. Va. by pointing a pistol at him, then drove off with the car. The incident occurred in Kitzmiller about 1 a.m. October 22. A $5000 bond was set and following the hearing Monday Haddix was returned to the Garrett County Jail. Trial date had not been set.

Haddix had been picked up in Elk Garden W. Va., last Wednesday and taken to the Mineral County jail in Keyser, W. Va., a fugitive from justice, by the West Virginia State Police. He was returned to the Garrett County Jail last Friday, after waiving extradition.

A woman companion who was with Haddix at the time of the incident was returned to her home according to Maryland State Police.

Likens car was recovered last Wednesday morning in the Kitzmiller area.

Lonnie E. Warnick, Barton, pleaded not guilty of assault and battery on Harold S. Warnick, Jr., of Luke, on the Savage River road September 21.

At a trial Monday, Lonnie Warnick was found guilty and fined $100 and $10 costs.

Robert Cannon, Crellin, had been charged with disorderly conduct at Oak Grove Tavern on the Crellin road October 4. At a trial Monday the case was stetted as the defendant will remain out of the tavern.

Louise Gore Sees Big Chance To Win

Saying that she has "more than a good chance to win" the gubernatorial election a confident Louise Gore toured Allegany county last Friday and repeated her charges that Governor Marvin Mandel has done nothing to clean up the state's reputation for corruption.

Citing polls her staff has taken Miss Gore said the results show that she is "certainly gaining support, now that the people know me."

She charged that the governor was not being honest when he said there have been no tax increases during the Mandel administration.

She pointed out that while there bad been no increase in the state's general tax, Mr. Mandel neglected to point out the increases during his administration in gasoline, sales, horse racing, alcoholic beverages and title taxes.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr Hanst:

Concerning the letter last week in The Republican from Bob Ruckert, I want to compliment you for having the courage to print the letter (without deletions) from a relative of one of the owners of the paper. You have once again renewed my confidence in the free press. The letter was obviously political and petty.

Furthermore, it seems to me The Republican has been extremely cautious and unbiased in giving the voting public information concerning the upcoming election. Many newspapers take an editorial position supporting candidates and you have the right and sufficient reasons to do so. For example, you could inform the voters that Mr. Doyle, if elected, would have a serious conflict of interest between his profession and his community responsibility. How can a man who depends on real estate sales be objective when determining key issues such as zoning, convention centers, sewers, etc., that affect the county? How can be help but trade on inside information to benefit his real estate business? As you are well aware, there are several personal items that you could also print.

The voters deserve to hear you say how fortunate we are to have men like Wayne Hamilton representing our interests. He is totally familiar with the problems of the County and has handled the problems with skill in spite of what he inherited from the previous administration. One need not look back too far to get a vision of what might be in store for us should Wayne Hamilton be defeated.

Sincerely,
James Murphy
Oakland, Maryland

WE MUST CUT TAXES
BY
Thomas E. Doyle

Look at this!! Seven out of nine counties called cut their tax rate. The other two counties already had lower rates than ours!!

COUNTIES	OLD RATE	PRESENT RATE	CUT
Allegany	$2.65	$2.40	25c
Anne Arundel	$2.59	$1.81	78c
Charles	$2.95	$2.42	53c
Dorchester	$2.84	$2.69	15c
GARRETT	$2.68	$2.68	NONE
Harford	$2.66	$2.54	12c

Somerset	$2.20	$2.00	20c
Washington	$2.50	$2.50	none
Worcester	$1.91	$1.91	none

Garrett County Did Not Cut Its Tax Rate

Why?

THE ANSWER IS CLEAR! The present Board of County Commissioners has been spending too many of our precious tax dollars. This does not mean I am against spending necessary funds to maintain fair wages for county employees; but I am against wasteful government spending!

JUST LOOK AT THE EXTRAVAGANT INCREASES in the items below. (ESPECIALLY NOTE THE 212% INCREASE IN THE COMMISSIONERS PERSONAL EXPENSE ACCOUNT.)

Purple Martin Landlords Given Year-Round Advice

Mrs. William Pope, area coordinator for the semi-annual bird counts in this county, recently brought an article on attracting and keeping Purple Martins to the office of The Republican.

The article, by Roy Hider, of Canada, appeared in Inland Bird Banding News, Volume 46, number 4.

On the checklist for September-October, would-be Purple Martin landlords are encouraged to clean out houses of old nesting materials; plug holes until Martin time next year, or remove house for winter renovation.

During the winter, renovate and paint old wooden houses, preferably white, build rating on platforms to save young, ensure entrance hole is 2 to 2 and one-fourth inches in diameter.

For those with aluminum housing, clean out compartments and insert metal stops in compartment openings. In February, locate and place new homes and dust one tablespoon powdered sulphur into each compartment.

During April-May, maintain sparrow and starling control and watch out for Purple Martin scouts.

It is essential that homes have at least six compartments, 6x6 x6 in size; entrance holes are 1 inch from floor, roof and sides are painted white, houses are at least ten inches high (14 inches is ideal) and at least 15 feet from branches and buildings; and that there are no paint odors in houses.

For those who are more desperate, it is well to erect more than one house, have perching facilities nearby, change location or elevation if unsuccessful previously; have water nearby, and add cedar chips with sulphur to compartments.

During nesting, make sure that predator control is constant, that crushed eggshell is offered on an elevated flat surface, and that nesting material such as twigs, straw, string and leaves, is offered and that a mud puddle is available.

When young have hatched, make sure that fallen young are returned to any nest and that in severe weather supplementary food is considered.

Many residents of Oakland and elsewhere in Garrett County subscribed to memberships in the Concert Association last May. This entitles them to attend all five concerts during the 1974-75 season.

Discusses More Issues

One of the values of any political campaign is that it tends to cast up issues in which the public is interested. My position on four were stated in this space last week. Four more appear this week.
V. Highways — Maryland now has an excellent network of multi-lane, high speed, limited access highways. Further construction of such highways should be substantially curtailed and the savings applied to the development of secondary highways and public transportation.
VI. Elected School Board — This question has two sides. Garrett Countians should have a right to consider the matter thoroughly and to express their desires through a referendum. If I am elected they will have this opportunity.
VII. Social Progress — One gubernatorial candidate has promised prison reform; the other has promised improved care for the elderly. I will strongly support legislation which will achieve both of these highly desirable and grossly neglected goals.
VIII. Industry — Garrett County coal can be profitably mined and safely consumed under present environmental standards. I will act vigorously to relax the bureaucratic inertia which is the principle obstacle to the re-emergence of this important Western Maryland industry.

Here's what Govenor Mandel has done for Garrett County:

Garrett County will receive $6.1 million in direct aid from the State during the current fiscal year.

Under an increased aid program introduced by Governor Mandel, $4 million will go directly into the Garrett County School System for the education of our children.

In this fiscal year alone, $305 thousand has been authorized for building and renovating schools under the school construction program introduced by Governor Mandel.

In addition, the State assumed financial responsibility for bonded indebtedness on schools built in Garrett County before the Mandel school construction program was created.

Total State aid to Garrett County is the equivalent of approximately $4.60 on the local property tax rate - a tremendous savings to the taxpayer!

Since 1969, the State has invested approximately $12 million for major capital construction facilities in Garrett County, including Southern Middle School and Savage River-New Germany Complex.

In Garrett County, the State has committed more than $1.6 million for 5 sewage treatment projects to help clean county waterways.

Maryland under Governor Mandel has produced a balanced budget with a surplus. Governor Mandel has visited Garrett County more times than any of his predecessors.

For the first time in Garrett County history we are represented on the State Board of Education.

Maryland Voters To Decide On Amendments, Referendum

Editor's Note. Thirteen proposed amendments to the State Constitution will be on the ballot next Tuesday plus one referendum question.

The amendments and referendum are explained in the following paragraphs.

Some of the amendments pertain to the entire state, while others pertain only to one region of the state.

Question One is a proposal to add Anne Arundel county to the provisions allowing the immediate taking of land for public use. The present procedure allows Anne Arundel county to condemn land for public use but must wait until full settlement is made before taking it.

Question Two is a proposal to allow the General Assembly to provide for a system of disbursing state money other than by the use of checks. If approved the General Assembly could authorize the use of a system of paying state money other than by checks.

Question Three asks the voters to decide whether or not the constitution shall require the governor to submit a balanced budget. The present practice has been to present a balanced budget but if passed it would be required.

Question Four would add commercial property to the provision that the General Assembly may authorize Baltimore City to make, guarantee or insure financial loans for rehabilitation or improvement of residential property in the city.

Question Five, if approved, would provide for suspension without pay of any elected official convicted of a crime and for the removal from office of such official if the conviction becomes final.

Question Six concerns a proposal to reduce and clarify the residence requirements for state senators and delegates. Present procedures states to be eligible a person must have resided in the state for three years and in the county or legislative district of Baltimore city for one year. If approved a candidate for General Assembly would be required to reside in the state for one year and in the legislative district he is chosen to represent for six months.

Question Seven would permit the General Assembly to provide for absentee voting by qualified voters who are absent or who are unable to vote in person. The amendment, if approved, would allow the General Assembly to further liberalize the absentee voting provisions so that any qualified voter who is absent or unable to vote in person for any reason could cast an absentee ballot.

Question eight proposes that the governor's salary be increased from $25,000 to $15,000 per year.

Question Nine, if approved, would change and clarify the procedure for presenting, signing, vetoing and determining the effective date of bills passed by the General Assembly. Purpose of the amendment is to set up a definate time schedule for the vetoing as well as pinpointing responsibility.

Pruposal Ten would expand the powers of the Commission on Judicial Disabilities and the Court of Appeals in handling complaints of misconduct by judges.

Question Eleven would abolish the office of county surveyor in Carroll and Garrett counties, and, after completion of the term of the surveyor elected in 1974 in Montgomery county. In recent years the office of county surveyor has assumed less importance. In 1972 an amendment was adopted abolishing the office in Baltimore city and 19 counties.

Question Twelve would authorize the General Assembly to permit Baltimore to make, guarantee or insure financial loans for the purchase or construction of residential property, including land, in the city. Those in favor say the amendment would make home ownership available to those in Baltimore who otherwise would not have access to it, as well as prevent the spread of urban blight and erosion of the tax base.

Question Thirteen also deals with Baltimore city. It would provide for appointment and removal of all employes of the clerk of the Baltimore City Criminal court in accordance with the merit system.

Question Fourteen, the referendum is an act concerning Public Education—Services for Non-Public school children; for the purpose of providing for the loan of textbooks, instructional equipment, instructional material to non public schools and to provide for the transportation of children attending nonpublic schools in the state of Maryland, and relating generally to state and for children attending nonpublic schools. A similar question was voted down in a previous election.

Gets Big One!

Barry Janoske, age 8 years, caught a nice size small mouth bass during late summer, on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Janoske, the boy's parents, at Crellin.

The fish weighed 4 pounds and 2 ounces and was 17½ inches long. He has received three large emblems and a Maryland citation.

111 Tour Tabernacle

One hundred eleven persons, senior citizens and others, toured the new Mormon Temple at Kensington, near Washington, last Tuesday, October 23. Arranged by Mrs. Minnie Wolfe the trip was made in three chartered Willetts buses of Frostburg.

The group left Oakland at 9 a.m., and returned around 10 p.m. and visited the temple for some two hours. Visitors have numbered 22,000 per day since it was opened for visitors. November 4 will be the final day, after which time it will be closed to all non-members.

TIME TO LIME

This is the time of year for you to be thinking about liming your fields ... by applying mag lime now, your soil will be neutralized by spring and ready to go to work. Soil in this area has a high acid content, and it's necessary to apply mag lime to reduce this excess acidity ... in addition by using the proper amount of lime ... you save money ... by using less fertilizer.

Let ROBERT H. MILLER TRUCKING spread your fields with lime this fall, when fields are solid enough ... and when the trucks aren't nearly as busy as they will be next spring ... so don't wait until the last minute ... you can arrange to have Robert Miller spread your fields with lime by contacting your local Agway Store or representative ...

Paragraph Opinions

"No one needs to tell us (publishers) the postal rates are still going up but no doubt there are a lot of readers who may wonder why the rates will be going up for months to come and we have some of those reasons—as follows: it cost $38,500 for example to furnish the Postmaster General's office and another $130,000 for the adjoining reception area, press conference room and a room for the Board of Governors. Here is a list of some of the furnishings for the PMG carpeting, $1,666; draperies, $5,999. 2 sets walnut doors, one with, one without the Postal Service seal, $3,671; convertible couch, $1,043; sofa, $821; marble topped lavatory. $88. It all makes me wonder if it is really worth 10 cents to mail a letter.' The thing that really gets to me is the fact it costs the same to send one to the bank across the street as it does to send it to my friend in the 50th state. ." New Loudon, Iowa, Journal.

"The U.S. Labor Department has announced that the new official poverty level is $4,450 for an urban family of four. The new limit is $250 more than the annual earnings which in 1973 placed such a family in the poverty category. Not so many years ago a family of four with an annual income of $4,450 was thought to be pretty well off. What with inflation, taxes and all today that family, under federal standards, is defined as poor. We wish that some economist would explain how it makes sense on the one hand to keep on increasing the federal minimum wage until theoretically everyhody under the law acquires more wealth, while on the other hand the Labor Department keeps on increasing the poverty level until theoretically everyhody will he poor. There is something about the government's economic theories we just don't understand." Beaufort, S. C. Gazette.

"The other day we took a quick survey and discovered our shirt was made in Japan, pants in Taiwan, boots in Mexico and our watch in West Germany We're not sure about our underwear. We asked ourselves, "Why are so many things made out of this country? Then we looked at prices and we knew." Thermopolis, Wyo. Independent Record.

"As the old saying goes, "I could write a book." So could retail merchants on the subject of shoplifting. But it would be a slim volume when it came to recording the excuses of apprehended shoplifters. There aren't any new excuses. Just the same old tired stand-bys which only serve to self accuse. This should be a lesson to would-be shoplifters. Don't embarrass yourself and your family and friends, by repeating what the man before you, and the youngster before him, and the woman before that did to try to justify their crime—because that's what it is. A crime, nothing less, they stole and they got caught. They got prosecuted. They now have police records. There is no further need to self accuse. Think about it, stealing is a loser's game. The price is too high. High Point N.C. Enterprise.

American Freedom and Christian Responsibiiity

By Rev. W. H. Leake, Deer Park, Md.

Abraham Lincoln said, "To remain silent when we should protest makes cowards of us all". I am totally sold on the American form of government. I THINK OUR GOVERNMENT OF THE PEOPLE, FOR THE PEOPLE AND BY THE PEOPLE is the best the world has ever known. I have spent a good part of my adult life defending the American Concept. I gave three years of service in the USMC and wounded in the Korean Conflict and following that I served our country 4½ years in the USAF. I said all that to say this: I am an American and thank God every day of my life for allowing me to be born and live in this wonderful country.

I have also spent several years studying Biblical and World History and I have come to the conclusion that if we in America ever lose to the tyrants and dictators that want to destroy us and rule the world, it will be because of petty, cheap, and perhaps misguided politicians. Someone has also said "Eternal Vigilance is the price of Freedom", I concur. This vigilance should start on the county level and go all the way to Washington. D. C. Any politician that will not respect the concept of Government of the people, for the people and by the people, should be replaced at the soonest possible date.

There are several reasons why I have chosen to work against the re-election of Governor Mandel and Commissioner Wayne Hamilton. Let me give one example: In 1971 the present Board of County Commissioners caught the fever that was and is spreading across the country for Land Use Legislation. So at great expense to the over burdened taxpayer, they came up with a monstrosity of a bill. Several intelligent land owners and over burdened taxpayers of whom Mr. Tom Doyle was one, took a long hard look at the giant size book known as the "Real Estate Subdivision Ordinance for Garrett County". They did not like what they saw, meetings were called; this is where I got involved. for I am convinced property rights and Human rights stand or fall together. Since no concessions "or at least very little" could be gained by trying to work with the Hamilton Commissioner Board, a petition asking the commissioners to allow their land use bill to go to the county voters on referendum was circulated. They refused even though approximately 5000 countians had signed the petition. Mr. DeCorsey Bolden, our delegate, was contacted and asked what could be done. He, being a good representative of the people, introduced the following Bill.

EMERGENCY BILL, HOUSE OF DELEGATES, No. 1151 BY DELEGATE BOLDEN.

SECTION 1. BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF MARYLAND, that new Section 5.03.1 be and it is hereby added to Article 66B of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1970 Replacement Volume and 1971 Supplement), title "Zoning and Planning," subtitle "Subdivision Control," to follow immediately after Section 5.03 thereof, and to read as follows:

5.03.1. NOTWITHSTANDING ANY OTHER PROVISIONS OF THIS ARTICLE, IN GARRETT COUNTY ANY PLAN FOR SUBDIVISION CONTROL ENACTED BY THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS AFTER JANUARY 1, 1972, SHALL BE SUBJECT TO REFERENDUM BY THE REGISTERED VOTERS OF THAT COUNTY UPON PROPER PETITION FILED AS PROVIDED BY ARTICLE 33 OF THE ANNOTATED CODE OF MARYLAND.

SECTION 2. AND BE IT FURTHER ENACTED, that this ACT is hereby declared to be an emergency measure and necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health and safety and having been passed by a yea and nay vote supported by three-fifths of all the members elected to each of the two houses of the General Assembly, the same shall take effect from the date of its passage.

This Bill was passed by both the House of Delegates and the State Senate; but was never signed by Governor Mandel. The day hearings were held in Annapolis on the Bill, Mr. Hamilton and Commissioners with their attorney went to Annapolis and asked Governor Mandel to veto the Bill; and, of course, being the liberal that he is, he went along with Mr. Hamilton and vetoed the Bill for which many had worked so hard, thus denying the people a constitutional right to vote on a very important matter — THEIR PROPERTY and its use.

REMEMBER VOTERS: POLITICIANS WHO WILL NOT LISTEN TO OR HEED US WHEN WE SPEAK OR SIGN PETITIONS, WILL BE MADE TO LISTEN WHEN WE CHECK OUR BALLOT. WE WANT REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT ON ALL LEVELS, NOT DICTATORSHIP.

Pacesetter Award Is Presented To Everett Weitzell

The U.S. Independent Telephone association recently presented Pacesetter Awards to Everett C. Weitzell, retired deputy administrator of the Rural Electrification administration during the association's 77th annual convention held in San Francisco

The presentation to Mr. Weitzell cited his "versatility, persistence, dedication, know-how" and his "truly exceptional service as deputy administrator of the REA during the period when the program experienced serious troubles."

Harold G. Payne, director and treasurer of USITA and chairman of its REA Borrowers committee, presented the award and said Mr. Weitzell's accomplishment "inures greatly to the benefit of borrowers, the Independent telephone industy and to the people of rural America."

The Pacesetter award was established by USITA in 1970 to recognize individuals who have made significant contributions to Independent telephoney during the year.

Mr. Weitzell is a native of Accident, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Weitzell. He has been residing in Alexandria, Va., but is constructing a home near Winchester, Va., and visits in the Accident area frequently where he also maintains a cabin.

Intersection Study On Traffic Signal Done By SHA

A study by the Traffic division of the State Highway administration to conduct a traffic signal study at the intersection of Maryland Route 560 and Maryland Route 135.

A traffic signal study by the Traffic division of the State Highway administration at the intersection of Maryland Route 560 and Maryland Route 135, at Mt. Lake Park, has been completed, according to Walter W. Price, Robert Shaffer of Manor Builders Home Center, and Delegate DeCorsey Bolden who had requested the survey.

The results of the study showed positive results, according to Delegate Bolden. He said it was anticipated that a signal would be installed during the fall of 1975, with presently an upgrading of the signing and marking in this area being undertaken.

He said this involved enlarging signs to present day standards and placing them at adequate distances back from the intersection to insure proper driver response.

Recommendations also to be considered include the providing of a bypass lane on the south side of route 135 and reconstruction of the shoulder on the east side of route 560 on the approach to 135. A review of the speed limits was included in the study which indicated that 40 MPH speed limit between that intersection and the "Cee Dee" intersection on the east side of Oakland would establish a realistic and reasonable speed limit.

Bolden said the speed limit changes need formal administration action before the change can be posted and indicated that those speed limits should be reconsidered because of the density of traffic entering the highway at Browning Woodland.

GIVE A PARTY— THE EASY WAY!

Every woman loves to give parties. She's thrilled when she achieves a reputation as a party giver supreme. The only trouble is that parties are usually so much work that she seldom gets a chance to talk with her guests or to have fun at her own gathering.

Not so anymore! The smart hostess not only plans a party ahead of the big day but actually does most of the preparation. At party time she has only a few last minute details to take care of and those are accomplished quickly and easily. A friend might help. The secret is planning simple parties! Most women try to get too fancy. It's ironic but true that guests can have just as good a time when the menu is simple. And in this day of high food prices, it's wise to serve a delicious budget meal. Here's how to do it.

Forget appetizers, most Americans are counting calories and don't need the extra course. For the main event, plan a casserole that contains the meat (or poultry) and the starch. A casserole of curried chicken and noodles is a good example. A ground beef-spaghetti combo is another idea. Check your cookbook! The casserole, prepared the night before the party, promises to be even more delicious since flavors blend perfectly. A crisp green salad (or a gelatin mold) is about the only accompaniment necessary with a hearty casserole and this, too can be prepared ahead. Greens are washed and torn, then refrigerated. The salad remains unbelieveably crisp. Bread or rolls are readied and refrigerated

At party time, the casserole is slipped into the oven for heating while the dressing is tossed into the salad. If the rolls are to be served hot, they go into the oven with the star attraction. And, of course, the casserole becomes it own serving dish, thereby saving on dishwashing later.

Dessert, too, is prepared ahead of time. An angel creme, for instance, or any other pudding is hidden in plastic dessert containers that are sealed and refrigerated or frozen. When the guests are ready for dessert the seals are removed and whipped cream or fruity sauce is added.

Give a party—the easy way And have a delightful time along with your guest

State's First Rural Bus Program To Open By Mid '75

Maryland Transporation Secretary Harry R. Hughes has announced his intention of beginning the State's first Rural Bus Transit Demonstration Program in Garrett County by mid-1975.

Bids for the purchase of three medium-size buses for the Garrett Bus System are being received until November 25, by the Transportation Department Mass Transit Administration.

A detailed report on the system's first full year's operation will heavily influence the Department's future role in rural bus service."

Under an agreement between the County Commissioners and the Department of Transporation, the three buses will be leased to the county by the Department. Lease payments, at approximately $400 per year and disbursed through the Garrett County Commission on Aging, will constitute the local share of capital costs.

In addition to providing the buses which cost depends on bids to be received, the Department of Transporation will pay one-third of the Garrett Bus System director's salary, or up to $4,000 annually for the first three years of operation.

Federal operating assistance totaling some $60,000 over a three-year period has been pledged by the Appalachian Regional Commission, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Another $16,600 for the first year will come from the Work Incentive Program through the Maryland Department of Employment Security.

Of all Maryland's counties, Garrett has the second largest area and the smallest population, which is scattered and isolated.

Until quite recently, there were only two sources of public transportation for Garrett Countians: Greyhound buses between Keyers Ridge and Frostburg (Allegany County) near the Pennsylvania border and taxicabs out of Oakland. However, for the last two years the county's Community Action Agency (CAA) has run a nine-passenger van twice a week into the areas outside Oakland, primarily for medical and shopping needs.

David Ramsey, CAA Director of Community Organization said, "Opponents are few, but very vocal."

Many people are concerned about public transit's effect on their tax dollar, and one of the biggest things facing us is educating them to the fact that this will be their own bus system."

Four destinations from Oakland have been routed for Maryland's first rural bus demonstration project: to Kitzmiller; to Gorman and Red House; to Grantsville via U.S. Route 219 and Maryland 495; and to Friendsville via U.S. 219 and Saug Run.

Garrett Bus System Director Gary Mullich said these routes are primarily oriented to Health Department clinics, social services and shopping for necessities.

Also, Garrett officials are talking with executives at Bausch and Lomb, which employs 350 county residents, about running a morning commuter route to its Mountain Lake Park factory.

"We would further like to plug into Garrett Community College near Mellenry in the middle of the county," Ramsey added.

To Present Plays

This Saturday evening at 8.00 p.m. Garrett Community College under the auspices of R.C.E.D.-A. Inc., will present the world premiere of the Theatre V Commedia dell' Arte Companies performance of "Elavio Betrayed" and "Poor Pierrot." The production under the direction of Don McDonough, will incorporate juggling, acrobatics, fencing, singing and dancing.

More Funds Available For Employment Service

Earl C. Savage, Director of the Public Employment Service Program has advised the Board of County Commissioners that additional funds are available. These funds Mr. Savage said will be used to provide employment for persons certified by the Maryland State Employment Service. With the additional available funds the Public Service Employment Program can be expanded to include job openings in the incorporated municipalities, Mr. Savage added.

Government sources said sugar prices would go higher before dropping.

I AM NOT MAN!

Lesson for November 3, 1974

Background Scripture: Hosea 4:1-3,6; 6:1-3; 7:4-7; 11:8,9.
Devotional Reading: Hosea 14:1-7.

Asked what he's going to be when he grows up, little Linus, one of the 'peanuts' cartoon characters, answers brightly: "I'm going to be a prophet of gloom!"

I can understand how the prophet's role might have a certain vocational appeal. The essence of that role, it would appear, is to "go around telling people they're going to 'get it,'" as one boy put it. That's what it seems to be when we read some of the prophetic books in the Old Testament. It is not difficult to find two great themes running throughout. (1) you people are evil, and (2) you will be punished for it.

Rev. Althouse

A compassionate God

Yet, there is more to the prophet's role than to pronounce condemnation and gloom. The prophet Jonah learned this the hard way. When at last, God persuaded him to go to Nineveh to prophesy, the people of that city surprisingly repented and God spared them. This only made Jonah angry for he had looked forward to the destruction of Nineveh. Obviously, he did not really understand the purpose of prophecy.

Hosea did, however, and along with the other two named above, we find still a third theme in his book: God desires repentance so that he may forgive, not destroy, his children.

To be sure, there is much gloomy prophecy in Hosea. "Therefore the land mourns," he promises, "and all who dwell in it languish . . ." (4:3). And later: "All of them are hot as an oven, and they devour their rulers. All their kings have fallen; and none of them calls on me" (7:7).

A heart that recoils

Yet, along with the image of the Mighty Judge of the Universe, there is also a picture of a compassionate God who, although he abhors the sinfulness of his people, wants their repentance, not their punishment. Hosea pictures God as crying out: "How can I give you up, O Ephraim! (another name for the nation of Israel), How can I hand you over, O Israel!" (11:8a). So great is his love for Israel that it surpasses the monstrous evil of this people: "My heart recoils within me, my compassion grows warm and tender" (11:8c).

The real purpose of the prophecies, then, are to call the people to acknowledge their rebellion and seek God's forgiveness. "Come, let us return to the Lord; for he has torn that he may heal us" (6:1), says the prophet Hosea.

The love and compassion of God are always difficult to understand for our responses are conditioned by the vindictiveness of men. When a man is wronged as God has been wronged by his people, punishment, not mercy, is called for. Yet, God's response is different; it is a way of redeeming love and mercy, for the Lord is God and not man.

Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks:

My wife and I are thinking about establishing a children's camp and wonder if the federal government has any "advice" booklets covering this sort of thing?

"Camping With a Purpose, a 4-H Handbook' contains principles used by 4-H leaders in developing childrens' camps. All phases of organization are explained including staffing, publicizing, financing, laws and emergency facilities. You may order a copy by writing the Public Documents Distribution Center, 5801 Tabor Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa. 19120.

Is it true that a man retiring at the same age as a woman will get lower social security benefits even though they make the same salary?

This was true in the past when a woman's averages were based on working up to age 62 and a man's until age 65. However, by 1975, under new changes in the law, a man's work will be averaged to age 62.

Who comprises the Water Resources Council?

The Council is comprised of the Secretaries of the Departments of the Interior; Agriculture; Army; Transportation; Health, Education and Welfare; and the Chairman of the Federal Power Commission. For information on grants and loan procedures interested communities should write the Assistant Director for State Grants, care of the Water Resources Council in Washington, D.C.

Is there any Federal financial assistance available for cities to develop small parks and playground areas?

There are two HUD programs designed to assist State and local governments in acquiring land for urban parks or creating parks from land they already possess. Through the Open Space Land program, HUD grants can help communities acquire, preserve and develop open space land for permanent public benefit and use. Grants to assist in developing land already in public ownership are available through the Urban Beautification and Improvement program. Detailed information on either program may be obtained by contacting the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

PROPERTY OWNERS RIP OFF!

The Subdivision Ordinance

In 1971 WAYNE HAMILTON made the motion to adopt the subdivision ordinance. This Ordinance became effective on August 17, 1971, without public notice! WAYNE HAMILTON made every effort to keep this law in force. This act was in violation of his oath to uphold the Constitution and to respond to the will of the people.

Do you remember signing a petition asking for a referendum on the controversial "subdivision ordinance"? Over 3000 voters and property owners of Garrett County took part in the subdivision protest movement to expose the ridiculous regulations which gave the government control over the use of private property! WAYNE HAMILTON even went to Annapolis to fight against our Constitutional right to a referendum. He actually fought against the 'people's right to choose.' He has rejected the right of the people to govern themselves!

Are you still concerned about preserving your property rights? Are you disturbed by the fact that WAYNE HAMILTON has tried to limit the use of our property? Did you support the 1971 Subdivision protest?

Then Vote For

for

County Commissioner

He will be fair. He won't ignore your rights. He won't allow further violations such as the SUBDIVISION ORDINANCE OF 1971 BY WAYNE HAMILTON.

Christmas Seals Arrive Early

Christmas Seals are being mailed to area residents early this year, according to Samuel G. Mefarlane, President of the American Lung Association of Maryland. The early arrival schedule is necessary because of the heavy pressures on the postal service during the holiday season and limitation of the automated mailing system.

"While the Seals are mailed from out of State contributions to Christmas Seals remain in the State," Mefarlane stated. "Although the Christmas Seal Campaign does not officially begin until November 13th, many of the nearly half million "Free Staters" involved in the support of the Lung Association are currently receiving their 1974 Seals in the mail. The Annual Christmas Seal Campaign supports education and research programs in the control and cure of lung disease.

Sprucing

Less than a quarter of an acre—what do you sow in there?" So go the inquiries of visitors who see the writer inside, pulling grass from each seedling, mowing, selecting cones, or standing quietly admiring.

There is no explaining to a prosaic or central Maryland person why the rail fence encloses this corner, why you must be invited to get inside, and why they see me wandering along on Sunday morning, scrutinizing white spruces, brushing away webs, pulling out chicory. Sprucing is my name for it, the caretaking of evergreens in the hope that someday here will stand a miniature forest, and in the meantime there is pleasure in watching its progress. Many people shake their heads at someone who awaits plant development over such a long period.

They cannot hear me murmuring a spontaneous and continuous phrase, "Now that is really pretty," for I say it only to myself.

On the entrance gates of the Brooklyn Botanical Gardens are iron-stamped images of the representatives of various pre-historic groups of plants, among them the true ancestors of modern gymnosperms. It is not only the fact of ancient existence, but of their ecological significance, that makes these conifers so great, providing us with an endless variety of prod-nets from boxes and crates to ladder rails, tannin, oleoresin, pulpwood, and clean green perfume. It is also the drooping delicacy of cedrus deodara, the hanging high branches of spruce, the blue-greens contrasted with Douglas fir yellow-green, lat erect cones standing drolly on solemn balsams, and on and on.

These little seedlings in one corner have always been eye-catchers for men with mowers, just as readers always attract talkers. Once in their early lives I looked out the front window just as a man with a wide under-type blade entered the lot, heading wide open for what he thought was a vacant spot. Doing me a favor he termed it, after I ran out with what the folk saying lists as two hoops and a holler to wave wildly and get him right out of that area. The rail fence was hastily constructed, and he warned all other mowers, "But for goodness sake, stay OUT of that lot over there."

When the first adequate snow falls, the contrast of green and white is not to be ignored, so out goes someone wading around to catch sharp images on film, which can be appreciated on hottest days of summer. Neighbors learn about Appalachian devotees of green and woodsy things, they dismiss it "She's at it again, out there in the trees." And after a few cool spring breezes bring in a fresh odor, some ancient allure will not let one escape viewing the newest, softest green, a light piercing color, on the outer edges of fir or hemlock or spruce. You must fill your vision with it, for only a short time finds its turning to the usual darker color of maturation and an evergreen's dormancy. As birds chirp and serenade from the tallest branches or robin's blue appears as you explore between the whorls, you find the new annual happiness of sprucing.

Being in the rail-fenced lot has my interest to the point that I never know and am always amazed at how much time has passed. The important and satisfying really make time relative. Perhaps this sprucing is as near Heaven as an amateur grower will ever be, and so be it.

Whirligigs Give Performances At Various Schools

The Whirligig Company of Baltimore's Center Stage is in the county this week performing adaptation of Hans Christian Anderson's "The Emperor's Nightingale" in five area elementary schools.

The group performed Monday at Route 40 school, at Friendsville school on Tuesday and Accident school on Wednesday. Today they are performing at Crellin elementary, and on Friday will be at the Dennett Road Elementary.

The actors also visit a prodren's classroom with a program of storytelling.

The play is a classic story of the foolish materialism of people who overlook the beauty of a free, natural warbler, for the prevision of a "syncopated, metallic, automatic, mechanical, artificial nightingale."

The storytelling sessions bring to life through theatrical imagery stories from American and foreign folk tales, Aesop's Fables, mythology, as well as traditional and newly published children's stories.

MOON

The moon passes through its Last Quarter phase at 9:47 p.m. E.S.T. next Wednesday. During the week the moon is waning. Moonrise today is at 5:36 p.m. local standard time. Wednesday moonrise is not until 11:40 p.m. local standard time.

VISIBLE PLANETS

Mercury may be seen very low in the southeast near the star Spica beginning Sunday just before sunrise. On Friday this planet is at its closest approach to the sun. The perihelion distance is 46 million kilometers (28.6 million miles). This planet if it could be seen appears stationary against the star background on Saturday at 8:00 p.m. E.S.T.

Venus is in line with the earth and sun on Wednesday. It is on the other side of the sun from earth. This position is called a superior conjunction of Venus and the sun.

Jupiter is very high in the southeast at sunset. It is among the stars of Aquarius. On Sunday, it too appears stationary against the star background just before it resumes its eastward motion among the stars. It has during the past months appeared to move westbound among the stars as the earth passed it in their journey around the sun.

Saturn rises about 4 hours after sunset. It is among the stars of Gemini.

TAURID METEORS

Monday is the maximum of the Taurid Meteor Shower. Twice as many as the usual number of meteors may be visible. These objects will be colliding with earth at speeds of 28 kilometers per second (61,800 miles per hour).

Much Of Braddock Trail Established In Garrett County

The location of much of the famous Old Braddock Trail through this county has been officially established, due in large measure to Robert J. Ruckert, Oakland who has worked independently of other organizations or groups over the past several years. The road originally built in 1755 by the Braddock expedition as it threaded its way from Fort Cumberland toward Fort Duquesne for the purpose of evicting the French from the forks of the Allegheny. After Braddock's defeat the road remained in use until the National Pike was constructed around 1815.

Ruckert said much of the success of this project had come from the cooperation and enthusiasm exhibited by land owners whose property adjoins the road. Recently, on two separate occasions, families have volunteered to go with him to locate and walk over that portion of road through the owner's farm. In this manner miles of visible traces of the old road have been rediscovered and mapped, Ruckert said.

In establishing positive identification Ruckert said he tries to get several local people to confirm that through legend and tradition the section of road in question is, as far as they know, in fact, what they have always been told.

The present phase of this work should be completed early this spring when all data, photos, etc., will be turned over to the Garrett County Historical Society and Dr. Walter Price, editor of the Glades Star, for publication.

Allied with Mr. Ruckert on the Braddock road, but working toward a different objective is John Elliott, of Little Crossings. Mr. Elliott lives on the old Pike, a stone's throw of the Braddock Road where it fords the Casselman river. Mr. Elliott is hoping to have portions of the road utilized as a hiking trail, and has already had conversations with people in Pennsylvania and in this county regarding a Braddock Military Road association for the preservation of what remains of the road. Several property owners have already offered the use of the road where it crosses their property providing the balance of their land would be protected.

Mr. Elliott is a member of the Bi-Centennial committee and Maryland Historical Trust and is a descendent of Major Stewart who accompanied the Braddock Expedition as a member of a Virginia company.

LOOKING WEST ON BRADDOCK ROAD — This photo looks west on Braddock Road where it was later joined by the Old Morgantown Road. This is the location of Braddock's 6th camp, better known as Bear Camp. Col. George Washington was forced to remain here for several days because of illness. Later John Simpkins, first judge from Garrett County, and his wife Elizabeth, operated a tavern at this junction where Washington probably stayed on his last trip to the area in 1784, and where Francis Asbury was a guest in 1784-1785. In a small cemetery nearby are buried the Simpkins and Prentice Allen, the child whose story has been told in the Glades Star. It is also conceivable that some of Braddock's soldiers who died from wounds on their return to Fort Cumberland, are buried here.

(6) IN THE EVENT OF ANY CONFLICT BETWEEN THE PROVISIONS OF THIS ARTICLE AND SUBSECTION 7 OF THE CONSTITUTION OF MARYLAND, OR ANY OTHER PROVISIONS OF THE CONSTITUTION, THIS THE PROVISIONS OF THIS ARTICLE SHALL CONTROL.

B[illegible] In Honor Of Dr. Bruce G. Jenkins

ALPINE

Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Jenkins, Friendsville, attended the dedication of the Student Service Building at the Charles County Community College near LaPlata on October 12th.

The building was [illegible] in honor of Dr. Jenkins, [illegible] president of the College, from 1958 to 1965.

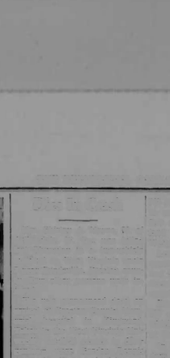
The plate on the building reads as follows:

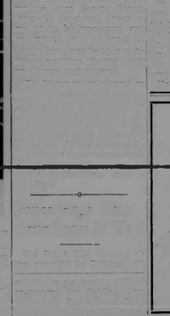
Bruce G. Jenkins Hall

"In recognition of his insight, determination and his ultimate concern for the student body of the Charles County Community College, we, the students, dedicate this building to an everlasting and true friend."

Dr. Jenkins resigned as president of the college in 1965 after serving seven years. Early classes were held in evenings at a local high school and the move to a new site was underway. The class of 1966 dedicated at that time what they hoped would someday be a student service building to his honor.

Dr. Jenkins is a native of Friendsville and taught for several years in Garrett county schools prior to [illegible] his various degrees and assuming more responsibility in the teaching field.





HAS BUILDING NAMED IN HIS HONOR — Dr. Bruce Jenkins, left, who served as first president of Charles Community College at LaPlata, was honored in ceremonies at the college on October 12 when an education center building was named in his honor. Bruce Jenkins Hall will serve as that school's physical education center.

Dr. Jenkins served as teacher and principal in both Oakland Elementary and Kempton Elementary Schools between 1934 and 1952. In 1952 he moved to Charles [illegible] where he was principal of Indian Head Elementary School until 1958. He then became the [illegible] Charles County Junior College where he remained [illegible] Superintendent of Schools [illegible] acting Associate Dean of Instruction at Garrett Community College, McHenry. 215 yards and three touchdowns to move to a strong 27-8 defeat of Southern High of Oakland last Friday night at Westernport.

Leading the Bulldogs were running backs Bob Broadwater and Shawn Shaffer who gained over 100 yards each from their running ability.

Broadwater carried 14 times 103 yards and scored one TD which put Bruce ahead just 6-0 at the half.

In the third period the Bulldogs air attack connected for another TD. With Bruce leading 14-0 going into the final quarter Ted Raynovich brought hope to the Rams after he broke over from the two yard line and then carried in for the conversion.

Holding a 14-8 lead Broadwater went over again for the Bulldogs. Shaffer followed with a 23 yard dash for another TD.

Southern held 96-50 yard edge in passing but picked up only 67 yards on the ground. Bruce had 13 first downs to 7 for the Rams Bruce had one fumble but recovered it. Southern had no fumbles.

Defensive standouts for Southern were halfback Ed Wolf and Tom Mattingly.

THE REPUBLICAN

Encouraging . . .

Tuesday's election was an encouraging event. Approximately seventy percent of the electorate in this county turned out to cast their ballots and this was the most in a number of years. We hope the trend continues.

There would be no easier way to end up losing that right to vote than to continually refuse to exercise that right and privilege.

There were some surprises, of course, but in the main the Republicans kept their lead in the face of a Democratic swing throughout the fifty states. Governor Mandel, a Democrat, was re-elected in a Democratic state. Goodloe Byron, a Democrat, was re-elected to Congress. He has been an excellent conservative and his voting record coincides with many Republicans. Wayne Hamilton, Democrat, elected four years ago following a previous rough Republican administration, was re-elected, and it is good to know that one experienced commissioner will remain in office for the next four years.

Personalities may have been a contributing factor in Tuesday's election, rather than a political casting, but the election is now past history. Elected officials will get down to the work of working for the good of the county. This is all to the good. But let us not forget the good percentage in the voting record and endeavor to improve on that percentage in each ensuing election.

124 Attend Annual Horsemen's Dinner

Exactly 124 members, families and guests of the Garrett County Horsemen's Association, Inc. assembled Saturday evening at the Grantsville fire hall for the 14th annual Horsemen's banquet.

Turkey and ham dinners were prepared and served by members of the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Company auxiliary.

Music for listening and dancing was provided by the New Maple Valley Gents, from Frostburg. Winners of door prizes were Kenneth Yoder and Olin Orendorf, Grantsville, who each received free membership for one year.

Youngsters winning door prizes were Teresa Wright, Robin Hutzell, Darrin Lambert, and Annetta Resh.

There will be a meeting of the Association Saturday, November 23 at the Accident fire hall at 8 p.m., with election of officers.

Over 60 Percent Cast Ballots Tues.

Near 6,000 citizens voted in Tuesday's election in Garrett county which was over 60 percent.

In some voting precincts the number hit 70 percent, which was in line with voting generally throughout the nation. The predicted apathy did not materialize, and the vote nation-wide was stronger than had been anticipated.

In Allegany county the percentage was 63.9.

There are 207 absentee ballots yet to be counted which would raise the percentage by several points.

Christmas Club Checks Mailed

Checks totaling over $515,135 were mailed out the first of November to some 4,518 members of Christmas clubs of the two Oakland banks and their branch offices, it was announced this week.

New clubs already have been started by the two banks in preparation for next year's Christmas spending.

The Christmas club idea has spread extensively over the past number of years giving citizens an amount of money to spend for Christmas presents, to pay insurance premiums and many other items in year end expenses.

Payments are made each week.

Hearings On P E Rate Hike Request To Be Scheduled

The Potomac Edison company's request for a 22 percent rate hike is heading for a series of public hearings, the Public Service commission announced. Action on the case has been suspended until hearings can be held throughout the company's service area.

If approved the rate hike could add $1.65 a month to an average homeowner's electric bill. That bill already has climbed at least $7.50 a month from a year ago due to an earlier rate increase and rising fuel costs passed on directly to customers when the price of coal jumps. The company uses about 97 percent coal to make its electricity.

PE which served about 110,000 homes and businesses from Frederick west through Garrett county, requested the 22 per-

Mathias And Mandel Are Easy Winners

Gov. Marvin Mandel and Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr., survived the challenge of women politicians to win re-election Tuesday in Maryland's general election.

Mandel defeated Republican Louise Gore, a 49-year old Montgomery county business woman, to gain his second four-year term at the polls since the General Assembly elevated him to the Executive mansion in 1968 succeeding Spiro T. Agnew.

With 71 percent of the precincts reporting Mandel led Miss Gore 402,359 to 261,985.

Mathias, 52, withstood the challenge of Democrat Barbara Mikulski, a 38-year old member of the Baltimore City council.

The senator, elected to a second six year term, led Miss Mikulski 351,510 to 261,185 with 71 percent of the precincts tallied.

Mandel's victory carried Blair Lee III to another four-year term as Maryland's only elected lieutenant governor. Miss Gore's running mate was Frank Wade a Charles Countian.

Mathias carried every voting subdivision except Baltimore city and Baltimore county. Mandel, running behind his 65.7 percent showing in 1970, lost only Garrett, Talbot, Washington, Wicomico and Worcester counties to Miss Gore. Miss Gore is chairman of the state's Bicentennial commission. They ran neck and neck in Carroll county.

Re-elected to the Mandel ticket were Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Attorney General Francis B. Burch. Neither man faced Republican opposition.

Mandel took 63.7 percent of the vote, defeating Louise Gore by an unofficial tally of 594,341 to 340,389. Mandel carried all but six counties.

Mathias captured 57 percent of the vote as he beat Barbara Mikulski 491,518 to 369,401 on the basis of unofficial returns.

Mathias lost only Baltimore county and the city to Miss Mikulski.

Nearly 54 percent of Maryland's 1,737,870 eligible voters turned out at the polls.

Mathias Here Friday

It was announced last evening that Senator Mathias would be in Oakland on Friday morning and would be at the Court House about 11:15 to extend his thanks to the people of the county for their strong support in Tuesday's election.

Mr. Helbig said representatives of these teams should be at the organizational meeting, and if there was any other group wanting to enter a team it should have a representative at the meeting. In case those interested are not able to attend the meeting they should get in touch with Mr. Helbig, Memorial Drive, Oakland, prior to the meeting.

The season opening game, number of games per week and other details will be worked out at the meeting.

Continuing as councilmen for another year are William Welch and Iret Ashby.

Byron Successful In Reelection Bid

Goodloe Byron easily won re-election as Congressman from the sixth district in Tuesday's general election, defeating Eltou Wampler, his Republican opponent, 3.804 to 1,579.

In the district Byron tallied 12,771 votes to 7,975 for Wampler for the sixth district post.

Voters returned two GOP incumbents, State Senator Edward J. Mason and Del. DeCorsey E. Bolden to the state house.

Senator Mason defeated his Democratic opponent, Philip J. Carolan, in the Senate District I race in this county and western Allegany county. While the race was close in Allegany county Senator Mason gained a substantial victory in Garrett county to assure his victory.

In the District 1-A House of Delegates race Delegate Bolden overpowered Democrat Raymond O. McCullough, Jr., in a battle which was largely decided in this county where most of the voter registration exists. The district also represents several Georges Creek communities in Allegany county.

In Allegany county Byron received 12,774 to 7,975 for Wampler. Mason got 8,594 votes to 8,264 for Carolan; and McCullouth got 640 votes to 980 for Boldeu.

People Against Increase In Governor's Salary

Governor Marvin Mandel was re-elected, but the voters turned down any increase in salary for him, defeating Amendment number 8 in the general election Tuesday throughout the state.

In the county there were 593 votes in favor of increasing the salary to $15,000, while there were 2,953 votes against any raise.

In other amendments the one abolishing the position of county surveyor was passed here 1,630 in favor as 1,387 against; and the public school referendum was defeated state-wide as well as by county. The county vote was 921 in favor 2,502 against. A similar referendum was defeated two years ago.

The complete unofficial returns on the amendments and referendum were as follows:

Amendment one, taking land in Anne Arundel county, 441 in favor, 1,867 against.

Blackleg Disease Spotted In County

Several cases of Blackleg or Blackquarter disease in a very few herds of cattle in Garrett, Frederick and Montgomery counties have spurred the Maryland Department of Agriculture to issue an advisory to dairymen, beef cattlemen and sheep farmers in the western half of the state of the presence of the almost invariably fatal spore-borne disease.

Dr. Hugh E. Binks, chief, Animal Health section of the state agency, reported that the number of cases is not of major proportions. Nevertheless the state animal health official suggested that farmers with livestock should be aware of potential occurrences of this fatal illness.

Treatment of Blackleg is generally unsuccessful and costly but a highly reliable vaccine is available. Vaccination is virtually 100 percent effective.

Blackleg, which is a rapidly fatal disease, generally commences with fever, lameness and depression. Symptoms include prostration, tremors, high fever and labored breathing. It is fatal within 12 to 48 hours. Purebred and high quality animals usually are most susceptible.

The disease is believed to be caused by the ingestion of a spore similar to tetanus which survives for long periods in the soil. Blackleg cadavers are the chief source of soil contamination. Dr. Binks advised "such animals should be promptly burned or buried deep."

The term Blackleg is derived from the fact that the disease causes the heavy leg muscle of the animal to turn very dark red or black. While the disease is virtually worldwide in distribution, Dr. Frank Custer, state veterinarian here, said it was readily controlled by vaccination. It seldom is contracted by cattle past three years of age.

Dr. Custer said the areas in the county affected were Red House, Friendsville and Bittinger.

Bittinger Man Pleads Guilty Of Assault, Battery

A Bittinger man pleaded guilty of assault and battery in District Court before Judge Lewis R. Jones last week.

Miss Hevner also plans to attend the National 4-H club congress in Chicago, Ill., the latter part of this month.

New Food Store To Locate In Manor Builders

Manor Builders Supply, Route 155, Mt. Lake Park, has begun reducing its inventory this week in its furniture and building supply lines, to make way for the opening of a new food store, Total Discount Foods.

Manor Builders, under the ownership of Robert Shaffer, will continue to offer a complete line of hardware, paints, gifts, housewares, and auto supplies. The furniture and building supply stocks depletion will make way for the food store, which will occupy the larger portion of the building.

John Dever, present controller of Manor Builders, will become general manager of Total Discount Foods. Although details are not yet completed, Mr. Dever hopes the store will offer a full line of groceries, meats and sundries.

Total Discount Foods will be locally owned and operated, according to Mr. Dever, who noted that it is still too soon to tell when the foods store may begin operation. Manor Builders will remain open as usual.

Construction Of First Shelter Home Begins Today

Work on the first new prebuilt home manufactured by Shelter Company will begin today. The firm is located in a newly-constructed 40-by-40 foot building just north of Silver Knob block plant on Route 219 south of Oakland.

The company, owned by Richard A. Morris, Terra Alta, will manufacture vacation homes and some FHA homes. Robert Edgar, Mellenry, is foreman of the five-man crew which will be working in the new building. Most of the necessary equipment has been installed and is ready for use.

The two-story building will house manufacturing machinery downstairs, and utilize the upstairs primarily for storage. At

PARGAS Workers Stage Walkout

A difference of opinion in more than one area has brought employe-management negotiations to a standstill at PARGAS of Oakland, Inc., near Red House.

Three outside employes of the bulk and bottled gas company walked off their jobs October 25 after a wage increase requested in late summer was not granted. The men, who comprise the total outdoor work force, are requesting more money and safer working conditions with the propane gas.

Since the walkout, employes from other PARGAS districts have been making deliveries.

Charles Grove, manager of the Oakland facility, says the dispute is over wages, and that the company has balked at complying with the men's demands. He had issued the ultimatum that if the men were not back at work by Monday night, November 4, their employment would be officially terminated. One of the three men, however, has been called away due to a death in the family and in his case the decision has been delayed. District management has requested that three new employes be hired.

PARGAS of Oakland has been one of many branches of the company throughout the U.S. since approximately ten years ago when it purchased the local Dix-O-Gas company, in operation here since 1916. Headquarters for PARGAS are in Waldorf, Md.

The identity of the person or persons who shot out the windows of the PARGAS headquarters and who planted signs on the lawn remains unknown. Both incidents took place last week.

Byron Sweeps Back Into District Seat

Sixth District Democrat incumbent, Rep. Goodloe E. Byron, swept back into office Tuesday with an unofficial total vote of 88,899 compared to 31,935 for his Republican opponent Elton R. Wampler.

Mr. Wampler did better in Allegany and Howard counties than anywhere else in the eight-county district, but was still a distant second in both areas.

Rep. Byron collected his nearly 57,000-vote margin with little apparent effort, with the Associated Press showing him making the biggest wins in Frederick and Washington counties.

Mr. Wampler lost in Garrett county when 3,804 voted for Byron and 1,519 for him, according to unofficial figures.

In Baltimore county, Byron won 10,020 to 2,686, better than four to one.

Republicans Victorious In All Except Two

Hamilton Retains Commissioner — Evons Gets Sheriff Position

Republican candidates were successful in county voting Tuesday with two exceptions, to offset in some degree the Democratic trend nationally.

The exceptions were in the position of sheriff, where John Evans, Jr., Democrat, easily defeated Delbert Swartzentruber, Republican 3,601 to 2,331, and in one of the County Commissioner spots where Wayne Hamilton, Democrat, defeated Thomas Doyle, Republican, 3,188 to 2,912.

Some political analyst termed the election one of personalities rather than The Republican-Democrat slant.

Ralph M. Burnett, R. defeated Thomas B. Dabney, Jr., Democrat, in the race for State's Attorney in unofficial but complete returns from the 20 polling places. The vote was 2,862 to 2,506.

Don S. Bender, Republican, of Kitzmiller, defeated incumbent Bernard M. Guy, for county commissioner in district 1, while George C. Edwards won over incumbent Earl E. Opel in commissioner district 2.

DeCorsey E. Bolden was re-elected to the House of Delegates, defeating his Democratic opponent Raymond O. McCullough, Jr., while Edward J. Mason, Republican incumbent, defeated Philip T. Carolan in the state senate race.

Huskies-Rams Tilt Scheduled At Oakland Friday

Both Northern and Southern High schools will conclude their football season this Friday evening at Oakland when these two teams meet under the lights.

The season's results up to this point have no bearing on the outcome of the upcoming game. Both records this season have been disappointing.

The game between the Rams and Huskies will be the nineteenth game of their series. Southern holds a ten to five edge on victories. There were two ties for two years in a row in 1965 and 1961. Southern won last year 13 to 6.

All sorts of pre-game activities have taken place this week at both schools with [illegible] and bonfires.

Vandals At Work

Vandals were at work last Saturday evening on the Southern High school parking lot. The Southern band had gone to Hagerstown to participate in the Mummers parade there and a number of automobiles were left in the parking lot.

Then the band members returned early Sunday morning some found their tires flattened, some found their compartments full of leaves, while most of them found their windows had been soaped plentifully.

Some people have a warped sense of fun!

John Koton Given 1-10 Yr. Sentence

John Koton, of Kingwood, last Wednesday October 30, pleaded guilty in Preston County to the charge of receiving stolen goods and was sentenced to one to ten years in Moundsville penitentiary for the offense.

The guilty plea will eliminate a new trial that was granted to Koton by the West Virginia Supreme Court. Koton had been tried and convicted on the receiving of stolen goods charge and a related theft charge. He was serving time in Moundsville when he was granted a new trial.

A new trial was scheduled during the past term of circuit court but Koton, who was free on bond, failed to appear for the new trial. A warrant was issued to return Koton to Preston County, and he was eventually found in a Freehold, N.-J. hospital where he had been taken following a traffic accident.

He was brought back to Preston county when his injuries had healed sufficiently for him tn travel and was then taken to the hospital ward at Moundsville.

Judge Robert C. Halbritter allowed the approximately three years Koton had served in the penitentiary prior to the order for a new trial to count on the time he was sentenced on Tuesday.

Prior to Koton's plea of guilty his attorney, Ronald Brown had begun procedures to ask for change of venue for Koton's trial.

On January 4, 1973, Koton had been apprehended by Garrett cnunty authorities after he had escaped from the penitentiary at Moundsville on New Year's day, while serving a one to ten year sentence for grand larceny.

While in the custody of the sheriff's office he had married Jacqueline Lee Snook, a Kingwood girl. He was later turned over to the West Virginia authorities after waiving extradition.

Koton nt that time told sheriff's deputies he had escaped in order to get married since he did not believe that he could get married in prison. Deputy Robert Finch served as best man. Koton had applied for the license on January 2 and picked up the license on January 4.

Koton was arrested at the home of a relative In Crellin.

While in the Garrett county jail Koton and another inmate had broken a piece of steel from a bunk and managed to break a lock off the control panel in a possible escape attempt and there was a possibility that Koton would be charged with malicious destruction of property, but this never took place. He agreed to the extradition proceedings and was returned at that time to West Virginia.

P. E. Hearing

cent increase October 1.

Don Whipp, a PE spokesman, said the company's profits on earnings are below those granted by the PSC in June. PE is seeking a 9.6 percent rate of return. The request is geared to bring in $11.9 million to add to the company's approximately $100 million yearly revenues.

The company also expects to request part of the 12 percent hike in the form of emergency relief.

Wilson B. Stringer, PSC hearing examiner, said he would announce deadlines to receive petitions from interester parties on the full rate hike. The next step will be to set up public hearings in the cities of Oakland, Cumberland, Hagerstown and Frederick, which should be set prior to the last of the year. The public hearings will be held on Saturdays or in the evenings.

Construction

some future time, the company begin manufacturing cabinets, and the upstairs will be converted into a cabinet workshop. Construction on the building began with grading one month ago.

Standard construction, including 2x4 studs, 2x8 rafters, cathedral ceilings, and textured siding, will be used in the pre-built homes. Homes will be built on order, to be sold to individuals or to other builders.

Mr. Morris is currently in the contracting business, specializing in erecting homes on sites, buying pre-built packages from other companies. He and his wife and two children currently reside at Alpine Lake, where their home was judged the best home in June, winning them a $1,000 prize. They are planning to move to a site beside their new plant, in a model home designed and constructed by Mr. Morris, next March.

All pre-built homes constructed by Shelter Co. are designs of Mr. Morris. There will be ten different models.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris have been area residents about 3½ years, coming here from Boston, Mass., where Mr. Morris was employed at a pre-fab housing company. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morris, own a home at Thousand Acres and plan to retire there. Richard and family came to visit his parents one summer, and in his words, "stayed on". A sister, Mrs. Virginia Grove, also has moved into the area, residing in Mt. Lake Park.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

In complying with your request that letters to the editor be brief and to the point I would like to make this observation.

The Tom Doyle campaign is the first of a series of grass root movements from the conservative elements in our county.

Many of my friends think that he has unlocked the Garrett Gate.

Respectfully yours,

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

Amid all the problems facing America, inflation, scandal, loss of confidence in public officials, fear of the future and concern for the basic institutions of our national life, we are still the most blessed people in the human race. The source of those blessings needs to be remembered, restudied and re-emphasized if they are to continue. We need to generate anew the eagerness, the enthusiasm, and the determination of our forefathers who brought our nation into being almost two centuries ago.

Ours is a nation with a spiritual foundation. Ours is a system of government resting on the premise of the inherent dignity of man as a created being. Our basic documents herald the great truth of "inalienable rights" granted by the Creator, and we need to ever keep our eyes on the goal of fulfilling the dream of our Founding fathers of equal justice and opportunity for all.

It is apparent that for a number of years, our national government followed by State and local governments, has been disregarding the basic blueprint of our freedom and legislating by edict of political expedient rather than by Constitutional restriction. We need to return to the Constitution with its checks and balances, with its separation of powers and responsibilities. I suggest that all Americans will benefit by re-reading Carl Van Doren's book, The Great Rehearsal, which is the story of the making and ratifying of our Constitution. Today, come with me on a tour of Constitution Hall and a review of our birth as a nation.

There in that room in Philadelphia, hammer descended on anvil until the iron of statehood was shaped into the steel pattern of a brand new nation. There, littleness fought with bigness, and the narrow view denounced the views of breadth. There men of soul-greatness, and those of small stature, struggled mightily to come to grips with a vision, and reduce it to a solid fact of history. As we look back at that Convention in Philadelphia, we wonder if there has ever been a more important gathering of great men dedicated to a great task and meeting magnificently the great responsibilities of their mission. Seldom have so few done so much for so many.

But, it almost failed. It was not until men rose above state and local considerations, to think above the pull of self-interest, that the seeds of true liberty were free to take root and sprout. Not until the grand idea defeated a thousand trivial ones did men begin to feel the thrill of calling themselves by a new name. . . Americans. All finally saw what some had seen from the beginning, that the nation had to be a Union of States, not a mere confederation or association.

Governor Randolph of Virginia put it bluntly when he said: "A government is no government at all until it can accomplish five things; defend itself against foreign aggression, prevent dissension among the states and sedition from within them, provide for the general welfare, protect itself against encroachment by the member states, and be superior to all local governments."

In the debates, they argued, shouted, shook their fists, threatened and yet, in the end, they produced the freest, and most creative government in the history of man, and one which finally would offer equality of justice and opportunity to all races and all nationalities.

Those men formulated ideas that were simple and clear; a federal government composed of three parts, the executive, the judicial and the legislative; two houses, one elected by popular vote, and a Senate elected by state legislatures representing at that time, the educated, cultured and knowledgable interests of the states; a court system that would recognize the boundary lines between local responsibilities and federal jurisdiction. Each citizen was the repository of fundamental sovereignty. Each citizen relinquished some of his sovereignty to the state, the state relinquished some of its sovereignty to the federal government, and in turn, the federal government was to honor the sovereignty remaining with the states.

OPEN LINE

By
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515. While space is obviously limited in answering all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks:

Did the Public Safety Officers bill pass Congress yet?

Earlier this year the House passed legislation providing a $50,000 federal payment in the surviving dependents of non-federal public safety officers--policemen, firemen, correctional officers, prison and probation officers--who died from injury sustained in the performance of their work.

By what authority can the government regulate fuel and fuel additives?

Under the Clear Air Act of 1970 the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) was given the authority to regulate fuel and fuel additives which endanger public health, or which interfere with the performance of anti-pollution devices.

What percent of the World's energy does the U.S. consume?

The United States is the most energy intensive nation in the world, accounting for over one-third of the world's energy consumption.

I understand increase in Social Security benefits will soon be automatic. How does this work?

The first possible automatic increase in Social Security benefits will be effective for June, 1975, under legislation enacted last December. It will be based on the increase in the cost-of-living from the second quarter of 1971 through the first quarter of 1975. Automatic increases in subsequent years will also be effective for the month of June and generally will be based on changes in the cost-of-living from first quarter to first quarter.

My husband and I are going to apply for supplemental security income benefits this week. Can you tell me if it's possible to receive about $60 right away as we desparately need to pay off some bills?

According to the Social Security Administration, emergency advance payments can be made to persons who are "obviously eligible" for monthly federal SSI benefits. SSI beneficiarines are persons age 65 and over, or blind or disabled. The advance payment can be up to $100 for one person and $195 for a couple. Advance payments can be made to persons who not have funds to meet an emergency that threatens their health or safety and can't wait until their regular supplemental security income payments can be processed.

What becomes of a bill after it is signed by the President?

The signed bill is sent to the General Services Administration where it is assigned a public law number and published in individual form.

Huskies Win Over Turkeyfoot 16-6

Northern High defensive halfback Joe Wilhelm raced an interception back 70 yards to paydirt in the fourth quarter last Friday night as the Huskies pulled out a 16 to 6 victory over Turkeyfoot at Accident.

The two teams had battled to a scoreless deadlock in the first half before Northern got on the board in the third period. Kenny Sines went 11 yards for the two-point conversion.

Wilhelm's interception gave Northern a two-touchdown lead and Ronnie Teets passed to Buddy Fauber for the two pointer.

Turkeyfoot's touchdown came on a one-yard bolt into the line by fullback Terry Rugg.

Sines led the Northern ground gainers while the Huskies totaled 191 yards rushing but could gain only 19 through the air. Losers had 182 yards total offense, 108 on pass completions in 23 attempts.

Northern had 14 first downs to 15 for Turkeyfoot. Northern's win gave the Huskies a 2-7 record for the season with the finale coming up Friday against Southern High of Oakland.

RAINWEAR IF FASHIONABLE AND WASHABLE

Though you may not feel quite like singing in the rain, today's fashion bright rainwear lifts the spirits on gloomy wet days.

Treated with water-repellent finishes, almost all fabrics are being used, from the traditional poplins and garhardines to wrinkle resistant knits and even dressy satins and brocades.

The fact that these coats and jackets do not mind raindrops classifies them as rainwear. However, the fabrics and designs make them sunshinewear, too. An additional advantage is that all-weather wraps are frequently washable.

To machine wash a water-repellent coat, use detergent and warm water, preferably on a permanent press cycle. Rinse the garment thoroughly in order to retain the effectiveness of the water-repellent finish. Machine dry if possible or dry on a wooden hanger. For hanger drying, smooth seams, collar, hem and decorative trims while the garment is wet.

Waterproof rainwear is also made from non-porous fabrics such as vinyl and polyurethane. These garments may be washable depending on their properties and the type of lining or trim used. However, some must be surface cleaned with a sudsy sponge.

Be sure to check labels for washability when buying rainwear.

Eligibles For Special Program Being Sought

Efforts continue in Garrett County to reach and enroll Supplemental Security Income (SSI) eligibles under Phase II.

W. Dale Ellis, director of Senior Citizens Programs, who is conducting the effort, says the program is designed to locate aged, blind and disabled persons who may be eligible for additional Social Security funds.

Ellis indicated that persons who feel they are eligible for additional benefits should contact him at Garrett County Community Action in Oakland.

The director then refers the applicants to the Social Security representative.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of mother, Mae L. Lee, who went to her eternal home on May 24, 1974. She would have been 85 on November 3.

Birthdays were gay when you were here,
A treasured gift, a kiss sincere.
Now you've gone, we miss you so,
No gift, no kiss on you to bestow.
Only a wish, a wish that is true;
Eternal peace, mother, just for you.
We'll always remember as time goes by,
And in our hearts you'll never die.

Love,

American Freedom and Christian Responsibility

By Rev. W. H. Leake, Deer Park, Md.

Sunday afternoon November 3rd, I attended the "MEET THE CANDIDATES MEETINGS" at Garrett County Community College. It was sponsored by the League of Women Voters, which is supposedly non-partisan. But I do not know any that are active in this "mini-LIB" group that are not liberal. It was obvious from the beginning that it was a biased and rigged meeting. (The election will be over by the time this is printed and what I say will do no good for this election, but I shall continue to keep an eye on this liberal group and expose their hypocrisy.)

They insisted that any question asked the candidates must be written down and handed in; they then sorted through and only used the ones favorable to the liberals. I personally sent in two questions to Mr. Wayne Hamilton and they refused to ask him either question, "they would have been embarrassing for him to answer." If they did not have time for all questions which is the excuse they used, they should have asked the questions as they were handed in. They also allowed Mr. Hamilton to ask Dr. Pope to answer a question addressed to Mr. Hamilton; they never for one moment had any pity on Mr. Tom Doyle.

In closing, I contend that the meeting was rigged and no conservative candidate, DEMOCRAT OR REPUBLICAN, should work in anyway with the League of Women Voters unless there are some ground rules with principles; for there certainly were no principles in last Sunday's Meeting.

THANK GOD FOR A FINE BUSINESSMAN IN THE PITTSBURGH AREA; WE NOW HAVE ANOTHER FINE CHURCH BUS.

Folklore Signs Point To Severe Winter Weather

The wooly worms in New England are wearing their shaggiest fur coats in 20 years. Husks on Georgia corn are so thick they are hard to shuck. Too many fogs shrouded east Tennessee's mountains in August. All are folklore signs of a rough winter ahead, according to amateur weather prognosticators.

A national weather service meteorologist says there's no scientific basis for the warnings.

Wooly worms are crossing the roads already and they are black instead of brown, a sign of a hard winter. Another sign is the number of cobwebs found in the grass. The fogs indicate at least three big snows. Coats of deer are getting thicker more rapidly than usual, and the males are mating behind schedule.

Official weather outlook pointed to temperatures about average over most of the nation.

Tobacco Tax Of $22,763 Received

Baltimore City and the twenty-three counties have received checks totaling $4,279,626.35 from the office of Louis L. Goldstein, state comptroller, representing the subdivisions' share of cigaret tax revenue for the first quarter of Fiscal 1975, July, August and September.

The amount is $171,430.64 greater than the revenue shared during the same fiscal period of the preceding year.

The distribution is based on population, with the counties receiving approximately one-half of the state tobacco tax revenue.

Garrett county received $22,763.96. Baltimore city received $901,338.55 with Prince George's county receiving $741,013.11, and Baltimore county $873,545.27.

19 Here In AID Intern Program

Nineteen young people arrived in this county November 3 to begin a 12-day stay to study the developmental needs and growth of an American community.

These interns, most of whom hold master's or doctor's degrees in their fields of specialization, are here through a program formulated by the Agency for International Development (AID) which operates under authority of the Foreign Assistance Act.

The program takes specialists from many academic areas such as agriculture, economics, law, various sciences and business, exposes them to procedures of development in American counties and towns, and then assigns them to national or overseas missions.

Trainees are expected to acquire an appreciation for thoughts and feelings of people affected by developmental projects, and an experience which will broaden their thinking about the complexity of economic problems and the effects of development programs upon people.

During the twelve days the group spends here, they will be under direction of Miss Kay Harley, AID Training Officer. Local coordinator, appointed by the county commissioners, is W. Marshall Rickert, county planning director.

The interns, whose ages range from 22 to 30, are staying at Village Inn, Mellenry. Through questioning and discussion, they will learn something of the experience and development efforts of the town as its residents live them.

According to an AID release, Garrett was selected as a training site after the Commissioners gave their consent to the program, agreeing to allow the county to serve as a sort of "learning laboratory" for the interns, not because Garrett has fewer or more problems or is better or worse than other American areas. There will be no intent on the part of the interns to carry out a development effort on behalf of the county.

Local individuals from business and government, civic and educational groups will also lend assistance where possible to the group.

Rental insurance is a form of protection available to owners of rental property. In the event that a fire should render the premises unfit for the conduct of normal business, the tenant certainly owes no rent while this condition exists. Yet the property owner has expenses that will continue nevertheless while his income has stopped. Insurance will pay the lost rent for such time as is reasonably needed to make the premises fit for business again. Adequate insurance is your best protection.

For excellent coverages on life, health and accident insurance for your wife, or any member of your family, call GONDER INSURANCE AGENCY, 203-205 S. 2nd Street, Oakland, 334-3343. We know how to get you the most for your insurance dollar. There is absolutely no obligation when you call us. Routine Business Is Taken Up At Town Meeting

It was agreed that any future buildings permits will be investigated as to availability of sewage facilities without any expense to the town. A case would be of involving the cost of extending the town sewer line to the property in question.

Eighteen Killed On State Highways

Eighteen persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways last week, according to the weekly news release compiled by 1st Sgt. James Harvey of the Maryland State Police. Of those killed eight were drivers, three were passengers and seven were pedestrians. At least four of those deaths could possibly have been prevented had seat belts been in use.

Alcohol was a known contributing factor in four of the deaths, speed in seven and "driver error" in eleven.

This week's fatal experience, indicates nearly half were pedestrians.

Persons killed through November 3, totaled 565 compared to 710 for the same period a year ago.

BAGS BIG BUCK WITH BOW AND ARROW — A Green belt man bagged an unusually large buck with his bow and arrow while hunting near Salt Block on the Sisler farm near Sang Run, on Saturday, November 2 about 7:30. It was an 11-pointer weighing 235 pounds and having an antler spread of nineteen inches.

Successful hunter was a retired D C policeman Ray Pelfrey, married to a former local girl, Ruth Sisler. In the photo, left to right are other hunters in the group: Charles Falkenstine, hunting guide, second row, Leon Sisler, Ray Pelfrey, Hobart Sisler, Glavis Sisler, of Salt Block. Danny Uphold was not pictured.

Mr. Falkenstine, native of the area, said the buck had been an illusive creature. He has fooled many hunters and had several bullet wounds from past seasons. Mr. Falkenstine recalled seeing him cross over his farm many times to his pond for water and to his buckwheat field. But he will never roam again.

Wed October 12 At Laurel Church

Miss Peggy Ruth Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Adams of Laurel, and Thomas Wayne Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Miller of Bartonsville, were united in marriage on Saturday, October 12, at the First Baptist Church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line floor length dress of chiffon over peau de soie, with lace bodice, beaded pearl sleeves, and lace cord and pearls with detachable train, accented by matching lace. Her shoulder length veil was attached to a pearl beaded crown. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of red roses and baby's breath with white streamers. She wore a gift from the groom.

Her maid-of-honor was Kathy Hoffman of Laurel. Her gown was a full length with matching headpiece. She carried a bouquet of carnations with baby's breath and long white streamers.

Bridesmaids were Judy Bowman of Laurel and Teresa Lucas of Laurel. Their gowns were identical to that of the maid-of-honor's and their bouquets were the same as the maid-of-honor's. Their headpieces also matched their gowns. They carried bouquets of carnations with long white streamers in their own colors.

Eric Shafer served as best man. Ushers were Bruce Miller and Darrell Adams, brothers of the couple.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Adams chose a lace gown with matching accessories. For the groom's mother chose a floor length dress with beige accessories. Both wore corsages of white rosebuds.

A reception was held in the church social hall for approximately 75 guests. Those helping with the reception were Mrs. Pat Sievers, sister of the bride; Mrs. Vera Gillespie and Mrs. Dorothy Snipes, aunts of the bride; Mrs. Charlotte Sanders, cousin of the bride; and Mrs. Goldie Lenhart.

The couple honeymooned in Florida and are now residing in Laurel.

Mrs. Miller is the granddaughter of Mrs. Carrie Edwards of Mt. Lake Park and the late Mrs. Stella Adams of Crellin.

Lesson for November 10, 1974

Background Scripture: Jeremiah 1:1-19; [illegible]
Devotional Reading: Jeremiah 1:4-10.

One man's patriot may be another's traitor.

During World War II, for example, a number of Germans plotted against Hitler and almost succeeded in assassinating him. Most of these men were soon rounded up and executed. The few survivor today are regarded by some of their countrymen as patriots while others look upon them as traitors.

Rev. Althouse

Some [illegible] murder of Americans [illegible] Vietnam War. Some of these [illegible] heroes [illegible] Americans today regard them as traitors. Their [illegible] others see them [illegible]

At this same [illegible] Egypt was vying with the Babylonians for power and the [illegible] king of Judah began to [illegible] the idea of alliance [illegible] Egypt so as to [illegible] of Babylonia. The [illegible] man greatly opposed [illegible] but he was denounced and ignored.

The price of prophecy

Jeremiah had [illegible] ever and [illegible] Judah found itself [illegible] once again. The [illegible] ed by people [illegible] Babylonians had [illegible] should celebrate the [illegible] fellow countrymen [illegible] and outraged the [illegible] God would [illegible] ous action.

What they did n[illegible] were his motives [illegible] not consider [illegible] liked the Babylonians [illegible] he disliked [illegible] because he [illegible] right or [illegible] based upon [illegible] people's [illegible]

Youth Anoreciation Week Proclaimed

Commissioner Wayne B. Hamilton, on behalf of the County Commissioners, proclaimed the week of November 11th to 15th as Youth Appreciation Week for Garrett County. The Optimist Club of Oakland, in conjunction with other Optimist Clubs throughout America and Canada, sponsors Youth Appreciation Week annually.

This period of time has been set aside to give recognition to and appreciation of the accomplishments and contributions many youth of Garrett County and the country are making toward the betterment of mankind. It is also to praise many young people who are quietly positive. It is public praise for many youth who work hard and positively and whose accomplishments may sometimes escape public attention. Many of the youth are well informed, concerned, willing and interested in becoming involved with efforts to improve society, according to Ben Thorn, president of the Optimist Club of Oakland.

Big Brother Wants Your Child!

In every civilization, the family unit has been recognized as the means of transferring accumulated experience and values from one generation to another. No one except God, it was believed, had more love or concern for a child than his parents and family, who shared his successes and heartaches and sought to guide him safely to maturity.

That was before the "consciousness raising" of "Women's Lib", "Gay Lib", and now "Children's Lib". There have always been those who rejected traditional values and morals, but now the collectivist attack on the family has reached organized, militant, and alarming proportions.

The Fabian Socialists and other internationalists have been laying the groundwork since 1918 for usurping parental authority and replacing it with Federal authority. Conferences on Children and Youth have been organized and staged in 1919, 1930, 40, 50, and 1960. At the 1970 White House Conference on Children and Youth, "children's needs" were suddenly transformed into "rights", as foreshadowed in the 1930 Conference. Several of the forums recommended creation of a Federal "Office Of Child Advocacy", and the resulting "Children's Bill of Rights" looked a lot like the 1930 "Children's Charter". These documents stressed such broad "rights" as parental love and respect for children, a society free from discrimination, equality of educational opportunity, etc. The phrases sound innocent enough, BUT any government which sets itself up to guarantee such broad rights to children must first establish an agency of enforcement, or "advocacy."

That casts Big Brother into the role of determining which children are loved, which do not have "equal opportunity", and which are being "discriminated against". It would also give Big Brother the power to monitor every home where there is a child, with the presumed authority of taking that child from his parents to guarantee that he is "loved" and "equal".

HEW has offered grants to develop plans for broad "child advocacy". Some Joint Commission's Report on Mental Health of Children calls for creation of a network of Federally-financed Child Development Councils at all levels of Government.

At the local level, this calls for a "Child Development Center", complete with advocate agents who are to act as a "direct advocate for every child in the community they serve".

Federal court rulings have set precedents which usurp the authority of parents and school administrators. For example, a high school dress code was held unconstitutional in the case of Breen v Kahl. The court held that "The right to wear one's hair at any length or in any desired manner is an ingredient of personal freedom protected by the U. S. Constitution (14th Amendment). The high court has forbidden public school authorities and school boards from infringing on the "constitutional rights" of children under their direction. There would now be "freedom of speech" for Little Johnny in the back row of Mrs. Brown's classroom, and "freedom of assembly" among the girls in Home Economics.

This kind of legalized license for children would further alienate children from parents and teachers and would turn their primary loyalties to the state. Now the radicals are pushing a "Bill of Rights for Children" that would guarantee "sexual freedom, freedom from school or physical punishment, the right to pornography, and even the right to vote. With a "friend" like Big Brother, no wonder "children shall rise up against their parents and shall cause them to be put to death"!

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Cynthia Sue Miller, age 3, who was accidently killed in a farm accident two years ago, October 28, 1972.

Cindy stopped by our home one beautiful day
Just for a moment, she said to play
We loved her, caressed her, could we have known
She belonged to heaven, was never our own.
The sun went down, she hastened away
Saying come to see me in my home some day
Brothers and sisters, Mom and Dad, too,
Now don't forget, I'll be watching for you
Jesus called her and she had to go,
One of his children you see, she loved him
May the angels caress you as we used to do,
Rest in peace darling, we'll not forget you

TIME TO LIME

This is the time of year for you to be thinking about liming your fields . . . by applying mag lime now, your soil will be neutralized by spring and ready to go to work. Soil in this area has a high acid content, and it's necessary to apply mag lime to reduce this excess acidity . . . in addition by using the proper amount of lime . . . you save money . . . by using less fertilizer.

Let ROBERT H. MILLER TRUCKING spread your fields with lime this fall, when fields are solid enough . . . and when the trucks aren't nearly as busy as they will be next spring . . . so don't wait until the last minute . . . you can arrange to have Robert Miller spread your fields with lime by contacting your local Agway Store or representative . . .

It's Academic Competes At Baltimore

Steve Filemyr, Nina Bishoff and Mike Pendergast traveled to the WBAL studios, October 17 to compete in the "It's Academic" quiz show. Southern which brought back first place last year, was competing this match, and won $300.00 plus a set of Merit Student Encyclopedias.

During this trip the "It's Academic" team toured the McCormick Spice factory, many parts of the nation's capital and had the opportunity to meet Congressman Harley Staggers.

On October 31, Southern again returned to compete against Randallstown and Towson Catholic High Schools. These two schools outlasted the Southerners, for their first defeat this year. Even with the loss, $250.00 and a set of Sir Walter Scott books were awarded to the team.

During the two trips, Nina Steve, and Mike toured Washington and the surrounding area. A trip to the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, sitting in on a session of Congress and meeting Congressman Goodloe Byron were just a few of the many activities engaged in by the three team members and their advisor. Mrs. Ed Grose, left rear.

All agreed that the experience gained by competing against other schools, and the knowledge acquired by meeting men who work in our government is well worth the time and effort spent in making up the It's Academic team.

Tapes of the competition may possibly be obtained for local viewing.

Clinics For Flu Vaccine Arranged

Flu vaccine immunization clinics will be conducted in Garrett County on November 11, 12 and 13 for residents 60 years of age or older.

The clinics, from 10 a. m. to 2 p.m., will be conducted at the Crellin Community Building Monday, November 11; Jennings Community Building, Tuesday, November 12, and the Kitzmiller Community Building, Wednesday, November 13.

A donation of one dollar will be requested of each recipient to cover the cost of the vaccine according to Dr. William W. Pope, Garrett County health officer, and Dale Ellis, director of Senior Citizens Programs, who arranged the clinics.

All seniors citizens of the county are invited to participate in the clinics, even though they may not be participating in the Hot Meals program.

Dr. Pope pointed out that those who receive the immunization may experience soreness of the arm for one or two days, but that more severe reactions are extremely rare. As a precaution, persons who have an acute illness, or who are allergic to eggs or chicken, will not be given the vaccine.

Miss Dixon Wed To Paul J. Pratt

Miss Christine Faye Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dixon, Elk Garden, W. Va., became the bride of Paul Joseph Pratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pratt, on October 19.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor-length satin gown with lace bodice and sleeves. A two-tiered veil of bridal illusion formed the chapel train. She carried a single long-stemmed rose.

Attendants for their sister were Miss Dixie Dixon, maid of honor, and Miss Amy Dixon and Miss Cindy Dixon, bridesmaids.

The bride's ensemble and those worn by the bride's attendants were made by Mrs. Elsie Clise, the bride's grandmother.

Fred Pratt his brother's best man. Ushers were Frank Finch, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, and Jeff Dixon, brother of the bride.

A reception was held in the Kitzmiller Community building. The hall was decorated in white, made by Miss Dixie Dixon. The wedding cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Wilma Reed and was cut and served by Mrs. Norma Clise, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Rosalee Finch, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Robin Clise and Miss Jaye Clise served punch and coffee, Mrs. Sonia Pratt registered guests.

The bride is a graduate of Elk Garden High School, Catherman's Business School and attended Allegany Community College. Prior to her marriage she was employed by Carscaden, Gilchrist and Getty, Cumberland.

THE REPUBLICAN

Watch Those Romans...

Deficit spending and moral decay—the old bread and circuses routine—the experts say—had a lot to do with the fall of the Roman Empire. The same ominous inclinations are only too evident in the United States today. Some claim we are even now shuffling down the same path to oblivion that the ancient Romans followed some sixteen centuries ago.

The Gazette of Beanfort, S. C., has pointed out that the city of Rome may now be setting another pattern that the U. S. would do well NOT to follow. The Gazette points out that "for years Rome has been borrowing money to meet its operating expenses until today its loans are estimated at more than $1 billion. Rome's annual debt service costs exceed its revenues from taxes and other sources." Unless the Italian government—also in financial trouble—bails out the city, it will be bankrupt.

Uncle Sam better watch it or he will be in the same boat. Our national debt is close to 400 billions with a sizable sum necessary annually just to pay the interest on the national debt. Eventually, borrowing or deficit spending as the federal budgeteers call it, catches up with everyone—even governments. Passing the buck to future generations simply postpones the inevitable—on the banks of the Tiber in Italy, or on the banks of the Potomac in the United States.

Southern Rams Trim Huskies

Oakland Team Ends Season With Four Victories, Five Setbacks

Kevin Liller broke free for a 36-yard touchdown run from scrimmage in the third period, putting the game out of reach and lifting Southern High school to a 22 to 14 victory over Northern High last Friday night at Oakland in the season finale for both teams.

Quarterback Liller kept the Northern defenses off balance all evening, hitting on seven of 18 passes for 108 yards, but should have completed many more that were dropped by his receivers.

Coach Jim Miers' Rams, finishing with four wins and five losses, rolled up a total of 291 yards, 186 of them by rushing, while the Huskies managed 120 yard total offense. Jack Lear's Northern team concluded its campaign with two victories and eight losses.

Northern drew first blood in the opening period when Ron Teets went over from one yard away. John Rodeheaver scored on a one-yard plunge for Southern in the second period and the teams went into the dressing room at halftime tied at 6-6.

Jim Livengood, who also sparked the offense for the Rams, scored a touchdown from ten yards out in the third period with Liller hitting Dave Shotwell on the two-point conversion. Liller broke loose on his 36-yard scoring gallop early in the fourth quarter.

Kenny Sines scored for Northern on an eight yard run on the final play of the game to make the score appear closer than it actually was.

Southern managed 12 first downs to eight for Northern. The Huskies attempted two passes and completed none.

About an inch of snow fell on the Mountain Top Tuesday night through most of yesterday following rain earlier Tuesday. Temperatures were somewhat above normal, being summer-like over the weekend but winter-like from Tuesday on after the cold front went through.

Last Thursday's cloudy skies dropped .06 inch of rain but gave way to clear skies Friday which remained more or less so until late Monday. Tuesday was overcast with occasional rain amounting to about .65 inch. After sundown Tuesday the rain gradually changed to snow. About ¾ to an inch fell during the night. Variable cloudiness with some snow flurries continued through most of yesterday. The week's total precipitation amounted to .71 inch which is slightly below normal.

Daily highs averaged 55.8 degrees or 5.2 degrees above the normal with the highest being Monday's 70 degrees. The coolest day was last Thursday when the mercury got no higher than 39 degrees. It was 60 or above Sunday through Tuesday until the cold front went through. The thermometer registered temperatures in the low 30s yesterday. Drug Case Heard In District Court Tuesday Morning

One drug case was heard in District Court by Judge Lewis R. Jones, Tuesday morning.

Christopher Aloysius John, Cumberland, pleaded not guilty of possession of marijuana but was found guilty at a trial Tuesday and a presentence investigation was ordered.

John's car was parked on Alder street in Oakland about 1:20 a.m. October 5. Officer Lewis of the Oakland police, in looking for the registration card, discovered a pouch of marijuana in the car.

George B. Friend, Jr., Cambridge, had been charged with non-support of his wife and minor child. The case was slotted at a trial last Wednesday as the parties had reached an agreement as for support.

Oklahoma Firm Acquires Option On County Coal

Another Tulsa, Okla. energy combine has acquired option on coal land in this county, according to an announcement on Tuesday.

The Dow Jones financial wire in Cumberland reported that Mapco, Inc., of Tulsa had acquired the option covering 6,000 acres of coal land from the Western Maryland company, a subsidiary of the Chessie System.

This is coal property owned for many years by the railway and acquired by merger by the Chessie System. It is reported to be located across the North Branch of the Potomac river from Bayard.

This is the second Tulsa operation by companies in the oil, gas and coal business in this county. The first was the Anchor Coal company which is ready to mine along the Casselman river, upstream from Grantsville deep mine.

Value of the Mapco acquisition was not disclosed. The property contains an indicated recoverable reserve of 40 million tons in two coal seams.

The Upper Freeport seam averages 62 inches in thickness, has recoverable reserves of some 36 million tons of high quality steam coal of medium sulfor content, one and one half to two percent, washed.

The Bakerstown Seam averages 56 inches in thickness and contains about four million tons low solfur coal one to one-half percent washed high quality steam coal.

Mapco said both seams would require washing and are mineable by underground methods only. Tentative plans call for starting in late 1977 or early 1978. The option is convertible into a long term lease on March 1, 1975.

Harry Buckley, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, said he was not acquainted with Mapco but did report that many companies are doing exploratory drilling in this county.

Mr. O'Neill stressed the importance of friendships in the American Legion organization, emphasized the importance of retaining the sentimental value of keeping Veterans' day on November 11. He urged the retention of the true spirit of patriotism in keeping the real America and also pointed out the importance of retaining spiritual values.

He offered congratulations to Proctor Kildow Post for its strong organization within the state organization. Randall Kahl, post commander, in opening remarks revealed that membership thus far was 458, some 200 more than at this time last year, and that the post was hoping for 650 members, an all time high. State Will Buy Park Coal Rights

The Maryland Board of Public Works last Thursday authorized state purchase of privately owned mineral rights under Savage River State Forest and Dan's Mountain Wildlife area in western Maryland.

The action gave the Natural Resources department permission to acquire the long disputed mineral rights for $100,000 from the Georges Creek Coal and Land Company and the Buffalo Coal company.

The acquisition of the rights was the result of negotiations between the state and attorneys for the two companies, according to Warren Rich, an assistant attorney general.

The state has been attempting to halt strip mining operations on the parkland for about 10 years. The Court of Appeals ruled in 1965 that although the state owned the land the companies held the subsurface mineral rights through an earlier purchase.

The 1972 General Assembly enacted legislation prohibiting strip mining on state-owned property. Rich said the purchase of the rights was part of the settlement negotiated out of court between the state and the coal firms.

The agreement calls for the companies to deed the state mineral rights on about 6,000 acres, the bulk of which is the so called McMillan tract of 5,685 acres.

The deal reserves any oil and natural deposits below the property to the companies but requires them to give the state first refusals to purchase 90 percent of any such deposits.

Rich told the board that experts do not feel there are oil or gas supplies below the surface.

Few Changes In Official Returns Noted

Absentee Ballots Add To Totals Of Winners

Official returns were completed by the Board of Election Supervisors late last Thursday night and the results showed no changes in elected officials. There were 211 absentee ballots to be counted and these totals only added to the winners' figures of the unofficial returns.

There were slight changes in district 4 Bloomington; district 14-3, Oakland; and district 16, Mt. Lake Park. There was one unexplainable item in Red House, district 8-2. Unofficial figures had shown 173 votes for governor, but the vote for Byron and Wampler totaled only 63 votes, 15 for Byron and 48 for Wampler. Supervisors felt the official returns would show perhaps 115 for Byron, but such was not the case.

Heres the way the figures ran for the principal candidates:

Louise Gore carried all but two voting precincts with Mandel capturing Bloomington, No 4; and No. 9, Finzel. The official total was 3457 for Gore and 2614 for Mandel.

Mathias carried every precinct and took 152 absentee ballots to 43 for Mikulski. His total was 4197 to 1286.

Byron lost Red House, 8-2, lost district 11, 19 to 22, and had a total of 3961 to 1621 over Wampler.

Ed Mason lost Bloomington in his re-election to the State Senate. His final was 3856 to 1593 over Carolan.

DeCorsey Bolden lost Friendsville to Ray McCullough, tied in No. 9, with 123 each; and won 3912 to 1985.

In the races for County Commissioner Don Bender lost Bloomington, lost 9, 11-1, west Oakland, and lost Mt. Lake Park by 3. His total was 3251 to 2716. Edwards lost Bloomington, number 9, Kitzmiller and 14-1, the latter by two votes. His total 3467 to 2580.

Hamilton, only Commissioner Democrat winner, lost Swanton, Friendsville, Grantsville, Jennings, Bloomington, Sang Run, Ryan's Glade, No. 11, The Elbow, Bittinger and Avilton but still won 3313 to 2911.

In Evans' big sweep for Sheriff he lost Grantsville, No. 11, Bittinger, No. 12; and 14, Avilton, but gained total votes of 3709 to 2418 for Delbert D. Swartzentruber.

Fifteen persons cast write-in votes.

Otto F. Otepka got 9 votes for U.S. Senator; Fred A. Thayer got 1 vote for House of Delegates; Margaret DeWitt got two votes for treasurer; Harley Dawson received one vote for Register of Wills; Jim Frantz got one vote for Sheriff; and Morgan France got one vote for surveyor.

Mr and Mrs Wiley contend that for 37 years following their marriage on August 2, 1937, they continued to live upon, openly farmed and publicly and notoriously claimed the 300 acre farm known as "The Gleanings of Negro Mountain.

The plaintiffs charge that about September 15 they were ejected from their farm and their crops were destroyed by the defendants

Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill signed the order October 28 removing the case to Allegany county for trial

Commissioners Discuss Problems With Two Groups

Projects with the Board of Education and problems with the water situation at Grantsville were among items discussed at the regular weekly meeting of the County Commissioners on Monday

The Board of Education, along with Dr William Buser, County Superintendent of Schools and Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, director of administrative services, met with the commissioners to discuss land acquisition for the proposed Grantsville elementary school.

Wayne Hamilton, chairman for the commissioners said the commissioners were responsible for negotiating and purchasing land for the Board of Education. Dr. Buser recommended that negotiations with property owners take place with a representative from the Education board.

A representative of Rummel, Klipper and Kahl, Lee Erickson, discussed the water problem in Grantsville with the Commissioners. The firm, consulting engineers for the Friendsville Water and Sewage project, has prepared an engineering study for the town of Grantsville it was pointed out. Funding for this project would be sought from the Appalachian Regional Commission through the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland, if the project is submitted and approved. The regional commission funded the water and sewage projects in both Accident and Friendsville.

Col. J. Haig Jackson, sanitary engineer for the county, brought the commissioners up to date on the recent surveys conducted on the sewage lines in the Mt. Lake-Loch Lynn area. Col. Jackson told the commissioners that an estimate of $35,000 to $40,000 worth of repair work would be needed to get the sewage system in good operating order.

Don S. Bender, commissioner-elect, was present at the afternoon session of the regular meeting.

Great Shades Of Death

It was in 1834, according to Thomas Scharf that the planned robbery was foiled by Samuel Luman, the U.S. "express mail" coach driver. As he approached the "heavy pine forest known by the name of the Shades of Death", he must have spied a tall brush fence across the road in his way. (The highwaymen were in ambush in the forest.) He also heard the robbers calling for his surrender, but as Scharf tells, "the veteran Lumas, lashing his horses, drove safely over the obstruction and escaped." What a ride, over the National Highway that was not yet paved.

The white pines were there in the 1750's, we know, by finding the reflection of T. C. Atkinson of Cumberland. He tells of what men encountered on Braddock's march, sensing that the Indians were scouting very move. "The road approaches the east foot of Savage Mountain, which it crosses about one mile south of the National Road, and thence by very favorable ground through the dense forests of white pine peculiar to this region, it got to the north of the National Road, near the gloomy tract called the 'Shades of Death.' This was the fifteenth of June, when the dense gloom of the summer woods, and the favorable shelter which these enormous pines would give an Indian enemy, must have made a most sensible impression on all minds, of the insecurity of their mode of advance."

You would have great difficulty finding the white pines today; they are memories. They are usually located in writings as between 4 and 7 miles west of Frostburg. The old iron National Road marker, now in the new Smithsonian Museum, which was removed in 1963, states, "18 to Cumberland, to Frostburg 7." Measuring by modern means, this would place the beginning of the Shades of Death near the present Route 40 School and Stonehenge trailer camp. Searight's book tells of a wagon stand kept by John Recknor "at the eastern approach to the Shades of Death," which location he places as 3 miles westward of Little Savage.

Someone wrote of the traveler going into western Maryland as seeing the ocean of trees before him, and so it must have seemed, an illimitable stretch of green majesty, for mature white pines are scraggly giants. It is not too abstract to think of the dusk generated by overtowering trees, as even the present hemlocks at New Germany cause a softened twilight to pervade the air. Think of these acres of woods, extending at least to the dip of Meadow Mountain called Red Ridge, where the section at the Lower New Germany Road is still called Piney Grove. Piney Grove and the Shades of Death were both owned at one time by a speculating Joshua Johnson of Frederick, who possessed a 15,000 acre tract of land. He built "a fine tavern stand at Piney Grove" for Mortimer Cade, although another source leads us to believe that the tavern and adjoining stables were managed by Truman Fairall. Small wonder that William Frost, son of Meshach, had built an elegant mansion between Piney Grove and Little Meadows on the west.

Environments change, and most regretably in this instance. Marshall Durst, of Grantsville, recalls that perfect white pine, which was light softwood, and valued for ship masts as well as building, was the only timber cut by his father under the Lochiel Lumber Company, the first to invade these forests. Only after the white pine had been slashed and forests were mutilated did the lumbermen use oak and hemlock from the Appalachian Plateau.

By the 1940's, there were second-growth pines on the hill south of Turner's dairy, poor substitutes for the Shades of Death. They did seem so forthrightly peaceful until lumbering began again, and then came the Appalachian Freeway to obliterate any new growth. But perhaps ecologists can be consoled by the presence of a planted plantation of pines that flourishes just on the north side of the highway at the dip, and many like them, growing on all types of sites away from the busy life.

Paul Brooks says that one of the rights in an ever more man-made and industrialized society is the simple right to enjoy the wild places of the earth. Just so, it causes one to wish at times that he could be on the old coach, with shivers sending messages all over him, as he looks ahead to see looming above the green-tinged light of the Shades of Death.

Unstamped Mail Delivery To End

Beginning Sunday the Postal Service will discontinue delivery of unstamped mail, area residents were reminded.

Mail without stamps will be returned to the sender, or directed to the dead letter office if there isn't a return address. Only if refused would that mail have been returned to the sender, if indicated by a return address.

Under the new policy no stamps on the envelope or package, no delivery.

Democrats Now On The Spot

Following the overwhelming sweep of national and state offices, Sen. Herbert Humphrey noted that, "If we don't perform we're going to be in trouble. The American people want performance. We're on the spot."

Although that may be small comfort for Republicans who were swept out of office in every section of the country, it remains true that the burden of proof has now largely been placed on the Democratic Party. Inflation, unemployment and the legacy of Watergate were enough for voters to carve up the GOP with a vengeance.

But the real question now is: can the Democrats do any better?

The Speaker of the House of Representatives, Carl Albert, said the election was "a repudiation of the administration's approach and an endorsement of the Democratic approach."

Given the wide diversity of philosophies among Democrats, however, can anyone, including Albert, define that "Democratic approach"?

Although Watergate was an ugly chicken that came to roost in a Republican White House, polls showed that the issue that most infuriated voters was inflation. And inflation, spurred largely by huge spending programs of congress controlled by Democrats, is by no means simply a Republican problem.

Democrats, on paper at least, picked up enough seats to allow them to virtually dictate the course of legislation during the 94th Congress. However, this would only be true if their party stood united on given issues, a rarity for Democrats. We are confident that there are enough statesmen among them to assure that the needs of the country will come before partisan considerations.

Democrats should also be cautioned against interpreting their huge gains as any kind of "mandate" from the American electorate. Only 55 million voters—38 percent of those eligible—even bothered going to the polls. It was the lowest turnout since 1942. The real victory belonged to apathy.

We are hopeful that the Democratic majority—as well as the Republican minority—during the next two years will turn in the kind of excellent performance as a Nation a voter turnout anything like this year would be a tragic commentary on the future of our country.

1976. During that special year when we will celebrate 200 years that will allow us to go to the polls more enthusiastically than —U.S. Press Association.

George Beall May Get Top Position

Maryland U.S. Attorney George Beall, who led the investigation of former Vice President Spiro Agnew, is on a list of possible successors to Henry E. Peterson, as assistant U.S. Attorney General in charge of the criminal division of the Justice Department.

Peterson, 53, announced he would leave the Justice Department after 27 years. Peterson said his credibility had been damaged in the Watergate affair.

On December, 1972 Beall launched a probe that led to Agnew's resignation and no contest plea to a federal tax charge. The investigation also resulted in conviction of former Baltimore County Executive Dale Anderson on charges of extortion, conspiracy and tax evasion. The conviction is on appeal.

Recently President Gerald Ford reappointed Beall to a new four-year term as Maryland's Chief Federal prosecutor. Beall had indicated he had planned to spend several more months as a prosecutor before becoming a partner in a Baltimore law firm.

Beall, 36, younger brother of Senator J. Glenn Beall, said his departure from the prosecutor's office would depend on the progress of the corruption probe.

Parked Vehicles Hit When Man Falls Asleep

A parked unattended car and pick-up were damaged in a wreck just past midnight Sunday on U.S. Route 219 north of Oakland, when the operator of another car fell asleep.

Dale Patrick Layton, Mt. Lake Park, was traveling south on Route 219 just south of Spring Glade road when he fell asleep. The car ran off the left shoulder, struck a culvert, crossed a yard, continued on striking a car and pickup in the driveway of Darvin Friend.

Tfc. Ronald Lewis apparently made no charges, following investigation.

A hunting dog was the apparent cause of a two-car rear-end collision on U.S. Route 40 just west of Devil's Half Acre road the afternoon of November 2.

Verla Hay Green, College Park, and Albert R. Jones, Jr., Brownsville, Pa., were traveling west on Route 40. Green was slowing for a hunting dog that had run onto the highway, into his path. Jones was unable to stop and ran into the rear of the Green car.

Tfc. D. E. Tharp investigated. There were no apparent injuries in these two mishaps.

SENSING THE NEWS

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Southern States Industrial Council

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's decision to push ahead with nationalization of Britain's aircraft and shipbuilding industries will worsen the already severe plight of that island nation.

Mr. Wilson's new nationalization effort may be smart politics for the head of the Labor Party but it is bad news for the British people. The nationalization schemes carried out by the socialists since the end of World War II have been ruinous for the country.

Ironically, American liberals are now talking about nationalizing certain industries in the United States. Sens. Jackson and Magnuson have proposed a federal corporation to drill for oil. Recently, the head of the Steelworkers Union embraced the idea of nationalization of the railroads.

The economic mess created by nationalization of certain industries in Britain by the Labor government has been fully documented in a new study. This study by Philip Vander Elst, a young British writer on economics, is entitled "Nationalization In Britain: The Broken Idol." It has been published by the USIC Educational Foundation (918 Stahlman Bldg., Nashville, Tenn. 37201).

In his essay, Mr. Vander Elst notes that "the hugh parasitic nationalized sector. . .employes almost a quarter of the total working population while producing only one seventh of the national income."

The nationalized sector In Britain includes coal, gas, steel, electricity, nuclear power, the railroads, civil aviation and telephone service. Nationalization of these industries has resulted in staggering losses for the British taxpayers.

"Nationalization," Mr. Vander Elst points out, "cost the British taxpayer about 5 billion pounds ($12 billion) between 1960 and 1970. Since 1970 inflation has worsened—now running at 20 per cent a year—and the real losses of the nationalized industries have correspondingly soared to a present figure of something like 8 billion pounds ($19.2 billion)."

What we are witnessing in British nationalization is the triumph of strident socialist dogma over the teachings of experience. Nationalization in Britain has resulted in wasted capital, low economic growth and rising costs.

This is the pattern of nationalization everywhere in the world, whether in Britain, Allende's Chile or Eastern Europe. As Mr. Vander Elst states, "Central planning is politically tyrannical, and economically wasteful and debilitating since it destroys incentives and, in the absence of the signaling devices of price and profit, invests blindly."

In other words, the notion that nationalization produces better results than free enterprise is plainly ludicrous. Bureaucrats who do not have to compete in the market place haven't the slighest incentive to be efficient providers of goods and services to the consumer.

This message from Britain is relevant to the situation in the United States. American liberals as much as British socialists, try to sell the Easter Bunny conception of government—something for nothing, that is. They are all for the establishment of central controls that destroy the economic iodependence of individuals and force citizens to act in conformity with the commands and whims of bureaucrats.

Mr.. Vander Elst's study of nationalization makes timely reading for Americans. It helps to remind them of the importance of the U.S. maintaining its role as the citadel of Western capitalism.

Her duties as a housewife and mother call for a substantial amount of life insurance. Remember how much hiring someone to take care of the house and children could cost! Also, the income tax consequences of a loss of the joint return privilege are substantial.

Whether you are presently insured or not, feel free to discuss your insurance problems with the experts at GONDER INSURANCE AGENCY, 203-205 S. 2nd Street, Oakland, 334-3343. Mrs. Rhonda K. Paugh, 20, Elk Garden W. Va. was killed and her 24-year old husband critically injured Tuesday in a one-car accident on Maryland Route 135 near Mt. Zion road about one mile south of Swanton.

Mrs. Paugh was pronounced dead on arrival at Garrett County Memorial hospital io Oakland taken there hy the Southern Rescue squad.

Her husband, Warren Eugene Paugh, driver of the car, received treatment at the hospital and was then transported to the West Virginia University medical center in "critical' condition, suffering from face and back injuries. He was later listed in "satisfactory" condition.

Police said the car approached a left eurve, ran off the south side of route 135, traveled about 38 feet and rammed into a tree. Police said there was no indication of speed although the cause of the accident possibly was inattention on the part of the operator of the car.

The Southern Reseue squad amhulance transported both persons to the hospital. Also responding to the accident were the Tri-Towns amhulance ressue unit and volunteer firemen from Bloomington and Westernport.

Services for Mrs. Paugh will be conducted tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the Boal Funeral Home hy Rev. James Williamson. Interment will be in Bloomington Cemetery.

Penn Alps Study Featured At Tri-County Meeting

Edward I. Heath, executive director of the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland, gave a slide presentation on the Penn Alps furniture production feasibility study now in progress at a meeting of the group Wednesday.

The study, which is approximately 85 percent completed, is designed to investigate the potential for woodwork training and furniture production at the Penn Alps complex near Grantsville.

When the study is finished, a prospectus will be prepared and used to encourage potential investors in the project. The project will be designed to improve employment opportunities for low income and handicapped persons in western Maryland.

Total cost of the study will be $17,080, of which $12,780 is funded hy the Appalachian Regional Commission and the remaining $4,300 being provided by local sources.

For the first time in its existence, the Council failed to draw a quorum at its monthly meeting, with the low attendance attributed to the defeat of five voting members in last week's general election.

Because a quorum was not present, the council discussed only items which did not require official action, such as the purchase of dictating and transcribing equipment for the council's secretarial office. Funds for the purchase of the equipment were already in the budget.

Oakland Firemen Get Three Calls

Oakland firemen received three calls this week, two as the result of automobile fires, and one from a grass fire. Two of the calls were cancelled before the firemen left the fire hall.

Monday evening around 10:30 a call came from Peters Fuel, on Liberty street when a 1968 Imperial automobile, owned by Frank Peters, was discovered on fire between two fuel tanks. Damage amounted to $150, firemen estimated. The fire was out on arrival of the department.

Firemen also were called at 11:05 Saturday morning from the State Roads garage on South Eighth street where a car was on fire but the call was cancelled. They were also called at 2 p.m., Saturday as the result of a woods fire on the Sang Run road, but again the firemen were called back before they left the fire hall. Damage in the two instances was slight.

To The Citizens of Garrett County:

It amazes me that people would vote for higher taxes, higher inflation, more federal and state control and the same old Socialistic programs. Well, that's what happened, not only here in Garrett County but in state and local elections all across the nation. As for Garrett County, maybe there are so many people on government hand-out programs that sound judgment was distorted-thinking maybe government is god. I believed there was a ray of hope in Tom Doyle, but now the picture has changed and on the horizon I see storm clouds of eventual economic disaster not only for this county but the whole nation. It is a well known fact that liberals both Democratic and Republican have no concept of need only a rationalization of half truths and no concept of economics in a free society where supply and demand are the law for economic stability and not more government control. Liberals only want to take from the working taxpayer and create more programs that have no value as far as accomplishment but only lend to the growing rate of inflation, which will eventually topple the American Government. If perchance we survive to our Nation's 200th Birthday we'll have to thank God, if we are not living under a Socialistic Government. To the Liberals both Democratic and Republican, I leave with you the scripture found in 2 Peter 2:17-19: "These are wells without water, clouds that are carried with a tempest; to whom the mist of darkness is reserved forever. For when they speak great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lust of the flesh, through much wantonness, those that were clean escaped from them who live in error. While they promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage."

Jack Michaels, Jr.
Mt. Lake Park, Md. 21550

P.S.: Well, if the elections prove nothing else, they prove that people want complete government control.
So PLEASE, no thinking ... Government knows best.

Mail Referendum Being Conducted November 4 To 15

Ballots were mailed to all known wool and lamb producers in the county for voting in a national referendum on a proposed new agreement for advertising and promotion of wool, according to Darrell Martin, chairman of the county's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee.

The American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., and the administrator, Agricultural Marketing service propose to enter into an agreement, subject to approval in a referendum, for continuing the ASPC promotion program for lamb and wool.

Martin said that deductions will be made to finance the program at such rates as the administrator and the council may agree upon not to exceed 115 cents per pound for shorn wool marketed, and 7.5 cents per hundred pounds of liveweight for unshorn lambs and yearlings marketed.

Producers are asked to mail the ballot in the special "wool ballot' envelope sent with the ballot on or before November 15.

State Reopens Finance Program For Homeowners

The Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development announced the reopening of the state's Home Financing program, which provides direct mortgage loans at preferred interest rates to limited income families.

Credit-worthy eligible families, what cannot qualify for Federal mortgage programs or existing private financing, can apply for loans of up to 95 percent of total acquisition cost. Mortgage terms normally are for 30 years.

The low down payment requirements together with the preferred interest rates offered enable families or individuals to become homeowners at about the same monthly cost as rent, according to the department.

Funds to operate the program were obtained through the sale of $20 million worth of state general obligation bonds.

The program was initiated in 1973 and some $10 million in home loans has been made to about 500 families. Interest rate was established at 7 percent.

Income limits: for Garrett county with one member in family, $10,726; two, $11,526; three $12,326; four $13,126; and five $13,926. For each additional family member above five add $800 to the figure. The initial allocation to Garrett county was $212,400.

Applications may be obtained by calling or writing the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development, Division of Housing, 2525 Riva road, Annapolis.

Voting For The Taxpayer

How many U.S. Senators for the taxpayers?

Not very many. Sadly, only a minority. 35 in number had the courage to vote in favor of President Gerald Ford's request that Federal pay raises, which will cost taxpayers some $700 million, be deferred for the next three months (October, November, and December). Bowing to the political pressure of government worker unions and the bureaucracy, 61 members of the Senate voted to override the President's request, thus granting an immediate pay raise averaging $66.23 a month.

It is important to note that the President had not asked that Congress deny the pay raise, but only that the increase in salary be delayed for the three month period in order to hold down government expenses and fight inflation.

Congress has not been stingy with the taxpayers' money. In the last five years, federal employees have received pay raises totalling more than 30 percent, not counting the new raises.

As pointed out by Senator Jesse Helms of North Carolina, "The savings of $700 million is not a small item; in practical terms, $700 million over three months is $7.7 million every day, or $5,341.88 every minute."

Does the U.S. Government have the money to pay for the increased salaries? No, it does not; the Government is already running heavily in debt, which means that we will be forced to borrow the money at high interest rates, thus increasing the burden to the taxpayers, and adding still more fuel to the inflationary fires.

Those Senators who had the courage to vote to support the President's request deserve recognition and thanks from the millions of Americans who are on fixed incomes and who will not be getting increased incomes of $66.23 per month, either now or three months from now. Those Senators, as reported by the Congressional Record, were: Baker, Bartlett, Bellmon, Bennett, Biden, Brock, Buckley, Chiles, Clark, Cook Cotton, Curtis, Fannin, Goldwater, Griffin, Gurney, Hansen, Hatfield, Helms, Hruska, Huddleston, Mansfield, McClure, Nunn, Pearson, Percy, Ribicoff, Roth, Scott, (Hugh), Scott (William), Stafford, Stevenson, Taft, Thurmond and Tower.

One way the taxpayers can say thank you is by their votes in November.—U.S. Press Asso.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

The Federal government at this time is spending more than a half million dollars every minute, twenty-four hours per day. In the first 10 months of the present fiscal year, the Federal government will spend more than it did in all the years between 1789 and 1942. By some estimates, the average individual's share of the Federal budget today is $1,500. Ten years ago, that share was only $650.00 by the same estimate. Every American wage-earner worked from January 1, 1971 well into May, just to pay taxes to various levels of government. That means the average American pays, in direct taxes, to Federal, State and local governments, more than one third of every dollar earned. In some States, that figure is even higher, as in California, where wage-earners pay 43 cents of every dollar carned for taxes to government at all levels.

In fiscal 1975, the Federal budget will reach $505 billion with an anticipated income of only $291 billion. This means America will add another $11 billion to our national debt, bringing that gross figure to approximately $505 billion.

Interest alone on that debt will amount to more than $30 billion dollars and that is more than the total expenditure of six government agencies—the departments of: Agriculture, Commerce, Interior, Transportation, HUD, and Justice.

I realize that so many statistics put together in this manner are confusing to all of us, but when the share of our Federal government's national debt reaches $10,000 per family, and it is almost there now, it is time for every American to make some effort to understand what it means to his welfare and the welfare of his children.

What is just one billion dollars? A few comparisons may help. You could put it this way: If a man had started in the year 321 B.C. to give away one hundred dollars an hour, working twelve hours a day, 365 days a year, he would not yet have run through one billion dollars. Or suppose a business firm had started out in the year One A.D. and had managed things so badly as to lose a thousand dollars every day. If that firm's original capital had been one billion dollars, its inept management still would have enough money left to keep on losing money at the same rate for another 777 years. If you were to stack crisp, new one thousand dollar bills one upon the other, the stack would be as high as the Empire State Building by the time you reach one billion dollars. If that stack were made up on one dollar bills, it would reach 61 miles high and one person, counting one bill per second, would require 31 and a half years just to count it.

With the Federal National debt reaching past the one half-trillion mark, with the interest payment on that debt having now reached the point where it is the third largest item in the annual Federal budget, it is encouraging to observe a movement in Washington among a few Congressmen to try to do something about it. It is not yet really a movement. It is only a flicker of light. But during the past two years, enough concern has been shown by Congress that we can say: A FLAME HAS BEEN BORN.

Recognizing that continued deficit spending is the major cause of inflation and that something must be done about inflation if our nation is to survive, a group of freshman Congressmen are backing a Constitutional Amendment which would prohibit the Federal government spending more money than is taken in during any given year, except in time of war or in time of national emergency. This Constitutional Amendment contains an additional clause which mandates the Federal government to pay off the national debt at the rate of 10 percent for each period of 10 years, thus requiring the total retirement of the debt during the next 100 years.

This Amendment was introdueed at the beginning of 1973. So far it has only 40 backers in the Congress and there are powerful forces which are fighting the movement. Many people are now getting rich off the interest payments on our national debt. We cannot expect them to favor the payment of the debt.

Wisdom From Out West

Every once in a while a new face appears in Congress that renews our faith in the democratic process. Today we salute such a person: Rep. Steve Symms from Idaho's First District.

Freshmen congressmen, so they are subtly reminded by their elders, are to be seen and not heard. The youthful Symms, elected to his first term in 1972, has shattered that tradition and, in the process, established himself as one of the most articulate and thoughtful conservatives on Capitol Hill.

Symms and his constituents appear to have a good marriage going for them. He was unopposed for renomination this year—something of a rarity in Idaho—and in a recent poll throughout his district, respondents answered remarkably in line with Symms' own well-established views.

The Idaho First District poll indicated that 67 percent of respondents oppose extending diplomatic recognition to Cuba; 97 percent oppose tax-financed, multimillion dollar, low-interest loans to Russia and other Communist regimes; and 62 percent said American's defense was not strong enough.

Although a Republican, Symms hasn't hesitated to ruffle the feathers of members of his own party and the GOP White House as well as the Democratic majority in Congress. He consistently has let the chips fall where they may in defense of limited government, a strong national defense, and sound fiscal policy.

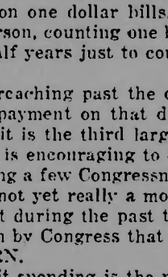
Witness this vintage wisdom from a recent Symms newsletter: "For too long we have acquieseed to the steady increase of federal authority over our economy, our property and our daily lives. This authority has created the ability of government to offer special favors to the "highest bidders" thus has corrupted our political system in more ways than just Watergate.

". . .the real issue of Water-l gate (is) excessive federal power, granted by Congress and abetted by men in the Executive Branch who broke their trust . . .The ordeal is over now. . .we must hold our heads up high, reaffirming our faith in the principles of limited, Constitutional goverement. Our future, like our past, will be what we make it"

Wise words from an uncommon young congressman we'll be hearing a lot more about—Steve Symms of Idaho.—U.S. Press Association.

The U.S. has recognized East Germany as a soveleign nation September 4.

American Freedom and Christian Responsibility



By
Rev. W. H. Leake, Deer Park, Md.

Today paper, glass, garbage — all are recycled.

But have you ever heard of recycled people? Recycle means to transform something useless and worthless into something useful and valuable. Jesus Christ does that in any human life into which He enters.

To recycle means to change. Jesus Christ changes hearts and lives. "If any man is in Christ, he is a new creature; the old things passed away; behold new things have come." 2 Corinthians 5:17. Jesus changes attitudes and behavior, lifestyles and morals — even appearances!

Many people have found that when they invited Jesus Christ into their lives as Savior and Lord, He did the most effective recycling job. He has recycled drunks and alcoholics into sober citizens. He has taken dope addicts and recycled them clean. He has recycled homosexuals straight. He has taken all manner of broken, useless lives and made them whole and useful. He has recycled the adulterer and made him faithful; the prostitute and made her pure. He has changed the child abuser into a loving mother.

You may or may not be in such a dire situation as these people, but are you FULLY satisfied with your life? If not, why not let Jesus Christ recycle you and make your life a thing of usefulness and beauty?

Admit that you are a sinner and need to be recycled. God has promised, "that if you confess with your mouth Jesus as Lord, and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you shall be saved." Romans 10:9.

If you do this you will be a spiritually recycled person ready for Heaven and a worthwhile life on earth.

The above taken from THE VISITOR #273 REMEMBER. NATIONS HAVE AND CAN SURVIVE ECONOMIC COLLAPSE BUT NO NATION HAS EVER SURVIVED A MORAL COLLAPSE. AMERICA BE WARNED!

5th Grade Teachers In Special Training

Fifth grade teachers in the shool system are undergoing in-depth training in order to implement the Berkeley Health Education curriculum, it was announced by Paul Harr, Berkeley Health Education coordinator for the county. The program will begin in January, 1975.

Cooperating with Allegany county the teachers are being trained at Cresaptown Elementary school.

Training activities, methods and resources being used will parallel those in the classroom curriculum, Mr. Harr said. In addition to the practical training, each teacher will utilize approximately $2,000 worth of classroom resources for conduct of the program in their classrooms. The project is funded by the Regional Education Service agency of Appalachian Maryland.

Emphasis of the curriculum, Mr. Harr said, is on working toward the basic objectives of education, developing understanding and appreciation of the body and skills for prevention of diseases, and encouraging youth to make their own sound decisions about personal and environmental factors that affect health. A wide variety of classroom education techniques and resources material will be used throughout. Stress is placed on pupil motivation, activity of individuals, and involvement of school administrators, parents, and community health personnel.

Teachers participating in the workshops include Elmer Redinger and Rosanne Sherwood, Accident; Russell Yocum, Bloomington, Thomas Fowler, James Hart and William Lovett, Dennett Road; Anna Buckingham, Friendsville; Betty Kolb and Mary Strunitz, Grantsville; Judith Burrell, Kitzmiller; Charles Hutson, Loch Lynn; Diana Lovelace, Red House; Michael Warne, route 40 school.

Reclamation Group Gives Ruling On Yough Strip Mine

The Land Reclamation Committee recommended Wednesday hat Secretary of the State Natural Resources department, James Coulter, have final approval on a bill to strip mine in he Youghiogheny River basin, and that he ask for unusual reclamation standards.

The Committee met to review he application of Hopwood Company to open a strip mine in the 5-mile Youghiogheny River corridor along the western side of Garrett County.

The stricter reclamation requirements would be designed to protect the wild qualities of the river.

The Hopwood project is not in he actual visual corridor of the river, but potential runoff could affect the quality of the Yough. Friendsville's new water system s located downstream from the site of the proposed mine.

Hopwood had asked for a state permit to mine land overlooking the wild, scenic Youghiogheny River, where the company wants to take an estimated 260,000 tons of coal from a 56-acre seam believed to be 60 feet deep.

The Youghiogheny Valley is laden with sub-surface coal seams, most of which are on private land where landowners also own the mineral rights.

The attractiveness of mining in the heavily wooded valley has increased with the price of coal. Two years ago miners got $2 a ton for the mineral; now they can get $25 a ton from brokers who sell to power companies.

With the higher prices, miners are now able to invest in the heavy equipment, make land reclamations, pay landowners $1 a ton, and still make a profit of $3 to $8 a ton.

From the state and county outlook, however, the picture is not so bright. Some officials fear strip mining may result in irreversible environmental "rape" of the valley. James Coulter, state natural resources secretary, has argued that the Maryland Scenic Rivers law could be invoked to block the issuance of the permit, since the Youghiogheny has been designated as a scenic river and Coulter felt sure strip mining would not be one of the activities permitted in the valley when a state plan is prepared for it.

However, Kenneth Weaver, chairman of the reclamation committee and head of the state geological survey, said he could not invoke the Scenic Rivers law since the decisions must be legally defensible, and that this law has questionable legal force.

Officials in the county are also not quite prepared to deal with strip mining in the valley. The county commissioners have adopted a comprehensive zoning policy giving the county strict control over strip mining but the county is still several months away from adopting enabling ordinances.

This is the first real conflict between the plan and the landowners.

Marshall Rickert, county planner, represented the Garrett County planning commission at Wednesday's meeting. He brought out that future surface mining in the Yough River valley may be in conflict with the comprehensive plan recommended for the Yough River to remain as a wild river.

The commission feels that although the Hopwood project is outside the visual corridor of the River, reclamation standards should be very high in order to preserve the water quality of the Yough for wild river purposes and to preserve the quality of the Friendsville water supply.

Mr. Rickert noted that the people here feel it's their right to do what they want with their lands. "They don't see the secondary effects," meaning the effects on the visual corridor of the river, affecting water or land-based activities such as fishing and hiking; the noise factor, the water quality factor, and the disturbance to the balance of nature among wildlife in this rather remote area.

The planning commission has scheduled a formal meeting to discuss the issue of surface mining in the Yough area next Wednesday evening.

Henry Moomau, Petersburg, W. Va., a consultant engineer who drafts strip mining plans for nearly every company which mines coal in Western Maryland, feels existing state controls are strict enough, noting that mining inspectors come around and check, as do the water resources inspectors. "Surface mining is compatible with the environment now," he said. He also feels the county cannot afford to keep having lands set aside solely for recreational or scenic use. Just in the past week, 5,000 acres have been set aside in Savage River State Forest.

He also declared strip mining can reclaim abandoned deep mines and replace them with farmland. Operators are willing to mine and reclaim even lands scarred by previous mines. Mining has been conducted in the Yough basin since the early 1900's, when the Crellin mine was active.

The decision on Hopwood could pave the way for applications from the Laoc, Cobra and Ponderosa Coal companies. These and other applications could cover up to 23,000 acres of land, right up to the riverbanks.

New Buildings Are Planned For Pupils

New building designed as replacement and additional structures are being planned by the Board of Education for occupancy in the fall of 1975, it was announced this week by Dr. William Buser, county superintendent of schools.

He named the new Friendsville elementary school, Broadford elementary, and Southern Middle schools, and pointed out they were not just "bricks and mortar," but are designed to implement improved programming as planned by the board.

Dr. Buser indicated the main job was to insure quality education for the county youth as one of accomplishing worthwhile goals who understand the personnel who understand the objectives and know how to implement them with all students.

The goal setting for the elementary and middle schools has been developed and stated in position papers of the school system, he said. To date, three major summer personnel training programs have been held for teachers, principals and supervisors. Visitation programs to other schools successfully using improved educational programs have also been conducted.

Goals and objectives for program improvement have also been discussed with Parent Teacher associations, service clubs and other interested groups.

Dr. Buser said all schools in the county this year had been asked to concentrate efforts toward improving some phase of their program. He emphasized this improvement can and will take place in classroom whether students are housed in new facilities or older buildings.

He said groups resiring presentations related to this topic may direct inquiries to Albert Ringer, director of curriculum and instruction, or to Dr. Buser.

Electric Company Seeks Reduction In Holiday Lighting

The Potomac Edison Company is requesting individuals and municipalities to eliminate or reduce decorative Christmas lighting to conserve fuel used to produce electricity.

E. L. Ewald, Division Manager, said the appeal is part of PE's continuing effort to urge customers to conserve electricity and all other forms of energy. Coupled with this standing request, Bohn said, is the possibility of a restricted coal supply for electric generation in the event of a United Mine Workers strike. Most of the coal used to generate electricity for Potomac Edison comes from mines that could be closed by a UMW strike, which now appears imminent on Nov. 12.

"The winter season usually results in heavier electrical load than any other time of year, and a contributing factor is Christmas holiday lighting," Ewald explained.

He said Potomac Edison is now preparing a special pamphlet for customers offering tips on holiday decorations that do not require lighting and suggestions on how to reduce lighting requirements. He pointed out that these steps apply not only to homes, but to business and community decorations.

The pamphlet will be available at Potomac Edison offices after Thanksgiving.

PE Has Supply Of Coal Stockpiled

Potomac Edison, serving customers in western Maryland, is in the best position in the state to weather the current coal strike.

PE, which relies on coal for about 97 percent of its fuel, has stockpiled enough coal to last 66 days. Supplies on hand amount to 2,343 million tons.

If a prolonged strike occurs and outlasts the supply of coal in stockpiles, the utilities have definite steps to follow.

First step is voluntary conservation, and some companies plan for voltage reduction if needed. Power rationing, while a long way off, is possible, sources have indicated.

The coal strike may also bring higher electricity prices, since power companies are allowed to pass increases in fuel costs on to their customers. Changes in coal or oil prices will be reflected in utility bills.

The Mt. Storm Power Station of Virginia Electric and Power Company is conserving its coal by reducing the generation of electricity during the night, according to Harold Turner, station superintendent.

Winter is not the peak season for electrical usage anyway, since the demand during that season is only about half the summer requirements.

A Note of Thanks . . .

Dear Fellow Garrett Countian:

I would like to thank all of you who voted for me in the recent election. Your overwhelming support for me was most gratifying. I feel a great sense of encouragement, rather than discouragement, in our system of government as a result of having run for public office. I only hope that each of you will join with me in the years ahead in continuing to make Garrett County the fine community it has been and should be. Again, my sincere thanks and appreciation to each of you for your support and confidence in me.

Mary Angela Boyle was pronounced dead on arrival at Sacred Heart hospital in Cumberland. The accident occurred on U.S. route 40 near Porter road in that town. The station wagon was operated by Harold Kermit Engle, 67, of Avilton, this county.

Flu Vaccine Period For Sr. Citizens Has Been Extended

The period when senior citizens may receive flu vaccine shots has been extended, it was announced by the County Health department this week.

During the remainder of the month of November persons 60 years of age or older may receive flu vaccine from health department clinics.

The immunizations will be available in Oakland, at the health department clinic in the hospital on Friday, 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and 1 to 3 p.m.; Kitzmiller health center, Tuesday 9 a.m. to 12 noon; Friendsville health center, Wednesday, 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 3 p.m.; Bloomington school, Thursday, 9 to 11; and Grantsville health center, Thursday 1 to 3 p.m.

The flu vaccine recommended for this winter requires only one dose, according to Dr. William Pope, health officer, and is expected to protect against the types of flu which may be prevalent this year. Dr. Pope said it also is a purified vaccine so that the occurrence of side effects of the immunization is much less than that which occurred with flu vaccine in previous years. He added, however, that some persons receiving the vaccine will still experience pain and redness at the site of the injection, and a few may have a mild fever and headache. He advised that persons who are allergic to eggs or chicken, or who have an acute illness, should not receive the vaccine.

Forage Show Set At Preston Center

Plans are under way for a Preston County Forage show, to be held on Tuesday evening, November 19, at 8 o'clock, at the Preston County Educational Center at Kingwood, W. Va., sponsored by the Extension Service, and Educational center and the Allied Mills agency.

Farmers will be able to test their corn silage, haylage, and hay samples at no cost.

Thomas R. McConnell, Preston County Extension agent, said that if by testing a farmer's alfalfa haylage he discovers his sample is higher in protein than he anticipated, he can then save money on supplement and increase his profits at no sacrifice to his production.

Richard Glass will discuss what a forage testing program has done for some farmers. Forage samples will be analyzed for protein total digestable nutrients, nitrates and nitrites, fiber and ph.

McFarland-Arnold Vows Exchanged On October 19

Miss Denise Lynn Arnold and Kenneth (Pete) McFarland were united in marriage on Saturday, October 19, at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren by Rev. Paul Crumley, pastor. Pastor Crumley had married her parents twenty years ago.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton R. Arnold, 219 G street, Mt. Lake Park. Mr. McFarland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester McFarland, Grantsville.

The altar was decorated with two candelabras with arrangements of fall flowers among the candles, and a large arrangement behind them. Mrs. Lela Paugh played the traditional wedding music with one of the sungs being "It's Only Just Begun."

Given in marriage by her mother, father and brother Ronnie, the bride wore a floor length empire, A-line silhouette gown of white angelmist tafleta. The Chantilly lace bodice was accented with tiny seed pearls. The gown had a bateau neckline and long fitted sleeves. The chapel train was attached at the waistline. She wore a fingertip veil of matching Chantilly lace edged in circular mantilla attached to a pill box. Her jewelry was borrowed from her aunt Sandra.

Miss Kimberly Stahl served as maid of honor and Debbie Deem was her bridesmaid. They wore matching floor length gowns of polyester and white lace. The maid of honor's gown was in jewel green, that of the bridesmaids, magenta. They wore white shoes and a fall flower in their hair. They carried a bouquet of rall flowers with gold streamers.

Flower girl was Shari Wotring, cousin of the bride, who wure a long gown of gold polyester and white lace made by the bride. She carried a bouquet like that of the attendants with green streamers. Ring bearer was the bride's only brother, Ronnie Arnold. Serving as best man was Dave Pope, Grantsville. The escort was Owen (Butch) Dolan, Accident. Ushers were cousins of the bride, Philip Yates, Frostburg; and Jeff Fergusun, Brandywine.

The bride's mother wure a fuschia gown of polyester trimmed in black and gold, made by the bride. Her accessuries were black and her corsage was of fall flowers. The groom's mother wure a blue gown with gold accessories and her corsage was of fall flowers.

A reception for approximately 150 guests was given by the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. Serving were the bride's aunts, Ruth Arnold, Sharon Arnold, Karen Upule, Sandra Ferguson, Laura Raleigh and Leah Yates. Miss Susan Yost registered guests. The bride and groom cut their wedding cake with her great grandmother Fike's glass knife. The cake was made by her great aunt, Margie Sanders.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Southern High school, Oakland, and is presently employed at the Farmers Fruit Market. The groom is presently employed at the Hill Top Fruit market at Grantsville.

The couple toured parts of Flurida for their honeymoun. For going away she wore a maroon pant suit with a yellow rose corsage lifted from her bouquet. They now reside at Hoyes.

The fascinating window

AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY

It wasn't much as stained glass windows go. But for me it held a strange fascination.

I guess it was the letters that puzzled me. The first was obviously "A". The second was trying to be "O" or possibly "O" but didn't quite make it. And if the book portrayed were the Bible—why not put something on its pages that made sense?

It was Grandma who explained it simply. The New Testament was originally written in Greek. In the Greek alphabet Alpha, like our letter "A," was the first letter. Omega the last. For centuries Christians have treasured these two letters as a symbol of God who said in Scripture:

"I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending . . ."

That sums up why the Bible, revealing to men God's truth, is the first and last word in daily reading.

A NEW DAY

Lesson for November 17, 1974

Background Scripture: Ezekiel 36 through 37.
Devotional Reading: Ezekiel 37:1-14.

Recently one of my sons came home from high school with the assignment to analyze the meaning of this popular saying: "Today is the first day of the rest of your life."

Rev. Althouse

We decided that this saying is essentially a statement of hope. On any particular day we can be linked either with the defeats and frustrations of the past or the promises and opportunities of the future. We can concentrate on what has gone wrong or we can concentrate upon a better tomorrow. Some people are so encumbered by yesterday that they ruin every today and tomorrow.

A new spirit

To say "Today is the first day of the rest of your life" however, is to affirm your belief that you can cut yourself off from the past and enjoy a better and different future. We can put the past behind us.

Actually, we decided that the saying would be more accurate if we were to say instead of "Today is . . ." to say "Today can be the first day of the rest of your life." There is certainly nothing automatic about today and tomorrow. A new day is not delivered with the morning milk. The key is what we make of a new day. If we are to break with the past and build a better tomorrow it is incumbent upon us to take some affirmative action. A better "rest of your life" doesn't "just happen."

This was essentially the message that the prophet Ezekiel brought to the Hebrew people in exile. His was a prophetic message of hope for the future. He saw a "new day" coming for these captives in exile. A beautiful promise was given them by God through the prophet: "For I will take you from the nations, and gather you from all the countries, and bring you into your own land" (Ezekiel 36:24).

"I will deliver you . . ."

Yet, if the people of Israel were to enjoy this "new day," they could not simply wait for it. Something was required of them: they had to be willing to let God transform them. God wanted to renew them, but they had to be receptive:

> A new heart I will give you, and a new spirit I will put within you: and I will take out of your flesh the heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh. (36:26)

Sometimes there is nothing we need so much as a new beginning. This is when it is not enough to make some changes here and there, when what is required is a major overhauling. We are likely to have the same old today and tomorrow unless we are willing to let God make some radical changes in our lives. Jesus told his disciples that you can't put new wine into old wineskins. So it is in our lives: if we want a "new day," we have to be willing to let God make a new "us."

Several Injured In Recent Minor Mishaps In County

A few persons received some injuries in recent relatively minor mishaps in separated parts of the county. There were no apparent injuries in a number of others.

A passenger, Penny W. Miller, in a car driven by Donald W. Coddington, both of Cumberland, was slightly injured in a two-car wreck on U.S. Route 40 near the New Germany road the afternoon of October 27.

Coddington slowed for vehicles in front of him. Stephen F. Ash, Rockville, had been looking at the tape player and when he discovered the vehicles ahead had slowed, it was too close to get stopped and hit the Coddington car. Tronper Ronald C. Georg charged Ash with traveling at excessive speed for conditions.

David M. Lipscomb, Mt. Lake Park, was injured in a two-car mishap in Mt. Lake Park at noon October 25.

Melvin E. Rhodes, Crellin, operating a truck of Beachy Lumber Co., made a left turn into Allegany drive from Oak street. Lipscomb rounded a curve just as Rhodes had almost cleared Oak street, but applied his brakes, causing his car to skid and hit the rear of the truck. Trooper Georg investigated.

Dennis B. Nevel, LaVale was traveling east on Glendale road near Zeddock Miller road the evening of October 30 and was injured when his light truck ran off the road and struck a tree. Nevel was apparently blinded by an approaching vehicle, alleged to be his side of the road. Nevel swerved to the left and off the road.

Several minor accidents occurred near the end of October.

Earnest R. Fearer, Bruceton Mills, W. Va., was traveling south on Mattingly Hill road the evening of October 26.

He was near Buffalo Run road and was unable to see a truck of Slagle Construction Co., due to the sun shining in his eyes. The truck was partially on the roadway where it had become disabled and was struck in the rear by the Fearer car. Trooper G. A. Berkebile investigated.

Shirley L. Cutter, RD 2, Frostburg, driving on U.S. Route 40 near Green Lantern road the late morning of October 27, stated she had given a left turn sign and had started to make the turn into a driveway. Mark F. Stanton, Arlington, Va., stated the right turn signal was activated and started to pass on the left and the two collided. Tronper Georg apparently made no charges.

A pick-up of Herbert R. Imbt, Inc., State College, Pa., was parked unattended in a driveway off the Swanton road (west). The truck gave way drifted down a small incline and struck a house trailer. Trooper J. E. Foley investigated.

A vehicle operated by Norman T. Leatherman, Keyser, W. Va., owned by Simpson Auto Parts, Keyser had stopped at a "stop" sign on North Glade road and then pulled on to Glendale road to go west. Three Persons Die In Crash Of Plane

Three persnns died in the crash of a small airplane near the Morgantown airport about 6 n'clock Saturday evening. After making a low pass over the fog shrouded airport the plane circled and then went down near a trailer court and the National Guard armory in an area known locally as Mile Ground.

Authorities identified the victims as W. B. Rhodes, 43, administrator of Monongalia General hospital; Nancy Wilson, 24, an assistant at the hospital; and R. Scott Stringham, 40, a professor in the College of Music, all from Morgantown. The latter had taught a number of local students attending the university and had visited in local homes.

A trailer court resident said the aircraft appeared to have developed an engine malfunction and "dropped from the sky, causing a lot of sparks but no fire."

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks;

I recently read that the Postal Service will deliver mail to trailer parks that do not have such service now. How do we apply?

To apply for mail delivery a mobile home subdivision must have at least 2,500 population or 750 possible delivery stops. Applications for such service should be sent to the Regional Postmaster General in your postal area. Ask your local post office for his name and address.

After 30 years in the Coal Mines I retired because of my health. I applied for black lung benefits last January but have heard nothing. Could you please look into this for me?

Upon receipt of your letter my office contacted the Social Security Administration on your behalf. As you are now aware, your black lung claim has been approved retroactive to April 1973. Citizens experiencing similar difficulties obtaining government benefits justly due them should feel free to write my office for assistance.

Have the new safety devices built into cars over the past several years significantly reduced traffic fatalities?

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration the death rate per 100 million miles driven has decreased 14½ percent since 1967. Safety devices in cars, innovative highways programs and better drivers have all contributed to the decline in fatalities.

Where can I purchase excess map sheets from the National Atlas of the United States?

A price list and description of the National Atlas surplus materials can be obtained by writing—Distribution Section, U.S. Geological Survey, 1200 South Eads Street, Arlington, Virginia 22202.

My daughter draws a VA pension based on her father's death in World War II. If she works during the summer, will her earnings affect her pension?

No. Income earned by a child will not affect this benefit.

Does your office have any information on what to look for when buying a new home?

"Wise Home Buying," a free booklet published by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, may be ordered from Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C. 20407.

What is the Environmental Quality Corps?

A bill was introduced in the House last year to establish an Environmental Quality Corps as an independent agency within the executive branch. Under the proposal, Corps volunteers (consisting of 18 to 26 year-olds) would provide manpower for projects designed to better the environmental quality for all Americans." The bill, H. R. 11537, is currently pending before the Education & Labor Committee.

Investing In America

In recent years, many young Americans have expressed a dislike of the "system." They have been convinced that business is anti-social. Foes of free enterprise — Ralph Nader, for example — have presented profit as a dirty word. The tragedy in all this is that so many young people haven't been taught anything about the principles and operational methods of private enterprise.

A real education gap exists insofar as free enterprise is concerned. There is an enormous need for instructing teachers and students in the workings of business. Fortunately, one organization — the Invest-in-America National Council — is doing constructive work in this field.

This organization is responsible for a very important program of summer institutes for teachers. The for-credit courses enable teachers to have personal contact with professors who believe in the free market system and with businessmen who create wealth in job opportunities for the American people. The business world and the academic world are brought together to provide a valuable educational experience.

Robert J. Buckely, president of Invest-in-America and chief executive officer of Allegheny Ludlum Industries, has said that it is essential for businessmen to participate in this type of educational effort, noting that nationally "the effort in support of our institutions is fragmented and tiny and America, the state and the idea, is on the defensive everywhere."

Fortunately, participation is increasing. In 1973-1974, Invest-in-America held 20 institutes, involving 1,000 teachers and reaching 50,000 students.

One teacher enrolled as a student in an Institute said it offered contact with "leading business personalities throughout the United States and many that had served their firms in foreign lands."

This type of contact between businessmen and students who are high school teachers gives the latter a new awareness of the importance of the business world

Invest-in-America, with its headquarters at 17th and Sansom Streets in Philadelphia, is eager to expand its program for better economic education. In this connection, it is developing a series of mini or one-day institutes for high school teachers.

At a time when economic issues are recognized by the American people as among the most important issues facing the nation, the Invest-in-America educational concept should receive a good hearing.

America in the mid-1970's can't afford hostility toward its economic system. This hostility exists, in the main, because of a lack of information or a lot of misinformation. The Invest-in-America institutes can do much to provide correct information about the working of the economy and to dispel mistaken notions about the goals and methods of business.

Leaders To Plan Children's World Day Of Prayer

Leaders from various churches will meet for a planning session for the children's service for the celebration of the annual World Day of Prayer on Wednesday evening, November 20, at 7:30 o'clock, at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren. Theme for the children's program this year is "God's Love Makes Us One."

Leaders desiring to have their groups participate in the service should come to the planning session.

Mrs. Ernest Wm. Fox, coordinator, said the children's service has become a special tradition in the Oakland area, and that the World Day of Prayer is always held on the first Friday in March which will be March 7 next year. Host churches have not yet been confirmed, Mrs. Fox said.

Mrs. Fox pointed out that the theme for this year was especially suitable and women's group is hoping that more congregations will take part.

Theme for the adult celebration is "Become Pefectly One." She said the theme expresses the parting wish of Jesus for God's people to be one in spirit.

She said the program as suggested in the official guides are especially well prepared with the worship section, the period of five activities, the dramatizations of three stories and the festival of hymns all promised to enrich one's sense of Christian Unity.

Missionary Group Elects

Prayer was the topic at a meeting of the Women's Missionary circle of Mt. Lake Independent Baptist church on Tuesday evening, November 12. Devotions were in charge of Jackie England. There was work on a polyester quilt.

Refreshments were served by Dorothy Schrimshire.

To Host Revival Crusade

The Eagle Rock Church of God of Prophecy will host a Revival Crusade, beginning Sunday, November 17, it was announced by Rev. John R. Jones, pastor.

"Christ is the Answer" will be the theme for the eight night program. Services will begin at 7:30 nightly. Evangelist Opal Adams, of Cleveland, Ohio, will be the speaker. The public is invited.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

I'm writing this letter in regard to a statement made at halftime during the Northern-Southern football game last Friday night.

As the Northern band left the field the following announcement was made: "Let's have a big hand for the second best band in the county."

My first question is "How many bands are there in Garrett County?"

Being a graduate of Southern and an active member of the band, I am very proud of the band and Mr. Clever. However, is it fair to build the image of one band at the expense of another? If the Huskies would have won the game, would Southern have been the second best team in the county?

I know for a fact that members of the band, parents, and teachers were disgusted, disappointed and hurt to say the least at the thoughtless announcement.

I think it is only ethical that the one who made the announcement apologize to the band and all others involved. Thank you.

We don't believe advertisers should have to play guessing games with circulation figures. The facts are too important to the effectiveness of their sales messages and the cost of advertising space.

To eliminate the element of chance, our facts and figures are audited and verified by the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Demilitarize Suez Canal

One of the world's more notable ironies lies in the benefits which will come to the Soviet Navy from the U.S. operation to reopen the Suez Canal.

Currently, U.S. personnel are busy clearing the Canal of mines and sunken ships so that it can be opened again to traffic which has been blocked since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war. The trouble is, unless it is also demilitarized by international agreement, the Soviets will gain a huge new advantage in their ability to exert military power in the Persian Gulf and Indian Ocean areas. Their Mediterranean and Black Sea fleets will be able to move quickly into those areas via the Suez Canal instead of having to make the long transit around Afrika or else come all the way from the Far East.

If it came to actual hostilities, of course, the Canal could be quickly closed again by military action. But barring that extremely, the Soviets will be able to greatly increase their influence on the oil-rich Arab states by their ability to quickly move and supply substantial naval forces through the Canal from their nearby bases.

Deputy Secretary of Defense William P. Clements, Jr. summed it up in a White House briefing:

"It will shorten their lines of supply. It will in a great many ways enhance their position. There is no question about this whatsoever. So if I were to look around the world and pick out who would have the most enthusiasm about opening that canal, I'd have to say I believe Russia will be the most enthusiastic."

Since so many fears have been expressed about a naval race in the Indian Ocean, it seems logical to press for an international agreement to ban transit through the Canal by naval vessels of all major powers. United States diplomacy won agreement to open the Canal in the first place, so we should take the initiative toward limiting its use to peaceful purposes.—U.S. Press Association.

County Advisory Council Hears Michael Morton

Michael Morton, Executive Director of the Maryland State Advisory Council on Vocational-Technical Education, Annapolis, spoke to the Garrett County Vocational Education Advisory Committee at its monthly meeting in the Food Service Department at Southern High School last Thursday, on November 7.

Using statistics furnished by the State Department of Education and the U.S. Department of Labor, Mr. Morton told the local committee that 23% of high school students are enrolled in a general studies course but only 5% of available jobs use the general studies graduate. He further stated 45% of the students enrolled in academic or college preparatory courses but only 16% of the jobs in the United States required a four-year college degree. The greatest number of jobs in the county, 79% to be exact, are in the skilled and middle manpower fields using students trained in vocational-technical subjects; yet only 34% of high school students are enrolled in these subjects. Figures for the two Garrett County high schools are a little more in balance but much work remains to be done in this area, he pointed out.

Mr. Morton further explained that his purpose in visiting was to establish a closer working relationship between the State Advisory Council and the Garrett County Advisory Committee. The State Council stands ready to give assistance to the Garrett County Committee in preparing its recommendations for improvements in vocational-technical programs in the county schools.

Other business of the committee included the election of William Stemple of Mt. Lake Park as chairman and Thomas Bender of Grantsville as co-chairman. Appointed to the program planning committee were Mrs. Elizabeth Randol, Courtney Tusing and Charles Briner.

In addition to those persons previously named, Hugh Denson, Paul Mateer, Mrs. Phyllis Trickett, Pat Fischetti, Col. J. H. Jackson, Wayne Hamilton, James Trickett, Dr. Wm. Buser, Bernard Guy, George Edwards, Wayne Frederick and Dr. Luther Shaw have actively served as members of the Garrett County Vocational Advisory Committee for several years. Mrs. Winona Lewis, and Mrs. Connie Hershman have served the committee as secretary in addition to their other duties in the offices of the Board of Education.

The committee will be actively seeking the support of all citizens, and parents in particular, in its efforts to improve and expand the vocational-technical course in the high schools in Garrett County, Mr. Stemple said.

Members of Proctor Kildow Post No. 71, American Legion, Oakland, recently made a contribution to the Southern High band fond totaling $250. This was to help reach the goal of $8,000 necessary for the band to make the trip to New York City to participate in the Macy's parade on Thanksgiving day.

The check is being presented to Richard Clever, right, band director, by Randall Kahl, post commander of the Proctor Kildow unit.

Senator Mathias Expresses Thanks

He used a chartered bus for his tour. Mathias was returned to a second term by a 122,117 vote majority over his Democratic opponent Barbara Mikulski.

In Allegany and Garrett counties Mathias piled up sizable majorities, getting 77 percent of the vote in Allegany and 75 percent in Garrett.

Accompanying the Senator on tour were his wife Ann, sons Charlie and Rob, and a dozen members of his staff and friends, including State Senator Edward J. Mason who also emerged victorious in Garrett and part of Allegany county.

VOLUME 98 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. NOVEMBER 21, 1971 | PER COPY 15c | NUMBER 38

Conservative Call . . .

As the country now looks toward the convening of the 94th Congress in January, it is an appropriate time to analyze where a majority of citizens want that Congress to lead the Nation.

Although impossible to define the path precisely, a recent enlightening national survey of public opinion gave some excellent clues. The findings showed that the current mood and trend of the country is toward traditional values popularly called "conservative."

Those values include a renewed sense of personal and social morality, an increased aversion to government interference and a desire to operate in the black. The poll showed that 29 percent responding called themselves conservatives, while another 23 percent shared essentially the same views. Conservatives, in a word, are now the majority. Many Congressmen went in on a conservative label.

Five major beliefs of these 52 percent set them far apart from the liberal minority: America's way of life is the best on earth; people have become too selfish; the death penalty should be reinstated; organized religion is important; and "American Communism" is a great threat to the United States.

We have no difficulty aligning ourselves with those views. Congress and other government leaders would do well to heed the rising tide of protest against permissive trends in America.

State Roads Men Well Prepared For Winter Storms

Welcome news from the state roads department at Oakland—snow fighting crews can be on the roads within an hour, day or night, when winter begins her shenanigans with ice and snow.

That's the word from Bill Goldsborough, resident engineer for the State Roads Commission.

To help keep roads clear, the state has 17 regular trucks with plows and spreaders, three blowers, including one large truck mounted blower; two large trucks with V-plows and wing plows, and two graders with V-plows and wing plows.

All storage areas are full of chemicals and anti-skid material. For the third year, the state will not be using snow fencing along the state highways.

The 50 men employed by the state garages here also have access to seven hired trucks for use in the winter. Foremen began around-th-clock shifts last Monday.

The state roads commission here receives storm bulletins from the North East Weather Service, with headquarters in Boston, Mass. as weather indicator. In the past five years, according to Mr. Goldsborough, the service has proved very reliable.

Experiences Told Of Philmont Trip By Three Scouts

Three boy scouts from Bayard troop 75 recounted their experiences at the Philmont ranch in New Mexico this summer at a recent meeting of the Deep Creek district scouters held at Southern High school.

They told their story of adventure with a movie, a series of slides and then held a question and answer period. All members of the Bayard troop were guests of the district committee.

To be ehgible for the trip the boy must be a registered scout, 14 years of age by September, 1975, according to Pat Fischetti, district chairman.

Scouters making the trip were Richard Wilt, Charles Carr and Francis Uphold. Dave Ridings is scoutmaster.

Following the presentation the group divided into three sections. The district committee held a business session headed by Mr. Fischetti.

Scoutmaters and scout leaders met with Fran Clark and Chip Mosser when plans were made for cub and scout leader roundtables to help leaders provide a quality program for their meetings.

Another meeting is set for scouters on the second Tuesday evening in December.

Concert Choir To Present Program

The Evangelaire Concert Choir, a 22-voice choir of Northeast Bible Institute, Green Lane, Pa., will present a sacred concert at the Sand Flat Assembly of God, north of Oakland, on Monday evening, November 25, at 7:30, it was announced by Rev. Al Weesner, pastor.

The program under direction of Edward Reardon, a blind musician, will be in two parts, first a variety of sacred music ranging from unaccompanied anthems to contemporary Southern Gospel songs; the second consisting entirely of a new cantata for the Christmas season by Tom Fettke.

Joseph W. Cogley, Deer Park, Southern High graduate, will appear with the choir.

There is no admission but a free will offering will be given for the Bible college.

Blizzard-Like Conditions Exist On Mountain Top

Blizzard-like conditions exist on the Mountain Top this morning with moderate to fresh gale force winds blowing a light snow and the mercury in the mid-20s. Late last Thursday and Friday, 4.5 inches of snow had blanketed the area. Temperatures for the week averaged about four degrees below normal.

Both State and County roads departments were out in full force this morning clearing and spreading abrasives on snow covered highways. The State started about 4:30 a.m. and the county about 7 a.m. Travelers' advisory was issued but no emergency as yet

Between the snow storms of last week and this morning, skies were variably cloudy. There was some clearing Sunday afternoon following a light snow in the morning which amounted to only a tenth of an inch. This morning's snowfall thus far has amounted to about half an inch but it is snowing harder at press time. A three to six inch fall is predicted. Total precipitation for the week amounted to about half an inch and snowfall five inches. This brings November snowfall to near normal for the full month.

Temperatures for the week averaged 4 degrees below normal. The high this week was Monday's 50 degrees. Otherwise the mercury remained in the low 40s. The mercury dropped into the 20s every day except yesterday's 42 degrees

There were light to moderate breezes last Friday and some Saturday and Sunday morning. Wind started to kick up just after dark last evening and increased in velocity during the night.

Mason Elected Senate GOP Minority Leader

State Senator Edward J. Mason, Republican for Garrett and Allegany counties, was elected Tuesday to a key GOP post in the Maryland Senate when his fellow Republicans chose him to be the minority floor leader for the 1975 session.

The selection came at a caucus in Annapolis. It means Sen. Mason will head up the Senate bloc of eight Republicans.

The GOP also voted to make Sen. John J. Bishop, Baltimore county, as the minority whip although Sen. Mason said they weren't sure the rules provide for a minority whip

Senator Edward T. Hall, Calvert county, had been serving as minority leader for the past 12 years. The Republicans in the Senate dwindled from 10 to eight for this next session. He promised that the Republicans, who will make up just one sixth of the Senate, will be "noisy without being negative."

He said GOP senators plan to introduce their own legislative package and hope to perform effectively as budgetary watchdogs and the loyal opposition in the Democratic administration of Gov. Marvin Mandel.

The 44-year old Cumberlander thus becomes the first Maryland Senate minority leader from Allegany county since Senator Robert B. Kimble, who was last elected to the legislature in 1954. U.S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr., served as minority leader in the House of Delegates prior to his being elected to Congress in 1968.

Sen. Mason defeated two incumbent legislators from Allegany county— Sen. William A. Wilson and Del. David J. Williams, in the September Republican primary and then went on to win over Democrat Philip J. Carolan in this month's general election.

Two Charged In Maple View Tavern Breaking, Entering

Two local young men were arrested and lodged in the county jail in connection with a breaking and entering and larceny at Maple View Tavern about 1:04 a.m. Monday.

The two are a 16-year-old juvenile from Bradley Manor and 19-year-old Edwin Alan Lewis, 19, Route 1, Oakland. Both have been charged with breaking and entering the tavern.

Sheriff's deputy Robert Finch and Oakland policeman Roger Lewis made the arrests in the building following a call to State Police headquarters from a local resident. Tpr. D. E. Tharp of the Maryland State Police also responded to the call.

It is expected that the two will also be charged with grand larceny, since $91 in cash and some soft drinks, alcoholic beverages and power equipment were also reportedly taken. Entry was made through a side basement window.

The Lewis youth had been on probation for a previous breaking and entering charge.

He was held in jail in lieu of $3,000 bond following a bond hearing Monday.

The juvenile was released to the custody of his parents on Monday, and will be tried in juvenile court within the next three weeks.

Good Deer Herds To Attract Many Hunters Next Week

A good-sized herd of deer this year is expected to bring record numbers of hunters into Garrett County woods during the coming deer season, November 30 to December 7.

Deer are in especially good condition this year, an added bonus for hunters whose shots find their mark, according to game officials.

Successful hunters are limited to one male deer each, which must be reported to one of the county checking stations within 24 hours. Checking stations this year are Paul's Mt. Top Tire Oakland, Johnny's Bait House, Walt's General Store, Deep Creek Lake; Hetzs American Station, Grantsville; and Savage River Inn, Bloomington.

Each deer must be field tagged before being brought in for checking.

Bow season will continue right through firearms season this year, and continue until January 1.

Official daily hunting hours are between one-half hour before sunrise until one-half hour after sunset. No hunting is permitted on Sunday.

It is lawful to kill male deer with two or more points on one antler of male deer with one antler three or more inches long. Hunters must be licensed unless on their own property.

One hundred and seven Garrett County elderly received flu vaccine immunizations at three recent clinics.

The immunizations were administered by officials of the Garrett County Health Department at hot meals centers at Crellin, Jennings, Kitzmiller.

The clinics were arranged by Dr. William W. Pope, county health officer, and W. Dale Ellis, director of Senior Citizens program, for the Commission on Aging.

The Health Department administered the vaccine for a dollar each.

Fifty-two persons over 60 received the vaccine at Crellin, 38 at Jennings and 17 at Kitzmiller.

Again this year, the annual Home Decorating contest sponsored by the Association will be non-electric, and it was also decided by the Association not to light the town street decorations. Town workers will be erecting the street decorations in the near future.

Robert Rudy, chairman of the "Try Oakland First" committee, announced that some 200 badges urging shoppers to "Try Oakland First" have been sold to business places in Oakland, with management and employes wearing these insignia until Christmas.

Real Estate Man Has Car Damage

A lot of stories have been told about traveling salesmen, but an incident Monday night proved they sometimes have to take a lot of "bull".

Tom Clutter, with Stront Realty Co., Inc., of Terra Alta, was showing a prospective buyer a farm home in the Salt Lick area and had parked his car in a pasture while they investigated the home.

A very large Hereford bull took exception to the vehicle and proceeded to do his best to exterminate the car, charging into the right front door, breaking the mirror, and he left rear fender.

Estimates of damage were over the $650 mark for Mr. Clutter's 1972 Chevrolet Caprice, while the bull suffered from nothing more than a slight headache and a touch of frustration.

U.S. industrial production dropped sharply in October.

County Roads Men Prepared To Battle Winter Storms

The 153-man crew of the Garrett County Roads department may not be looking forward to winter, but at least they are prepared.

The usual amounts of snow fence, nearly 75 miles in total length has been installed, including the 30,000 feet of replacement fencing needed after summer thefts and the usual deterioration of the snow barriers.

New this year will be two-way radios in all snow plows mounted on the county's 33 trucks. The county also has eight graders, six front-end loaders and three blowers, including one small machine at Accident, for use in keeping roads open.

Available for emergency use are five county-owned bulldozers.

The 15,000 tons of cinders from the Mt. Storm power plant have been hauled and stockpiled at the four county garage properties, along with a few hundred tons of chemical salts. Use of salts has been halved over the past few years, since it was determined that a combination of cinders and sand provides the same traction results with less environmental damage. Now only a few hundred pounds of chemicals is shoveled into a ten-ton load of cinders.

The new garage at Accident, located just south of the Northern High School property, is completed and ready for occupancy as soon as electric hookups are completed by Potomac Edison. Work on this new facility began late last winter, and county workers finished the projects on days when weather prohibited outside road work.

The county roads department most probably will sell the old site in Accident after appraisals have been made.

The road surfacing proceeded at an ever greater pace over the summer months, with nearly 20 miles of dirt roads hardtopped by county crews.

Primary construction was completed on two miles of New Germany Road, a new bridge at Swanton completed and a new road through that town was begun. The latter project is planned for completion by next spring.

The temporary bridge crossing at Savage River is still in use. A new bridge design by William K. Dean Associates, Bel Air, will be submitted for approval around Thanksgiving and the project let for bids in the spring.

The area of Spring Lick Road damaged by heavy rains last summer has been restored, and is in better condition than ever, according to Paul DeWitt, county roads administrative engineer. The road has been widened and built up from the creek bed to help prevent such problems as flooding and washing from recurring.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir

I received my Republican today and looked immediately at your editorial on the front page, where you stated the National debt was approaching 400 billion dollars. I wish to correct you. Our Federal National debt is now $479,580,000,000.00. Nearly one half trillion dollars. Think of that.

Hope you do not mind that I am making this correction.

That is a disgraceful situation to be in for a great country that we have; the United States of America.

May God forbid any more addition to it; we are paying right now for all of our past follies. After analyzing results of the recent election, we are probably in for more of the same.

Sincerely Yours,
Guy S. Stanton

—o—

Dear Sir:

We wonder whether areas supposedly annexed to Mountain Lake Park are legally a part of the town. These are Oak Park, King's Hill Estates and certain adjacent properties, the Mary Drive area.

They are not in the town on State Tax Maps, causing wonder if the annexations were registered as required with State officials. They were never registered with the Clerk of the Circuit Court.

Maryland Annotated Code Article 23A describes annexation requirements.

Annexation started by Town Council: First obtain approval of at least 25% of the registered voters and at least the owners of 25% of the value of the real estate in the area.

Annexation started by petition signed by at least 25% of the voters and real estate owners as described above.

By either method the Town Council must then advertise notice of a hearing for four weeks, hold a hearing, then pass a resolution conforming to Sections 17 and 17A of Article 23A, listing old and new boundaries and any special conditions.

The mayor shall "promptly" register the resolution with the town clerk, Clerk of the Circuit Court, Director of the Hall of Records, Director of the Department of Legislative Reference.

Were all of these things done? It is a serious matter. Taxes have been collected from citizens over several years. Promises were made. Were they written into the annexation resolutions?

Can we expect a full accounting by the Mayor in your paper with no buck passing?

J. B. Bowen

SWANTON

Spotlighting By 3 Draws Stiff Fines

Three persons were found guilty of spotlighting and were levied stiff fines in District Court by Judge Lewis R. Jones last week. Others forfeited collateral in Natural Resources violations.

Everett Ray Bittinger, Harvard M. Fazenbaker and Stanley R. Fazenbaker all of RD 2, Accident, pleaded not guilty of spotlighting fields and woods with firearms in possession. All three were found guilty and fined $105 each.

Roland C. Phillips, Baltimore, had been charged with fishing without a license and did not appear or pay the $15 line. A warrant was issued with a citation of failing to obey the written promise to appear. Last week he paid the original fishing violation of $15 and $25 for failing to appear.

A plea of not guilty of throwing litter on a private road by Clarence A. Lyons, Sr., Kitzmiller was sustained.

Two others forfeited collateral.

Hunting and possession of three rabbits without a nonresident license, $55, James E. Sines, Meyersdale, Pa.

Hunting on Sunday, $30 Alfred Karl Matthias, Bowie.

Amounts include fine and $5 costs.

To Receive Stripe

Miss Kimberly Ann Liller will receive her second stripe denoting senior clinical attainment in the annual capping ceremony of the West Virginia University School of Dental Hygiene on Sunday, November 24, in the medical center auditorium.

She is an active member of the Junior American Dental Hygiene association, W. V. U. chapter, chairman of the publicity committee for Children's Dental Health Week, and is student representative to the Outstanding Dental Educator committee.

Kim, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jack E. Liller, Oakland, expects to receive a Bachelor of Science degree in Dental Hygiene in May.

Rev. Trimble To Visit Deer Park Church

On Sunday, December 1, the Rev. David C. Trimble will return to conduct services at St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park. The former Vicar of St. John's, Deer Park, also served Our Father's House (The Log Church), and Anderson Chapel prior to World War II. During this same time he was also the Rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland.

After leaving the Oakland area, he served a church in Baltimore, and went to Arizona until the late 1960's. He returned to St. Marks, near Hagerstown, and served there until his retirement in 1972. At the present time he lives in Hagerstown.

Time for the services which the Rev. Trimble will conduct will be 8:00 and 10:30 a.m.

Bus Service Stopped

Bus service along the county's two main highway arteries stopped Monday with a strike of 16,000 Greyhound bus drivers and service personnel.

According to Kenneth Lowe, who operates the Greyhound bus depot in Cumberland, word on the strike is that a short strike is anticipated.

Tree Hall Of Fame Planned For 1976

Maryland's celebration of the nation's Bicentennial in 1976 will feature living mouments to the Free State's history. These living monuments are in the form of trees at least 200 years old.

A "Tree Hall of Fame" program has been planned to identify, preserve and mark trees which are two centuries old.

Trees will be nominated in each of the counties and property owners with heritage trees will be asked to allow placement of a plaque at the tree. Appropriate ceremonies by civic groups would be planned during the Bicentennial observance. Even though the state is subjected to tremendous development pressures at least 50 percent of its land is forested acreage.

Garrett county has five champion trees.

State Department AID Interns Use Garrett County In Learning Experience

By Carol Canan

What did representatives of the State Department find during a recent two-week stay in Garrett County? A warm, friendly and cooperative people, eager to help young AID (Agency for International Development), interns with a learning experience on their first State Department job.

Seventeen young people, graduates of colleges and universities all over the U.S., spent twelve days in the county, from November 3 to 15, using the Village Inn at Mcflenry as their headquarters and spreading out each day to talk with people in the county.

In using the area as a learning experience, they divided into four groups each group settling on a project which, if implemented, would have beneficial economic and social results for the county This, basically, is what they will be doing in their new assignments for the State Department overseas.

The four group projects were timber industries, commercial trout farming, a maple products cooperative and a mobile health care unit project.

The four groups devoted their time each day, and most evenings, to delving into the facets of such projects including feasibility, impact on the social and economic bases of the county, financing, aid to employment, and all phases of constructing and implementing the program. Some traveled as far as Virginia and Morgantown to obtain facts and figures relevant to their project.

After amassing all the information available in such a limited time about the needs of the area, they then formulated the data into small volumes of information, presented in approved AID style, just as they would if they were requesting AID approval and funds for a real project Average length of the typed double-spaced reports was nearly 70 pages, not including annexes of maps, charts and tables of several more pages.

The reports begin with a summary and recommendation, then give project background, donor assistance, host county assistance, project analysis, project implementation, and a section of issues which could conceivably hinder the project.

The maple cooperative project calls for a central processing facility to be owned by a cooperative formed by interested farmers and those who would rent lands for maple sugar tapping. Profits from the processing would be returned to producers.

The report pointed out that the maple syrup market at present is not being developed. Local maple syrup producers would form a Board of Directors, and the program would also cover well-planned management of the sugar maple groves.

The commerical trout farming report noted that there are at least 140 farm ponds available which are suitable for the raising of trout for commercial sale.

A consensus of farmers interviewed by those in the group seemed to be that farmers would be interested in this form of aquaculture but not in marketing and processing the fish, which would have to be undertaken by the Cooperative

Group Complains Of Surface Mining In Yough Corridor

The feeling that surface mining in the Youghiogheny corridor would create a severe impact, now and in the future, was voiced by citizens in the Mt. Savage area, who wrote a letter of complaint to James Coulter, secretary, Department of Natural Resources, at Annapolis, this week.

They pointed out that regulations which claim to have value for safeguarding ordinary land could not be proven able to prevent damage to the "microorganisms and insect life which form the basis for fish life in mountain streams.

They indicated that should the application of the Hopwood Strip Mining company for state surface mining permit in this county be granted, that other mining outfits would demand and get similar rights along the entire 35 mile corridor, resulting in "total devastation of the land, forest, water and wildlife resources" of the only area of its kind Maryland has left.

They pointed out that the Swallow Falls recreation area would be endangered, that the Youghiogheny scenic corridor designed as a scenic river, would be threatened.

The group urged no hasty action and the need to find a means of stopping all strip mining in the river corridor.

A copy of this letter was sent to The Republican and was signed by Emma M. Kirby, Mary E. Kirby, Daniel J. Folk, Michael P. Gabin and Gus Winebrenner. The letter was too lengthy to publish in full.

State Department AID Interns Use Garrett County In Learning Experience

Steve French, of the Mobile Health Care Unit project, presents his ideas on that subject to Meg Stevens, Col. J. Haig Jackson, Mike Eagan, Dave Alverson, Pat Fischetti, and Will Darkins.

This project would have a central processing plant constructed, most probably in the Oakland Industrial Park, and 11 workers would be hired during the October-December period of activity.

A third group discovered the need for additional medical facilities, and proposed a mobile health care unit. A mobile van with basic equipment and supplies, including one electrocardiograph machine, an audiometer, a Titmus eye-testing machine, and staffed by two public health nurses would circulate through the county on a full-time basis.

Areas especially in need of such a facility would be Kitzmiller, Crellin, Deer Park-Swanton, Finzel, Jennings, and Friendsville.

The van would aid in early detection of problems through screening, prevention, health and family counseling and public education.

The timber troupe studied the County timber market Potential and discovered several facets as yet unexplored to any great degree locally, including uses for a lot of products currently thought of as waste and in construction of such types of furniture as Shaker, Amish and Early American.

Before the group left on Friday afternoon, local people interested in the above four projects met with the various groups and gave their criticisms, pointed up possible flaws in the projects, and gained much food for thought from the reports.

For many of the group just in this county, this AID program is their first job experience. The interlude here is to serve as a sensitizing and learning experience for them between college and their assignments, since textbook theories do not often take into account the human feelings involved in all aspects of a "helping hand" project.

AID, which was made a part of the State Department following its creation by the Foreign Assistance Act right after World War II, recruits young college graduates direct from schools, who might be helpful to the group, and she made a second trip here in October to see these before the AID people arrived. W. Marshall Rickert, county planning director, served as coordinator for the group in the county.

In Mrs. Harley's words, "Garrett made it easy with its very warm, helpful people." If local officials are again willing, other programs may be set up here for training.

Those who are interested sign up for a two-year intern program, spending one week learning about the AID agency, one acceptable project paper and then week on how to produce an acceptable project paper and then two weeks in a learning experience such as just conducted here. Following this, and the critiquing of project papers by senior AID members, the group will have language training at the Foreign Service Institute in Washington, D.C. before leaving for their assigned countries.

AID is not like the Peace Corps, since the members live in houses in major cities where offices are maintained. It is not a person to person contact but rather a government to government effort to find ways to provide better quality life and better economic bases in foreign countries.

This year, 66 young people are involved in the AID program. A group had spent two weeks in Bedford county, Pa. for their training before the Garrett group arrived here. Another division of young people will begin their training in Allegany County Md. soon. Seven of the 66 are women.

The 17 young people here ranged in age from 23 to 34, and are being sent to such countries as Vietnam, Nepal, Laos, Afghanistan, Kenya, Niger and Zaire.

They will serve as agricultural economists, accountants, lawyers and engineers in their target positions.

Kay Harley, program manager for organization development, is coordinating these trips for the groups, serving as advisor, counselor, and general housemother to the young people. She stressed that the group was here on a "learning experience" and that the projects listed were made up as a part of the training, and not necessarily as government projects.

She began planning the Garrett trip in August, after approval was received from County officials. At that time she was given names of various persons

The commercial trout raising group of AID interns had their ideas put to the test by two local avid trout fishermen, George Brady and William Nace. Above, in the photo, are Wayne Hamilton, (back to camera), Mr. Brady, Mr. Nace, Allen Randlov, Marshall Rickert, Douglas Kline, Lee Odle, Wil Scarborough, Andy Evans, Gene Straub, and Cameron McClure.

Some Injuries Are Sustained In Past Week's Accidents

Several persons sustained varying degrees of apparent minor injuries in a number of motor vehicle crashes during the past week, mostly in the northern part of the county.

Donald R. Stanton, Star Route, Frostburg, sustained injuries in an accident on U.S. Rt. 219 north of Cove road last Wednesday morning. He was driving south on Rt. 219, ran off the roadway where the snow pulled his pickup into the guard rails and strike a utility pole. Tfc. D. E. Tharp made no charges. There was snow on the road surface.

Michael S. Wilson, Cumberland, was injured in a one-car mishap when he lost control of his car which went off the roadway and came to rest on top of a culvert late last Friday night. He was traveling east on U.S. Rt. 40 just east of Beall School road. Tfc. Dale K. Williams charged Wilson with negligent or reckless driving.

Two accidents were due to a stopped school bus and the operator of a car following not being alert and able to stop.

The operator of a car not being able to stop received slight injuries. Floyd H. Merrbach, Garrett, Pa., was stopped in the westbound lane of Rt. 40 near Lower New Germany road Monday afternoon due to a school bus discharging children in the eastbound lane (lights flashing). George L. Kemp, Markleysburg, Pa., the injured, following the Merrbach car, hit his brakes but was unable to avoid hitting it. Tfc. Williams charged Kemp with following too close.

William Dickie, New Eagle, Pa., in a pick-up, Lawrence V. Ash, Uniontown, Pa., and Janet Ann Upole RD 2, Swanton, were all driving west on Route 40 just west of Foster Inn road last Friday afternoon.

Dickie and Ash had stopped for a school bus discharging pupils ahead. Janet Upole, unable to stop, hit the rear of the Ash car pushing it into the Dickie pick-up. Tfc. Williams charged Janet Upole with failing to reduce speed under certain conditions.

Neal D. Holliday, Boston, Va., received slight injuries in a one-car wreck recently, on Rt. 40 about three miles east of Devil's Half Acre road. Holliday lost control of his car which crossed the highway and struck some guard rails. Tfc. Tharp charged him with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Jeremiah G. Tasker, Deer Park, in a pick-up, was traveling east on Md. Rt. 135 last Wednesday evening. Carolyn Sue Kisner, RD 3, Deer Park, attempted to turn left onto Rt. 135 from northbound Deer Park Hotel road and failed to grant the right-of-way to the Tasker pick-up and the two collided. Tpr. C. H. Himiant charged Carolyn Kisner with failing to stop at a 'stop' sign.

A pick-up overturned in a two a.m. wreck Sunday but Thomas A. Fike, Star Rt., Kitzmiller, operator, was apparently not injured. Fike was traveling west on the Crellin road at the west edge of Oakland when he failed to negotiate a right turn. The truck ran off the roadway, struck an embankment and overturned. Tfc. Tharp charged him with negligent or reckless driving.

Paula R. Bittinger, Star Rt. 1, Oakland, and Paul A. Reese, RD 2, Friendsville, were northbound on Herrington Manor road near Leighton drive in Oakland, late last Friday morning. Paula Bittinger had slowed and was in the process of making a left turn into a private drive, Paul Reese, unable to slow down struck the Bittinger car in the right side and proceeded on and hit a mail box. Reese was charged by Tpr. J. E. Foley with failing to reduce speed under the conditions.

There was a mishap on the narrow Hoyes-Sang Run road late Tuesday morning between a large truck and a car. Nancy G. Friend, Hoyes road, Friendsville was driving east and Ray E. Doerr, Star Rt., Accident, in a truck was driving west. As the two vehicles attempted to pass on the narrow road, the right rear tire of the truck hit a tree stump forcing it into the Friend car. Tfc. L. R. Rosage made no charges.

Welfare: Good News, Bad News

Many Americans cringe at the very mention of welfare. And well they might. $5 of taxpayers money for every man, woman and child in the U.S. will be spent this year on erroneous welfare payments alone. That's the the bad news.

Fortunately, there's also some good welfare news. The welfare arm of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare is at long last making headway in its drive to curb abuses. The agency, called the Social and Rehabilitation Service, reports that, during the first six months of 1974, 37,500 ineligible families had been lopped off the welfare rolls, at a taxpayer savings of $71 million.

Since the known error rate had been a whooping 41.1 percent, however, SRS Administrator James Dwight reports that the ineligible rate is still nearly 38 percent. He added that because of inflation, reduced payment errors may fail to cut welfare costs during the next year.

"Even though we are reducing the size of the rolls, and the errors of overpayment and ineligibility, the payments are tied to the cost of living," Dwight explained. "Unfortunately, inflation seems to be the worst in those areas where people cannot afford to go without."

The actual reductions have come about at the state level through federal prodding. HEW announced last year that matching federal funds be withheld from states that fail to reduce their error rates to specified levels. A total of $61 million has been withheld from states for the July-December period of this year. Welfare payments in most states are matched on a 50-50 basis with federal funds.

Prior to the reform drive, states took the word of applicants on such key things as their number of children. Now, applicants throughout the country are being required to produce birth certificates as well as document their level of income.

We applaud these steps, however late, to get cheaters off welfare rolls. At the same time,

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

As one travels around the country there are many voices raised in dire forebodings about the future of the United States. Prophecies are heard on every hand that our very system of freedom is about to go down the drain. Most of these voices are basing their pessimism on the rate of inflation plaguing our economy. There is no doubt that America is facing one of its greatest crises in our history. There is no doubt that the dangers are great, and there is no doubt that our very system of freedom is at stake. But, there are many reasons for optimism about our future.

To put the problem squarely in perspective let's look at the options open to Americans. First, we can go the route of most of Europe and many other nations in the world and permit inflation to run away. Once inflation reaches and remains at more than 10 percent per year, pensions, Social Security, savings and other provisions for the welfare of a large percent of the population are soon destroyed. This brings a demand for government to take full responsibility for feeding those independent on such provisions. In order for government to take such responsibility, it has to have total power over the incomes of those still in the work force. Simply put, it means government has to control all means of production and distribution of what is produced. This is what happens in Communist countries from an economic viewpoint. Add to this the political fears of a government afraid of the people it governs and you have the modern version of tyranny.

Russia and most of the other so-called "iron curtain" countries, came to this position via the use of brute force. The advocates of Communism knew where they wanted to take the people and they took them there at the point of a gun. Some other countries in Europe have arrived at the same economic position via uncontrolled inflation. Students of Communism will remember that Marx, Lenin, Stalin, Khrushchev and the present leaders of Communism have never deviated from the goal of "taxing the middle class" out of existence. That has now happened in England. It has also happened in other countries where inflation has been permitted to stay in double digit figures. We are in danger of it happening in the United States, but there are reasons for optimism!

The alternative to this is to bite the nail, to pull in our belts, stop spending beyond our income and bring inflation under control. No one believes it will be easy. Most of Congress and most State governments have been accustomed to being elected on the basis of "what we will do for the people." But the cold, hard realities of our present situation are these: The federal government must cut expenditures down to the level of its income. Labor should cut its demand for higher pay down to the level of its income. Labor should cut its demand for higher pay down to what the company can pay without raising prices. In short, we Americans are going to have to lower our standard of living, lower our demands for luxury items in all areas, do without some things we would like to have, but for which we would have to go in debt and tough it out for the next year or two. If we are willing to do this, then inflation can be brought under control in a period of 12 to 21 months. Production will begin to exceed demand, the buying power of our dollar will increase, prices will stabilize and freedom itself will have been saved, and our jobs preserved.

NEW RADAR DEVICE — Maryland State Police are now testing two "moving" radar devices that are being evaluated by the department's Planning, Research and Inspection division. Trooper First Class Julian G. Woodin is shown operating one of these units which records the speed of a moving object by means of radio microwaves. Unlike conventional radar that must be operated from a stationary position, patrol cars using these new devices can be in motion when the clocking is conducted. —State Police photo by Bill Clark

Weather Curtails Freeway Road Jobs

Contractors on various National Freeway jobs in this county have been notified to partially shut down work due to weather conditions, according to John D. Bushby, district State Highway administration engineer.

Mr. Bushby said that work which can be continued will keep on as long as the weather permits.

The Freeway work is overall on schedule. Early next spring the contractors will resume work in full force.

The next section of the freeway expected to be open by September, 1975, will be the eight mile stretch from the West Virginia state line to the interchange at Keyser Ridge. If everything goes well the entire freeway from Cumberland to the West Virginia line would be opened by this time next year, Mr. Bushby said.

Work on the section between the Finzel interchange and the route 219 interchange, the New Germany road, Lower New Germany road and State route 495 in the Grantsville area have been completed.

The work which will continue for some time on the Freeway would be shooting and drilling of rock and other work which is not affected by winter weather.

140 At 4-H Dinner Of Monte Vista Club

Approximately 140 family members and friends of the Monte Vista junior 4-H club met at the social room of St. Paul's United Methodist church last Tuesday evening, November 12, for a dinner honoring club members and leaders.

Kim Trickett, club president, was in charge of business. Miss Alice Hevner, 4-H and youth agent, spoke of the importance of 4-H work and its many activities this past year. Seven new members were initiated. New project leaders were introduced. Melanie Ryan narrated a short 3-act play, demonstrating the highlights of the monthly meetings.

Mrs. Phyllis Trickett explained requirements needed to become a 4-H member and presented awards to Jenilee Stemple, Teresa Thomas and Melanie Ryan for receiving the most points during the year. Others receiving awards were Kim Zimmerman, Amy Gosnell, Jenilee Stemple and Lynn Rinker for perfect attendance. Linda Booth received the past president pin and the club was presented an award for aiding with Heart month.

Christmas Seal Campaign Opens

The 68th Annual Christmas Seal Campaign officially opened last week throughout the United States. Maryland residents should have already received the Christmas Seals from their local Lung Associations. Over one hall million campaign letters have been mailed during the past weeks to coordinate the official campaign inauguration.

"Christmas Seal funds are needed for research and education in our fight against lung diseases," said Mrs. Jennie Grahame, Honorary Christmas Seal Chairperson for Allegany-Garrett County. "In addition to fellowships and research grants which actually work on solving the perplexing problems of lung diseases, Christmas Seal contributions also provide free services to the community, such as smoking withdrawal clinics and auto emissions tests," Mrs. Grahame continued.

Christmas Seal funds are needed to continue programs for lung disease patients in Allegany-Garrett County. Ninety per cent of all Christmas Seal donations are used for these supportive programs in Maryland. Last year, Christmas Seal Campaign contributions in Maryland totaled $908,000.

The move to end sanctions against Cuba seems doomed.

Insurance FACTS

The replacement cost of a $20,000 home built in 1967 had escalated to $25,800 by 1972. If you had a large family and decided to buy a new five-bedroom $30,000 house in 1967, you would pay more than $38,000 to rebuild today. When you are considering your home insurance, remember that it makes no difference what equity you have in your home. To be fully protected, you must keep in your mind what it would cost you to rebuild your home from the bottom up at today's prices.

A TRIBUTE TO THE BIBLE

THIS BOOK REVEALS THE MIND OF GOD, THE ORIGINAL STATE OF MAN, THE WAY OF SALVATION, THE DOOM OF SINNERS!

God's Word is the traveller's map, the pilot's compass, the pilgrim's staff, the soldier's sword, the believer's log.

The Bible contains light to direct you, comfort to console you, food to sustain you, wisdom to teach you, fire to warm you.

Its Author is God. Its writers were men. It's infallibly inspired.

It's given you in life. Opened in judgment. And will endure forever. It's a mine of wealth. A river of pleasure. And a paradise of glory. God's glory is its end. The Lord Jesus Christ is its wonderful object, and our good its design.

Here Heaven opens. Paradise is restored. Hell's gates are disclosed. Its histories are true. Its doctrines are holy, and its precepts binding.

Read it thoughtfully. Read it frequently, and Read it prayerfully. Read it to be wise. Believe it to be safe. Practice it to be holy. Memorize it to grow.

It involves the highest responsibility. It will reward the greatest labor. It will condemn all who trifle with its sacred contents.

REMEMBER: THIS DEFINITION OF TRUE RELIGION' DOES YOURS MEASURE UP? At home it is kindness. In business it is honesty. In society it is courtesy. In work it is thoroughness. In play it is fairness. Toward the fortunate it is congratulations. Toward the weak it is help. Toward wickedness it is resistance. Toward the penitent it is forgiveness. Toward God it is reverence, love, and obedience. THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

SULKING PROPHET

Lesson for November 24, 1974

Background Scripture: Jonah 1 through 4.
Devotional Reading: Acts 17:24-31.

There are few more interesting nor more misunderstood stories in the Bible than the saga of Jonah.

Most people know his name and associate him with a rather incredible "fish story." Unfortunately, many never realize that there is a great deal more to Jonah and his story: a message that is relevant to us today.

Rev. Althouse

People think of Jonah as a reluctant prophet. They remember that when God called him to go and prophesy to Nineveh, he sought to run away from this challenge. Jonah learned, however, that no matter where we run to hide, God can and does find us there. At last, Jonah agreed to stop running and do what God wanted him to do.

"But it displeased Jonah . . ."

But when Jonah agreed to be God's prophet, that wasn't the end of the story. He had learned that one cannot escape God; now he was to learn a lesson about his fellow man.

The facts were these:

. . . At last, Jonah went and preached to Nineveh.

. . . Surprisingly, the people of Nineveh responded to Jonah's prophecy by repenting of their evil and being saved.

One would think that Jonah would be overjoyed with his success. But Jonah's reaction was anything but joy: "But it displeased Jonah exceedingly, and he was angry" (Jonah 4:1).

What displeased Jonah was that the people had repented and been saved. He had not wanted them to be saved. He felt they deserved to be punished. One of the reasons he had tried to escape from this responsibility is that he had been afraid that the people of Nineveh would repent and be spared.

The reason for this negative attitude was an overwhelming prejudice against the people of Nineveh. Jonah clearly despised these people and he wished for them only the very worst God could offer.

"Do you do well to be angry?"

Jonah is so angry that the people of Nineveh are going to be saved rather than condemned that he wants to die: "Therefore now, O Lord, take my life from me, I beseech thee, for it is better for me to die than to live" (4:3).

What he's saying should be fairly familiar to all of us. If I can't have it my way, I don't want to play! With this Jonah strides out of the city and finding a place to sit and watch the city of Nineveh, he waits to see if God will change his mind.

When God took away the shady plant from him, Jonah sulked even more until God points out to him that the people of Nineveh are worth far more than one little plant.

It seems such an easy lesson to grasp. Yet how many people fail to respond to their fellow man with compassion and like Jonah, the sulking prophet, would rather pronounce doom rather than pardon?

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind.

Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks;

Does the Civil Service still give the examinations for postal jobs?

No. The U.S. Postal Service has assumed responsibility for employment examinations for Postal Service job applicants as part of its new responsibilities under the Postal Reorganization Act.

How many U.S. troops are currently stationed in Europe?

According to the Defense Department, approximately 300,000 troops are stationed in Europe.

Where can I hunt black bear in Maryland?

Black bear has been categorized as an endangered species and as such is subject to a closed season.

What is the National Flood Insurance Program and what is it designed to do?

The program makes specified amounts of flood insurance, previously unavailable from private insurers, available under Federal auspices. In return for the provisions of subsidized insurance to existing properties, State and local governments are required to adopt and enforce land use and control measures that will guide land development in flood-prone areas in order to avoid or reduce future flood damage. Interested communities should write the Regional Office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Curtis Building, 6th and Walnut Streets, Philadelphia.

Can you send me a list of "endangered" wildlife species?

Your request can best fe fulfilled by ordering the Fish and Wildlife Services' "Threatened Wildlife in the United States." The 300-page book contains data pages on "endangered" species as well as those species that are believed to be in trouble, but not yet in danger of extinction. Brown Rice Is Nice For Stuffing

On Thanksgiving, Americans pause to consider their national traditions. One of these—so important to to America's success—has been a willingness to try the new without rejecting the old. This Thanksgiving, you can add a new touch to the old, traditional turkey dinner—and surprise your family—by serving stuffing made from brown rice.

With its nut-like flavor and slightly chewy texture, brown rice is sure to make your stuffing memorable. What's more, brown rice contains more nutrients than the regular milled white rice that most consumers buy.

The unique flavor, texture, and nutritional value of brown rice comes from the bran layer which give the rice its distinctive tan color. The bran layer—the rice kernel—is removed along with part of the germ of from white rice during milling. Because of this, white rice—even when enriched—does not have as much protein, calcium, phosphorons, potassium, niacin, and Vitamin E, as brown rice has.

Brown rice takes a little longer to cook than white rice. The longer cooking time means that more water will have to be used. During the cooking process, brown rice will absorb water and expand. When the outside bran coating "explodes," the bran adheres to the rice grain.

To cook brown rice properly, be sure to use the exact amount of water the package directions call for. Remember that any liquid drained off after cooking will contain valuable vitamins and minerals.

When selecting brown rice to use as stuffing, it's best to buy short or medium grain rice. Both short grain and medium grain rice cook moist and tender and the kernels cling together. Such properties are ideally suited for a stuffing. Long grain rice, on the other hand, cooks firm and dry; its kernels do not stick together.

A turkey may or may not be stuffed for roasting. The stuffing may be cooked separately in a casserole or suitable pan. For a change in your favorite bread stuffing, try one of the following ideas:

Add the cooked giblets, chopped

Use crumbled corn bread for half the bread.

Add ½ lb bulk pork sausage, crumbled and browned for each quart of bread stuffing. Omit salt.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Glenn Humberson who passed away on Friday, November 23, 1973.

Glenn, your life here on earth is past,
But our memories forever of you will last.
From early morning until late at night
Your blue eyes held a twinkle bright.
No matter where you went day by day,
You found friends all along the way.
You had a quiet voice and a cheerful smile,
Knowing you made every life worthwhile
It seems, Glenn, our life together had just begun
When a voice called ever so softly "Come."
Then you wandered away walking hand in hand,
Leaving us alone in this wearisome land.
We don't understand, but God knows what is best,
To help with His plan, He chose you from the rest.
Right now our lives are filled with sorrow,
But we'll meet you again some bright tomorrow.

Who Knows?

Who knows when the Oakland Chemical company was in operation in Oakland? In recent weeks several citizens have found in trash piles or in out of the way places, some apparently soft drink bottles, with that name on them.

Harold Harned, one of the old timers, never heard of the company, and thus far he hasn't been able to talk to any person who ever heard of it either. Anybody having information about such a company would provide pleasure for Mr. Harned and appease the curiosity of others who might wonder about it.

Nome, Alaska, was recently battered by wind and floods.

To Present Charter

A charter presentation for Boy Scout troop 99, will take place on Friday morning November 22, at the Green Street school for exceptional children, it was announced by Thomas Bittinger, the scoutmaster.

Get Our Bicentennial Going!

Now that elections are over, it is high time to get another of our many negected projects back in action, specifically, our nation's Bicentennial celebration.

For a large number of reasons Federal leadership in the Bicentennial planning has been sadly lacking. Some of the anti-Bicentennial attitude was clearly political; it was feared by some of Nixon's enemies that he might be favored by some of the Bicentennial glory in 1971. Had it not been for Watergate, this would have been near the end of what otherwise might have been a triumphant ending of two terms in office.

Other obstacles came from within the national Bicentennial commission itself, in the form of an "anti-capitalist mentality" which feared that private business might somehow reap financial profits from the birthday event. In the left-of-center circles in Washington, 'profit' is a dirty word. So, plans to include business firms were thrown out.

It is also clear that certain anti-patriotic, pro-left influences have been present in the Federal commission. When a Bicentennial headquarters was opened in our Nation's Capital, it was decorated with a mural which depicted Karl Marx, Commrade Mao and others of extreme radical vintage as heroes, while the President of the United States was caricatured as a gangster.

It is time to get such nonsense and foolishness behind us, and get down to work on meaningful programs to celebrate the birth of the United States of America. Congress has appropriated the funds to do the job. A great many important dates in our history leading up in the American Revolution have already missed receiving their Bicentennial recognition because of the inactivity of the Commission.

President Ford, himself, should now demand that the Commission produce results. Failing that, he should fire the lot of them and appoint a new Commission which will do so.

Meaningful Reform

At a time when the American people need to utilize every means to halt inflation, they are without one of the most vital anti-inflationary instruments, namely anti-trust authority over labor unions.

American industry has been subject to anti-trust law since 1890, but not unions, except in rare and special instances. Union have been exempt from the rules against monopolistic practices.

"The effect of this exemption," U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane pointed out recently, "has been to award to labor unions an all but unlimited right to restrain trade and commerce." He noted that a labor union "can fix prices by imposing uniform wages in the labor market through the compulsory union shop; and it can form conglomerates by unionizing workers in either related or unrelated occupations."

This exemption — this special privilege given to unions decades ago — is one of the principal causes of today's runaway inflation. "Through their enormous power" Congressman Crane said "unions are frequently able to force wage increases throughout an industry which are so large as to be economically unjustifiable."

Congressman Crane has done more than cite this situation or complain about it. He has introduced legislation in the House of Representatives — H.R. 16088 — which would place labor unions under the anti-trust laws. This parallels a Senate bill introduced last year by Sen. Strom Thurmond (R.-S.C.) and co-sponsored by five other senators.

The Crane bill would make unions subject to the same requirements as corporations. The legislation would not impair the rights of workers. It would simply insure that those rights are not abused in such a way as to establish monopolies and restrain trade.

If H.R. 16088 were the law of the land today, the American consumer would gain relief. Unfortunately, the union bosses are not prepared to give consumers relief or yield monopolistic powers built up over decades. A very large part of union chieftains' power is derived from their ability to restrain trade, fix wages, and, in effect, set prices in given industries.

In proposing enactment of his anti-inflation measure, Rep. Crane displays a profile of courage. His determination to grant the public relief from union monopolistic control makes Congressman Crane more than ever the target of the union monopolists and political barons.

Fortunately, Rep. Crane displays that independence which is characteristic of the statesman. He has demonstrated that he believes deeply in the principles of a free economy and a free society.

Moreover, Congressman Crane makes clear that real progress in the fight against inflation requires meaningful reform of the anti-trust laws so as to break up union monopolies which impose excessively high prices on the buying public.

Complete Chapel To Be Dedicated

Elder Marion D Hanks, Assistant to the Council of the Twelve Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will dedicate the recently constructed Chapel of the Deep Creek Branch of the Church, located at 1022 John Drive, Mt Lake Park, Sunday November 24, at 7:00 p.m. Elder Hanks world wide Church authority is from Salt Lake City, Utah. This is the first time that a General Anthority of the Church has ever participated in church services in Garrett County.

According to Charles C. Butler, President of the Deep Creek Branch, the building as constructed represents the first third of the building which will eventually be constructed on the 2.2 acres of land purchased by the Church for building purposes.

Mormon Elders first came into this area before the turn of the century and for many years Church membership met in homes of the members. For the past few years the Branch has held services in the Mt. Lake Park Tennis Club building in Mt. Lake Park.

The new Chapel was constructed by the Don Nine Construction Company of Oakland and local subcontractors. The Proctor Kildow Post 71 of the American Legion has presented the Deep Creek Branch with an American Flag and flagpole.

Cost of the building was set at $104,299, with local share being $20,850. Seating capacity is 92 with membership in the Deep Creek branch at present being 111.

Baucom To Spread Golf "Know How" On Russian Visit

Dr. Thomas V. Baucom, golf coach at Frostburg State college, left last Wednesday for New York where he joined other educators from throughout the country for a second trip to the Soviet Union in as many years.

While in Moscow he hopes to spread the 'gospel of golf according to St. Andrews.'

Dr. Baucom wrote to Vladimir I. Promisloff, mayor of Moscow, telling him of his involvement with golf for many years and telling him he would like to help promote golf while in Moscow by conducting a clinic or discussion. He never received a reply from the letter but he still plans to carry out his proposal.

Dr. Baucom is taking a putter, golf balls, magazines and other articles dealing with the sport. He will distribute wooden tees among those whom he will be contacting.

Dr. Baucom, Frostburg State country club in Durham, N.C.

At Frostburg State since the fall of 1956 he has been golf coach at three different times. Coaching was nothing new to Dr. Baucom. He coached boys' and girls' basketball at old Kitzmiller High school. He then coached at Old Oakland high school for five seasons after which he served as a civil service instructor in the air force in radio engineering for a year. He later went on active duty with the U.S. Navy in anti-submarine warfare, spending most of his 30 months in the Pacific. After World War II he returned to Kitzmiller as principal and coach. When the school was consolidated with Southern at a year, spending the last two months of the term as acting principal. He was principal at Denton in Caroline county for two years, after which he enrolled at Columbia to finish work on his doctorate. Next spring will be his last at Frostburg as coach. He plans to retire in August.

Dr. Baucom is traveling in a party under the general supervision of the Research Center for Socialist Education at Kent State university.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 98 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. NOVEMBER 28, 1971 | PER COPY 15c | NUMBER 39

Thanksgiving, 1971...

We offer thanks to God for many things, particularly in this year 1971. We thank Him for the fruits of the earth, for the labors of those who harvest them; for always being so loving and kind, for his forgiveness to all who do truly repent.

This Thanksgiving we can be grateful for the strength of our institutions, public and private, which have achieved so much in a few centuries and which have put a bright future for coming ecuturies within our grasp, if we do not forget our God.

With wars, we pray, behind us and with geographical frontiers having disappeared, we now search for solutions to economic difficulties which are very troublesome, but certainly not beyond overcoming them.

It is in the tradition of the Pilgrims that our nation has been built on the principles of individaal liberty and competitive enterprise. Our leaders, including the administration, the new Congress, and businessmen should be giving thanks to God for the wisdom of our forefathers which preserved these principles and gave us a sound basis for planning the future.

May we always remember to give thanks to the right source from whence cometh all things.

Garrett Gets $156,300 Sewer, Water Loan

FHA Grant To Extend Lines To Broadford Area

A Farmers Home Administration loan of $156,300 has been granted to Garrett County to extend water and sewer lines to the Broadford Elementary School, Southern Middle School and the Broadford recreation center.

Announcement of the 40-year loan, which will be made at a five percent interest rate, was made this week by U.S. Senators J. Glenn Beall, Jr. and Charles McC. Mathias, Jr.

The loan is being made to the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, which anticipated approval and has had engineering plans and bid specifications on the project drawn up. The project will now go out for bids and should get under construction in the spring.

Col. J. Haig Jackson, administrative engineer for the sanitary commission, said that the two new schools should be ready for classes next fall.

He also said that the recreation area has been completed and includes a water and sewage system, but that system cannot be used yet because the lines have not been extended and because the Mt. Lake Park-Loch Lynn intereceptor has not been put into operation.

The recreation area is on man-made Broadford Lake, a flood control project which will also be used as a water supply and

Blackleg Disease Claims Eight Cows From Local Herds

Eight cattle from several herds in the county have died as a result of a recent outbreak of Blackleg in the area, according to records at the Maryland Animal Health Laboratory, Oakland.

Other animals may have also been lost, but these are the only confirmed cases on record.

No new cases have been reported since the early part of November. Use of vaccine has been up, according to all three local pharmacies in town, all of which have adequate supplies of vaccine available. Cost of vaccination is 15 cents per animal.

The local veternarians also have been conducting vaccinations, and estimate about 75 percent of the beef herds to be inoculated. They also recommend a re-vaccinaton before animals are turned out on pasture in the spring.

All cattle used to be vaccinated against this spore-borne illness when herds were TB and Bangs tested annually but since these tests have not been required the vaccine program is no longer as fully carried out.

Farmers in the Friendsville, Accident, Grantsville and Red House areas suffered losses from the disease, which is caused by spores which can live in the soil for years. Blackleg-affected carcasses are the principal source of soil contamination, and such carcasses are to be burned or buried deep.

Hunters Ready For Annual Deer Season

Hundreds of hunters are preparing to enter the woods and fields Saturday morning for the first day of deer hunting season which will continue until the following Saturday. There will be no hunting on Sunday, December 1.

Deer were reported last week to be in exceptionally good condition. Successful hunters are limited to one male deer which must be reported at one of the county checking stations within 21 hours.

Checking stations this year are at Paul's Mt. Top Tire, Oakland; Johnny's Bait House, Deep Creek Lake; Walt's General Store, McHenry; Metz American Station, Grantsville; and Savage River Inn, Bloomington. Some bucks also are checked each year at the State police barracks at LaVale.

Bow season will continue through firearms season, and continue until January 1. Hunting hours are between one half hour before sunrise, until one half hour after sunset.

For the past several seasons the hunting pressure in Garrett county has not been so great, since deer are plentiful in many of Maryland's 23 counties, and also in neighboring counties of West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Women hunters are expected to be out in increasing numbers.

Almost six hundred bucks were killed during the seven-day season last, 586 to be exact. The figures compares to 609 in 1963, 577 in 1962 and 620 in 1961. The county's record kill was 801, reached during the 1960 season which was for a complete six day season.

Six years ago the season was set at seven days with the extra Saturday allowable following Thanksgiving, and this schedule has been repeated since that time.

67 Percent Voted

Sixty seven percent of the 10,097 registered voters in this county went to the polls in the recent election on November 5, Margaret DeWitt, registrar, has officially reported.

Of those who failed to designate party preference, 41 percent cast ballots or a total of 86, including six absentees. There are 197 "declines" on the county registration books, she reported.

Two Storms Hit Area In Week

Road Crews Get Season's First Real Workout

Two snow storms dumped several inches of the white stuff on the Mountain Top during the past week. The first was blizzard-like, being blown by strong winds last Thursday. Monday's storm was much less wind and a little more snow. Road crews got their first real workouts for the season in both storms. Schools were dismissed early last Thursday.

The county's first big snow and wind storm of the season occurred during the early hours of last Thursday with high winds and light snow at the beginning, becoming heavier during the day. Road crews were out before dawn clearing and sanding roads. School let out early Thursday.

Travelers advisory was posted early Thursday morning. When the snow got heavier by afternoon, schools were dismissed at 2:30, but were open as usual Friday. The light snow which began late Wednesday night, became heavy Thursday and tapered off to flurries late that night. By Friday four inches had fallen. Temperatures remained in the 20s and low 30s through Friday.

Some SHA crews were out by 11 p.m. Wednesday when roads became snow covered. Before dawn Thursday, State and county roads crews were out in full force and remained so until mid-afternoon Friday at which time all roads reported bare. The snow emergency plan was put into effect early Thursday and lifted 9 a.m. Friday.

A second snow storm of the past week blanketed the Mountain Top with five inches of new snow Monday with continuing flurries through Tuesday. The snow emergency plan went into effect 7 p.m. Monday when the roads became snow covered. Winds were mostly light except becoming somewhat blustery for a time Monday night and then calming down. The absence of high winds helped to reduce drifting. Temperatures were in

ASC Committee Election Details Are Available

Full details are available to Garrett County farmers on the upcoming election of ASC committeemen, says Darrell Martin, Chairman of the Garrett County Agricultural Stablization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

ASC committeemen elections this year will be held December 2. The ballots farmers will use to elect one regular member and two alternates to ASC committees were mailed out November 22. A special effort will be made to make sure every eligible voter in the County received a ballot.

Farmers, are asked to "voice their choice" for good committeemen who will effectively serve all the farmers in their community. For more than 35 years the farmer-elected ASC committee system has functioned under democratic principles. These committees are comprised of, function for, and are run by farmers who live and work in the area.

ASC committeemen help run ASCS farm programs. Locally, these programs include the Feed Grain, Wheat, Cropland Aujustment and Rural Environmental Conservation Program.

Farmers with questions on their eligibility or about the election procedure should check at the local County ASCS Office.

P.E. Asks Rate increase Of $11.9 Million

The Potomac Edison Company has asked the Maryland Public Service Commission to approve an emergency rate increase, pending the final outcome of proceedings on the October 1 request for an $11.9 million increase.

In an application filed with the PSC today (Friday), PE requested that $6.8 million of that amount — approxmately 12½ percent — be granted on a temporary basis "not later than early in December."

The Public Service Commission has suspended the effective date of the October 1 request pending formal hearings, which could run through next February or March before a final decision.

John M. McCardell, PE's executive vice president and general manager, said the temporary increase is essential if the company is to be able to finance its planned construction program.

The utility's application to the Commission states that, due to various legal restrictions, PE is presently unable to issue mortgage bonds and is nearing the maximum amount it can legally hold in short-term borrowings.

McCardell said that, in order to carry out the necessary construction to provide customer service, PE must be able to accomplish long-term financing, and that earnings must improve before that becomes legally possible.

Friday's application requests a billing surcharge of 12.68% on all existing rates to PE customers in Maryland.

Approve Design Of Northern Middle School

Plans To Be Presented To Interagency Committee On School Construction

The Garrett County Board of Education, after discussing the design for the Northern Middle School at the November 21 board meeting, approved the plans for presentation to the interagency Committee on School Construction, it was announced by Dr. William Buser, superintendent. The board re-affirmed their desire to use heavier gauge steel for the roof than that recommended by the Interagency. They also discussed utilizing electric heat as recommended by the State Interagency.

The basic design of the new Northern Middle School was approved by the Educational Design and Building Specifications Committee of the Board of Education, chaired by Albert R. Ringer, Director of Curriculum and Instruction. Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Director of Administrative Services, works closely with the architects and the Interagency Committee on School Construction to insure that the buildings are designed to meet the educational specifications as planned by the County Board.

In other business, the Board of Education approved the audit for FY 1974 as developed by George McLaughlin and the financial report as developed by Mrs. Mary Grace Umstot. A complete copy of the financial report will be published in THE REPUBLICAN in a later issue.

The Board of Education eliminated some of the local bus specifications that have been required by the Garrett County Board of Education. It was felt by William Watson, Supervisor of Transportation, with Board member agreement, that the elimination of these items would not appreciably reduce the safety of buses and it may enable the local contractors to purchase new buses at slightly reduced prices.

The Board officially accepted the retirements of Mrs. Mary Grace Umstot, Financial Secretary, effective December 1; Foster A. Riggs, Principal of Loch Lynn School, effective December 1, and the resignation of Mrs. Mary Metzger, Accident School grade 2, effective January 1.

Student Rights and Responsibilities

A working copy of a preliminary document of student rights and responsibilities was presented to the Garrett County Board of Education by E. Lloyd Robertson, Supervisor of Pupil Services, at their meeting Thursday, November 21. Mr. Robertson reviewed for the Board the procedures used for involving students, parents, teachers, and administrators in developing this document. The Board of Education and the committee will further review the contents and it is expected that the Board will act to approve the document at their regular meeting on December 12, 1974, Dr. Buser said.

In other action, the Board also approved the use of a drug-alcohol abuse survey to be conducted by the Maryland Drug Abuse Administration in the tenth grade in the high schools in the county. All tenth grade students are being encouraged to participate in this survey. No student will be required to sign the questionnaire, but if a student or family should find the survey objectionable, the student may be excused from participation. The survey was approved by the Maryland Superintendents' Program Committee.

Dr. Buser reported that the State Board would hear oral argument in the Nolf vs. Garrett County Board of Education case at 10:00 on Wednesday, November 27, at the State Office Building. The contract of Mrs. Barbara Nolf had been terminated by the local Board and their decision was appealed to the Maryland State Board of Education.

Commissioners-Elect Confer On County Business

In a two-day long session early this week Commissioner-elect Don S. Bender and George Edwards met with county agency and department heads in a local government orientation effort. The newly-elected Commissioners received their orientation prior to taking office which is expected shortly. Department heads answered questions concerning their departments and expressed full cooperation to the new board. Wayne Hamilton, Chairman of the County Commissioners, cited this orientation as a "must" so the men who will be running the courts will have as much information at their disposal as possible in order to make valid decisions which affect the county as a whole.

The Commissioners signed a lease agreement between Garrett County and the state Department of Transportation for the loan of two buses until the new buses are purchased. Bids for the new buses will be opened Dec. 9th in Baltimore. Rental for the loan of the two temporary buses will be $20.00 a piece per month. The county will assume operational costs until the system starts to realize a profit.

The Commissioners, sitting as the Health Board, discussed the alcoholism proposal with James Stanton, Director of Alcoholism Services, in the county. They also agreed to obtain malpractice insurance for Health Department personnel.

Chairman of the Roads Board, Earl F. Opel, called a Roads Board meeting for Tuesday to take action on problems in that department. Mr. Opel has served as chairman of the Roads Board for the past three years. The newly elected Commissioners also sat in on this meeting. They also met on Tuesday with the Planning Director, W. Marshall Rickert; Colonel J. Haig Jackson, Director of the Development Corporation; Tom Jones, Assistant Director and Gary Mulloch, Director of the Garrett Bus System.

The Commissioners are notifying all county agencies to watch current expenditures so that budget requests for FY '76 will not take a drastic jump. The impact of nation-wide inflation was cited as the reason for cautioning agencies about their present expenditures.

Garrett Gets

for recreation.

Facilities at the recreation project include a swimming area, bathhouse, boat launching ramp, and a picnic area with about 200 tables.

Water in the lake comes from the watershed which starts at the southern border of Deep Creek Lake and includes runoff from the Deer Park and Oakland areas.

The new water lines to be built with the FHA grant will serve the Broadford road area as well as the schools and recreation area, and will tie in with the new Oakland-Broadford Run water line.

The Mt. Lake-Loch Lynn interceptor system has been a chronic problem for the county ever since the contractor walked off the job more than a year ago, alledging he did not receive payment for some of the work done it was declared.

Following that, the county commissioners hired Col. Jackson to assess the situation and recently a survey was completed to determine what corrections must be made to get the interceptor system into operation. The main problem had been intrusion of ground water, leaking through the pipe which has already been backfilled.

One of the first things done, according to Col. Jackson, was to conduct an inspection of the system's lines via a television camera placed on a sled and routed through the system. A machine first cleansed the lines of silt.

However, the black plastic pipe absorbed so much of the light that only an indistinct image could be obtained.

Next the sanitary commission hired a man to crawl through the approximately two miles of lines to make an inspection of the system and note problems on each section of pipe.

It was found during his inspection that from the B & O Railroad north all manholes are deficient, and that the section between manhole 9 and 10 will have to be relaid. The line from the B & O south to the treatment plant is all right, however.

It is anticipated that the problems can be corrected and the interceptor system put in operation by next July 1, which would be in time to tie in with the new Broadford water and sewer lines.

Youth Counsel

Miss Shuttleworth has completed Phase I and II of the state drug abuse training program, and is working toward an A.A. degree.

Funded by the State Drug Abuse administration with the Garrett County Health Department division of Mental Health the center offers a place to talk to someone about family relationships, drugs, sex, alcohol, school, emotional problems and other concerns.

The center is open five days a week, Monday noon to 5 p.m.; Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Friday, 9 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.

A strong confidentiality law prevents the counselors or consultants from disclosing to anyone what they have been told by young people at the center.

In addition to those who walk in, young people, pre-adolescent to young adults, are also seen by appointment or are referred from schools.

Those who use the center will appreciate the carpeting, bean bag chairs, rock music, and other youth-oriented accoutrements. The building was remodeled to suit the new occupants by owner Ed Bowser.

According to Mr. Ward, the young people themselves will define the atmosphere and the directions the programs will take.

In addition to counseling the center will offer referrals to health, legal, psychiatric, and other community services; an activities group which will plan recreation; emergency help such as for runaways, regular meetings with counselors to work on specific problems; drug education and family counseling.

Additional centers will be opening soon in Grantsville, Friendsville and Bloomington as additional members of the county staff are added.

Many states now offer such walk-in counseling so that a network between centers has been set up, and parents of runaway children can be notified that their children are all right.

The center, which previously offered counseling by appointment in the Gregg building, is also concerned with parent involvement, and is available to answer questions and provide information on drug and other problems.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir;

Would some one please explain to me why the commissioners appointed a county surveyor? If they are doing their duty by the constitution, why did they wait until November when the vacancy occurred in July? When the majority voted to abolish the position of county surveyor, why do we now have one?

Very truly yours,
(Miss) Jeanne Frantz

Two Storms Hit

the mid-teens Tuesday.

A SHA spokesman said six crews worked all Monday night sanding and plowing roads, with crews changing at midnight. At 8 a.m. Tuesday all roads were still covered but schools were in session as usual.

According to a County Roads spokesman, 32 pieces of equipment worked through Monday night into Tuesday, as all roads were slick. The equipment included snow plows and cinder spreaders.

The snow so far this month adds up to about 14.1 inches or just about double the normal for November.

By Tuesday afternoon according to the SHA, all roads were bare except for a few damp spots. All crews were in and the snow emergency plan was lifted at 1:30 p.m. No difficulties were encountered. According to Co. Roads Department most roads were bare except in shady spots and these were cindered. There were no problems.

The storms were the result of cold fronts passing through. In winter these systems move in quick succession which accounts for one storm coming soon after another.

There were two mostly clear and mild days between the storms. Saturday and Sunday. Skies were partly cloudy Tuesday afternoon with an occasional snow flurry. By evening there were high scattered clouds.

Precipitation amounted to .89 inch, mostly from the 8.5 inches of snow. Some fell as rain Friday and before dawn Monday.

Temperatures averaged two degrees below the normal. High averaged 48 degrees with the highest being 62 Sunday but no higher than the upper 20's Tuesday. Lows averaged 26.1 degrees with the lowest being Wednesday at two degrees above zero. Unofficial reports included one below zero. Other lows were 11 degrees Saturday and 16, Tuesday.

State Is Seen Allowing Yough Strip Mining

The state of Maryland probably will allow strip mining in the vicinity of the Youghiogheny river in this county, because the land appears to be outside the scenic river zone, the Department of Natural Resources announced last Thursday.

William A. Jabine, spokesman for the department, said Natural Resources Secretary James Coulter, would delay a final decision for at least a week. He said the secretary wants to consult with Pennsylvania authorities and wants the department to double check the application to make certain the mining won't get into the scenic river area.

Coulter said recently that it appeared parts of the area set aside to be preserved as a wilderness area would be included in the area to be mined and that he probably would reject the application.

Jabine said a close check of the maps and the application from Hopwood Strip Mine, Inc., showed however, that the area targeted for mining is outside the state preserve. But he said Coulter is having everything rechecked to make sure there is no error.

Jabine said if the permit is granted, the company will have to mine under the restrictions suggested by the state land reclamation committee.

One of those will permit the company to expose only five to ten acres of land at a time. It will have to refill and replant that acreage before stripping other areas.

Hopwood also would have to include hardwood timber when it replants the mined area and would have to install larger sediments traps to keep soil dislodged by the mining from being washed into the river.

Jabine said Coulter is consulting with Pennsylvania authorities because the state lies downstream from the portion of the Youghiogheny corridor where the mining would take place. The 35-mile Youghiogheny river corridor has been designed as a scenic river by the state, protecting it from development.

Hopwood wants to take an estimated 260,000 tons of coal from a 56-acre seam believed to be about 60 feet underground.

Three other coal companies also are considering applications in the area which could cover up to 23,000 acres of land.

28 Persons Killed On State Highways

Twenty-eight persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways last week, according to the weekly news release compiled by 1st Sgt. James Harvey of Maryland State Police. Of those killed fourteen were drivers, seven were passengers and seven were pedestrians. At least eight of those deaths could possibly have been prevented had seat belts been in use.

Alcohol was a known contributing factor in four of the deaths, speed in twenty-one and "driver error" in twenty-two.

Persons killed through November 21 totaled 625 compared to 744 for the same period a year ago.

Protective Corridor Planned for Yough

Maryland will set up a protective corridor along the borders of the Youghiogheny river, according to James R. Coulter, Natural Resources secretary.

The borders will enable the state to legally block strip mining along the scenic river's banks and control other environmentally dangerous activities in the river basin

In essence, according to Coulter, the border will put teeth in the state's 1969 scenic rivers law The law had questionable value as a legal tool to protect the river because the state never has established official boundaries, Coulter said.

Coulter also said the borders will be established by departmental regulation as soon as the final staff recommendations are made to him.

The secretary said two sets of borders are to be established, one which will ban all strip mining along the river's banks and another to ban development in areas not visible from the river

Natural resources field workers currently surveying the river are verifying federally proposed scenic borders for the river which will serve as a basis for the state boundaries.

The Youghiogheny river became an issue earlier this year when four coal companies filed applications for various state permits to strip mine land along the river.

Costs Should Be Measured

The U.S. has sent $200 billion in aid and credits to 138 foreign countries since the end of World War II, according to the Senate Committee on the Budget. That amounts to over 40 percent of the $474 billion national debt that hangs like a millstone around our national neck. It is estimated that 1974 will see some $11 billion more go to the cause of foreign aid.

The problem is that much of the assistance given to other nations shows up in sections of the federal budget other than that designated as foreign aid. As a result, Congress can never consider total appropriations being made and balance expected benefits against total costs. Some of the items that are quite plainly foreign aid appear instead in Defense Department budget requests, in Department of Health, Education and Welfare spending, in the Department of Agriculture budget, State Department funds and any number of other places. A final accounting of all foreign aid spending is given to Congress several months after it is too late to do anything about it and long after many appropriations for the following year have already been considered.

The United States must continue a reasonable level of aid to other nations. But, unless the American people enjoy paying $6,000 for a compact car and $3 a pound for steak, they should demand that the costs of federal programs, of which foreign aid is only one example, should be clearly defined and measured against their benefits.

Curbing The EPA

Should a federal agency have the authority to force commuters into car pools? Should Big Government be permitted to require municipalities to reduce parking available to motorists? To both these questions, the House Appropriations Committee says "No."

The committee and its chairman, Rep. Jamie L. Whitten (D-Miss.), deserve the thanks not only of commuters but to all citizens concerned about individual rights and local authority.

What the House Appropriations Committee has done, in precise terms, is approve a bill that states that "no part of any funds appropriated under his act (fiscal 1975 appropriation) may be used by the Environmental Protection Agency to administer any program to tax, limit or otherwise regulate parking facilities."

It is no exaggeration to say that the EPA is power mad. In Houston, Texas, and elsewhere it has endeavored to force commuters to join in car pools or ride the bus instead of driving their own vehicles.

An elaborate system of fines has been devised by EPA for those who don't do what Big Brother wants. The agency's stated goal is a reduction of air pollution. But even if the agency's goal makes sense during the number of automobiles on highways, the methods employed to attain that goal smack of a totalitarian regime. An American has the right to choose the form of transportation he prefers. He is under no obligation to join a car pool simply because Washington bureaucrats decide that's the thing for him to do.

Moreover, if parking is to be reduced in a community, the only level of government with a right to do that is local government.

When the Congress passed the law establishing the Environmental protection Agency, it certainly didn't have any intention of giving the EPA authority to determine how many cars could park on Main Street, USA. Such matters are properly determined by city officials, not federal employes half a continent away.

Let's hope that the bill approved by the House Appropriations Committee will get wide public attention and approval and that it will become law. It is time to curb EPA's appetite for power.

U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane (R-Ill.) commented on this in a recent speech. "Congress," he said, "has given governmental agencies broad grants of authority, grants which have often been used in an autocratic and arbitrary manner."

He observed that "in creating the Environmental Protection Agency, Congress has once acted in this manner, abdicating its own authority to non-elected bureaucrats. The results, which we are only now beginning to understand, have been disastrous."

In part, the problem lies with the readiness of Congress to allow federal agencies to make rules to carry out the congressional mandate. This rule-making power is cruelly abused by many agencies. The agencies go far beyond the letter of the law or the intent of Congress.

The Environmental Protection Agency is a prime offender in this regard. For example, though Congress decided against a federal land use control law last summer, the EPA has been laying down rules on so-called "indirect source emissions" that will apply to construction projects after Jan. 1, 1975.

U.S. Rep. Robert Casey (D-Texas) has said that when one looks at the EPA's definition of "indirect source emission," one finds that the agency is really talking about land controls. So it goes.

What is involved here is more than a free-wheeling federal agency. The EPA's edicts are incompatible with our democratic system. Thus it is imperative that Congress strip EPA of the rulemaking power which it has abused.

The Danger Has Increased

Recently, a reporter from the Memphis Commercial Appeal asked Dr. Fred Schwartz, noted author and lecturer on the subject of Communism, "Is the situation in the U.S.A. better or worse than when you commenced the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade in 1953?"

Without hesitation Dr. Schwartz replied "Much worse."

"In what way?" asked the reporter.

Dr. Schwartz replied:

"In 1953 the USA was the strongest military power in the world. Now, most authorities agree that the Soviet Union has surpassed this country in military might.

"In 1953 communism had conquered no country in the western hemisphere. Today a brutal communist dictatorship oppresses the Cuban people.

"In 1953 people could walk the streets of most cities without fear. Today most people are reluctant to do this.

"In 1953 sexual license was not taught in schools in the guise of 'sex education'; hard core pornography was not presented in theatres, movie houses and bookstores on Main Street, and the slaughter of the unborn was not a flourishing legal business.

"In 1953 the economy was not threatened by a raging and uncontrolled inflation."

Dr. Schwartz explained that while these conditions might appear irrelevant to the problem of communism, they are, in fact, intimately involved in the communist strategy of conquest. That strategy can be expressed by the formula: "External encirclement plus internal demoralization, leading to progressive surrender."

One does not have to look very far to find evidence of the three elements of communist conquest. Is this cause for the loss of hope? Is not a time for despair," he said. "A new generation has become aware of the failure of national policies and the growing communist danger, and these young people are ripe for instruction and recruitment."

Dr. Schwartz thinks not. "This

Realism On Food Cuts

The World Food Conference in Rome, like many other United Nations gatherings, turned into a hate America session.

Delegates from communist and so-called non-aligned nations charged that "imperialists" were responsible for the food shortages in the Southern Hemisphere. They demanded that Americans eat less and give away more.

It is amazing that those nations which want the United States to feed them also are determined to abuse the American people and attribute to them the worst of motives.

In any case, however, the American people aren't about to accept reduced diets or support new, massive giveaways of food to Third World nations. Indeed none of the advanced nations of the Northern Hemisphere are likely to introduce austerity measures in order to provide the food sought by India and other food-deficient countries.

For an entire generation, Americans have been shipping food to India and elsewhere. They have lavished billions of dollars on food giveaways without receiving any thanks in return. By and large, the American people are very tired of all types of foreign aid.

Today, the United States faces severe economic difficulty at home. The nation can't afford to be as generous as it was in the past. The United States needs to expand food production in order to lower food prices for the American people.

Where possible, the U.S needs to sell foodstuffs overseas in order to redress the balance of payments which worsens each month because of the outflow of dollars for foreign oil.

Each country will have to solve its food problems. To be sure, the problems facing some countries are horrendous. But, in many cases, the suffering nations have brought on their troubles. India experimented with socialism and weakened its private sector, including its farmers. It has wasted money on creating a nuclear capability.

Beyond that, many of the countries now short of food are incompetent nations. To use a fashionable word, they aren't "viable" countries. They lack the leadership, resources, educational elites and the capitalist economic structures necessary for effective production of food and long-term national existence.

The United States cannot save all the inadequate nations of the world from their inadequacies or follies. The United States is not under any moral obligation to feed the entire world. In any case, that would be an impossible task. The responsibility of America's leadership is to America's people.

Indeed we are in a period when our government must stress economic nationalism. We need to maximize all our advantages, including sale of our foodstuffs. Dependent nations must look to their own resources and attempt to curb their extravagant population growth. Our government, for its part, should be more candid in stating the concerns of the American people. It should not urge establishment of international food reserves, as though food were an international resource. It should discourage talk of world food redistribution, for our people won't support such measures.

The food crisis will worsen in many nations which can't carry out their basic responsibility for feeding their people. Unfortunately, the American people will be subjected to emotion-laden appeals and to threats of Third World retaliation against the U. S. if it doesn't "come across" with more food giveaways.

The U. S. must not cease all charity but it will have to become very firm in dealing with the appeals and threats.

France's Food Minister, Christian Bonnet, has rightly described the proposed food cuts for affluent nations as "intellectually seductive, but totally impractical." The same view should be expressed in Washington.

Southern Rescue Squad Responds To Four Calls

Southern Rescue Squad was called out on four requests during the past week, two to motor vehicle accidents, one to a fall in a home, and one a transfer call.

Janet Cooper, 17, of Route 1, Gormania, was treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and released after her car swerved off Route 38 one-half mile north of Route 135, and overturned Saturday evening about 8 p. m.

The car landed right side up in a field.

Miss Cooper suffered lacerations to her left hand, according to the rescue squad report.

Saturday morning, about 10:10, the squad took Jessie Frazee, 81, of High Street, Oakland, to the hospital after she suffered a hip injury in a fall. She was released from the hospital Tuesday evening.

Forrest Kyle, Route 1, Tunnelton, was the operator of one of two cars which collided headon on Route 219 Monday evening near the Silver Knob block plant.

He was taken to the hospital by members of the rescue squad, while the other driver, Neil Sheehan of Washington, D C and Red House, was taken to the hospital by a passer-by. Mr. Sheehan sustained a broken right upper arm and broken left wrist, and remains a patient at the hospital in Oakland.

The squad members also traveled to Baltimore last Friday to transfer Richard Bisholl to Johns Hopkins Hospital from Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

PILGRIMS AND INDIANS sat together in friendly fashion in Miss Jan Cozad's kindergarten room at Oak Street School Tuesday as the group concluded its month-long pre-Thanksgiving study of holiday tradition. Each child made his costume of paper and a necklace of colored macaroni. Mrs. Alana Winters is the aide in Miss Cozad's room, and Mrs. John Harvey and Mrs. Ralph Arnott were also assisting Tuesday. The group made cornbread and cranberry sauce for a pre-Thanksgiving treat. All eight rooms in the Oak Street School have been conducting similar programs this week, as the children get their first formal Thanksgiving learning experience.

side the Crosco vehicle the fleeing driver swerved to the left, forcing the police car off the road onto the soft shoulder. The police car spun around before the driver could regain control and continue the chase. Tpr. Hannant recalls his speedometer read 100 mph at the time he pulled even with the Crosco car.

A car operated by the Preston county sheriff, traveling in the opposite direction on Route 72, was run off the road, as was a state police car about one mile further along the road.

Kingwood town police had erected a road block at Caddell Bridge, and there the Crosco brothers were stopped, taken into custody and hauled off to the Preston county jail in Kingwood.

Charges in West Virginia against the two include intoxication in public having uncased firearms in a vehicle after dark, interfering with a police officer in performance of his duties, and attempting to elude a police officer, in addition to numerous motor vehicle violations.

In Maryland the driver is being charged with fleeing or attempting to elude a police officer, specifically reckless driving, failure to drive on the right side of the road, and other charges.

Clarence E. Crosco was sentenced to ten days in the Kingwood jail and fined $55.50 by a Kingwood magistrate Monday for having an uncased gun in his vehicle. Robert Crosco is being held in the jail in lieu of $1,000 bond on the charges against him, and was fined $75.50 by the Magistrate.

The other man involved in the fight was not identified. He reportedly later went to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of his injuries, but has not filed any charges against the Crosco men.

The Preston County Retired Teachers met last Saturday for a dinner in the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building.

A meeting was held Wednesday evening at Wilson's Brookside Auction house for citizens against the school bond. Harry Slawter and Bob Cline were the principal speakers.

Insurance premiums represent one of the major costs of owning and operating a car. Before you can shop sensibly for insurance you must decide exactly what kinds of coverage you need and want of each kind. Automobile insurance is complicated. The typical policy is in reality a combination of a number of different financial components. Most of these pay for damage to the policyholder's car or for medical bills incurred by the holder and his passengers in case of an accident.

Call us for information at GONDER INSURANCE AGLNCY, 203-205 S. 2nd Street, 334-3343. Bittinger Family History Compiled By Wayne Bittinger

The result of eleven years of painstaking work for a Baltimore man was realized last week, when Wayne Bittinger received the copies of his book, "Generations," a history of the Bittinger families in this county.

Mr. Bittinger, now 26, began working on the book when he was 15, taking stories from older family members, census records, church and cemetery records, published and unpublished records of other families, court house records, and "The Republican."

In addition to naming all the ancestors and descendants of Henry Bittinger, the author included stories of interest about family members.

The Bittinger name means cooper, or maker of vats, barrels and wooden vessels.

A huge collection of photographs has been included in the book, interspersed with family charts.

Mr. Bittinger, who is working as a nursing assistant at the University Hospital, Baltimore, is a county native, although he was reared in Baltimore. He has a Bachelor of Arts degree in anthropology from the University of Maryland.

For those who are interested in obtaining a copy of the book, Mr. Bittinger can be contacted at 322 Worton Road, Baltimore 21221. Cost of the book is $7 per copy.

Printing was done by McClain Printing, Parsons, W. Va.

Now that his labor of love for the Bittinger family is completed, Wayne plans to compile a collection of county folklore.

Miracle Bell Is Being Featured In Baltimore Church

Trinity Temple, a church on Essex avenue in Baltimore, is featuring a miracle bell, which has a local history, and which was contributed to the church by Thomas Kelly Vance, a Mt. Lake Park resident.

The bell was molded by the Henry McShane Bell Foundry of Baltimore and erected in a Methodist church in Bayard, West Virginia in 1898 where it rang until recently when the church was abandoned.

Mr. Vance bought the church building after learning that Trinity Temple was searching for a bell for its soon to be erected steeple and donated this bell so that once again it might ring out its call to worship.

A letter of appreciation from the pastor of the church, Rev. James H. Lane, stated that he went to the McShane foundry and received the history of the bell. In 1898 the Bayard Methodist church paid $81. for the bell. Today Rev. McShane said the bell would cost $2,100.

The church already has had a bell ringing Sunday where many people had the opportunity of ringing the bell. Now it is ringing each Sunday to ring out an invitation for people to attend services and to worship the Lord, according to a story appearing recently in The Sun newspaper.

Quail Productivity Study Being Made

Quail hunters are urged to cooperate again this season in the Wildlife Administration's Quail Productivity Study.

The wing survey, now in its third year, needs to be expanded, Joshua L. Sandt, Upland Program Director, says the wing survey is an important part of Maryland's Quail Management Program. The aging of quail wings helps to determine the adult-juvenile ratio among the State's bobwhite population, an important factor in allowing biologists to assess the condition of that population.

Other information relied upon to help determine the condition of Maryland's quail population are the call counts in the spring and early summer, rainfall and temperature studies during the nesting season and brood observations throughout the summer.

The wing survey is one phase of the study where the hunter's help is vital, however. This year envelopes will be sent to all of those who participated in last season's survey and anyone who wishes to cooperate in the survey this year. Interested persons may write to the Wildlife Administration, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, attention Joshua L. Sandt.

Storm-Related Accidents Noted

Several accidents the latter part of last week were directly or indirectly due to road conditions caused by the snow storm. Two persons sustained apparent slight injuries.

Michael White Crellin, a passenger in a car driven by Bradley A. Reams RD 1, Oakland, was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Reams was driving south on U.S. Route 219 at the Deep Creek bridge about 1:40 a.m. Saturday and his view was obstructed by a frosted windshield. The vehicle ran off the snowcovered shoulder, struck a guardrail and then hit a power pole.

The injured was taken to the hospital by Tfc. L. R. Rosage who investigated and who also charged Reams with having an obstructed windshield.

Another person was slightly injured in a one-car mishap in Grantsville Friday evening.

Edward M. Carroll, Sissonville, W. Va., in a truck was traveling east on U.S. Route 40 when an unidentified vehicle passed him and cut back so as to crowd him to the shoulder. The rear section of Carroll's truck struck a low-hanging tree limb. Trooper G. A. Berkebile made no charges.

Another mishap occurred on a bank parking lot in Grantsville about a hour and a half later.

The car of Mary M. Warnick, Grantsville, was parked on a bank parking lot. Thomas A. Freese, Meyersdale, Pa., came around a corner of the bank and was unable to stop due to an icy condition and struck the Warniek car causing minor damage. Trooper Berkebile investigated.

Bessie I. Browning, Star Route 1, Oakland, traveling north on U.S. Route 219 near Bumble Bee road last Thursday about 11 a.m., started to slide on the snow-covered road. The car went to the left shoulder and struck the guard rail. Tpr. C. H. Hinnant charged her with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

A snowplow struck a parked car in Grantsville last Thursday just past noon.

The car of Majorie Kay Meese, Frostburg, was parked headed east on the left side of Route 40 about two feet from the curb. Ervin G. Georg, Accident, was operating the SHA snow plow westbound and due to other traffic eastbound on Route 40, had to keep far right. Georg misjudged the width of the plow blade and struck the Meese car. Trooper R. C. Georg made no charges.

David S. Miller RD 1, Accident, was rounding a sharp right curve on the Accident Bittinger road at Flat street in Accident last Thursday morning due to the snow on the road, the front wheels, crossed the center of the road and struck a truck driven by Glenn C. Kolbfleisch, also of RD 1, Accident. Trooper Georg made no charges.

Area people helping to organize and maintain Troop 99 at Green Street School are, left to right, Mrs. Vera Graham, teacher, Rev. Donald Thomas, Randall Kahl, Tom Bittinger, Mrs. Regina Stork, principal at Green Street, Alex McPheeters, field executive for Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America; Lana McLaughlin, teacher, Mahlon Yost, Legionnaire, Mrs. Judy Thomas, teacher, Playford Ryan, Legionnaire; Fran Clark, Rev. Richard Seaks, and Pat Fischetti, chairman of Deep Creek District, Potomac Council. Teachers at the school serve as den mothers for the boys.

Troop 99, B. S. A. Chartered Friday

The proudest boys in Garrett County, maybe in the whole country, were to be found in Green Street School for the retarded and handicapped last Friday, November 22, when Troop 99 received its charter from the Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The troop, which is comprised of 15 boys from the school, was formed a year ago under the sponsorship of Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, Oakland.

Prime movers in the organization of Troop 99 have been Tom Bittinger, scoutmaster and Legion Post service officer; Mahlon Yost, Playford Ryan, Bill Goldsborough, and Randall Kahl, commander of Post 71.

Proctor Kildow Post 71 is the only American Legion group in the world sponsoring such a Boy Scout troop.

Pat Fischetti, chairman of the Deep Creek District, Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, presented the charter to Commander Kahl at ceremonies held in Green Street School Friday at 10 a. m.

Others present included Mr. Ryan, Mr. Yost Alex McPheeters, Potomac Council field executive, and Rev. Richard Seaks, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, who gave the benediction.

Teachers at the school serving as den mothers for the wolf, bear, deer and bobcat dens are Mrs. Vera Graham, Miss Lana McLaughlin, Mrs. Judith Thomas and Mrs. Regina Stork. Each den performed a short skit following the charter presentation.

Scoutmaster Bittinger presented each boy with a Bobcat badge which was fastened to his uniform by a member of his family or a friend of the troop.

Girls at the school have been organized into a Busy Bees group, in charge of Mrs. Barbara Weaver. They assist the scouts where possible, and served refreshments following the ceremonies Friday.

During the past year, the Scouts have participated in several activities besides their monthly meetings. Several attended the Potomac Council fall Camporee, and all the group enjoyed a trip to the Pittsburgh zoo, a picnic at Herrington Manor, and kite flying.

The Junior Woman's Civic Club has been assisting the school as a project for several years, and donated $150 for troop needs. Private individuals in the local area have also contributed toward uniform costs and other expenses.

Parents, friends and guests were invited to attend the charter presentation. Among these were Rev. Donald Thomas, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House; Mrs. Pat Stemple, president of the Junior Woman's Civic Club; Mrs. Vicki Evans, Mrs. Dorothea Bittinger and Miss Fran Clark, JWCC members.

Troop 99, with scoutmaster Tom Bittinger at right, as they appeared Friday, November 22, following the charter presentation at Green Street School. Many parents and friends of the troop were present for the charter ceremonies and to see each den perform a skit and receive their Bobcat badges.

TIME TO LIME

This is the time of year for you to be thinking about liming your fields . . . by applying mag lime now, your soil will be neutralized by spring and ready to go to work. Soil in this area has a high acid content, and it's necessary to apply mag lime to reduce this excess acidity . . in addition by using the proper amount of lime you save money . . . by using less fertilizer.

Let ROBERT H. MILLER TRUCKING spread your fields with lime this fall, when fields are solid enough . . . and when the trucks aren't nearly as busy as they will be next spring . . . so don't wait until the last minute . . . you can arrange to have Robert Miller spread your fields with lime by contacting your local Agway Store or representative . . .

Mt. Lake Woman Hospitalized By Mishap Last Week

A Mt. Lake Park woman was admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a two-car wreck about 10 a. m. last Thursday, when one of the cars started sliding on the snow-covered road in Mt. Lake Park.

Mrs. Vava Stevenson, 87, widow of Jack Stevenson, was listed in satisfactory condition in the hospital the following morning.

She was one of the two persons in a car driven by Kenneth Y. Stahl of Falls Church, Va. Stahl was proceeding west on Maryland Route 135 just west of the Mt. Lake Park limits. Edith D. Browning, N. Fourth street, Oakland, driving east, began to slide on the snow-covered highway, failed to keep to the right side of the road and struck the Stahl car. Both cars then went off the road and into a drainage ditch. Tpr. C. H. Himnant charged Edith Browning with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Another mishap later in the afternoon was apparently caused by the snow storm in the White Church area.

Donald R. Shiflett, Rt. 560, Gorman, was traveling north on Md. Route 560 in a severe snow and wind storm. He lost control of his vehicle which spun around in the roadway, struck an embankment off the right side of the road and turned on its left side in a ditch. Tfc. Ronald Lewis made no charges.

One person was slightly injured in a recent two-car accident in Mt. Lake Park.

James L. Cosner, Taneytown, driver of one car was apparently the only one injured.

Thomas Sluss, Mt. Lake Park, was traveling south on I Street in Mt. Lake Park just past midnight November 16. Cosner was in the process of alighting from his car. Sluss failed to keep to the right side of the road and struck the door of the Cosner car. Tpr. Himnant charged Sluss with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

St. Paul's To Host Children's Service

The Children's World Day of Prayer Service sponsored by Church Women United will be held next March 7 at St. Paul's Methodist Church, Oakland. Kay Ramsey of St. Paul's and Leanna Boal, Bethel Methodist Church were named co-chairmen at the first planning meeting held at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren Nov. 20. Doug Buckley will represent the Oak Park Church and Pat Weirs, St. Matthews Episcopal Church. Mrs. Ruth Fox of Church Women United, discussed the children's program theme, "God's Love Makes Us One." Other churches are expected to participate.

Seminar Held On State Deer Herd

Maryland has a healthy deer herd of approximately 60,000 head and one of the tools used to keep it healthy, legal hunting was the subject of a special seminar scheduled for November 22, at Owings Mills.

Each year, hunters harvest nearly 10,000 deer in Maryland. Wildlife biologists say the annual harvest makes an important contribution toward the continued health of the state's herd. Overpopulation, they say, could make the herd susceptible to diseases similar to those that domestic cattle sometimes contact.

Loan Approved To Sanitary Com.

Senators J. Glenn Beall, Jr., and Charles McC. Mathias announced that the Farmers Home Administration has approved a $156,300 loan to the Garrett County Sanitary Commission to extend water and sewer lines to the Broadford School and a recreational area operated by the Commission.

The loan will be repaid in 40 years with five percent interest.

Traditions

It must seem strange to people in other lands that we regard the turkey with so much affection. But that old gobbler stands for a great deal.

He evokes to most of us the triumph at Plymouth, when the faith of the Pilgrims sustained them against overwhelming odds. His wild forefathers were a star attraction at that first Thanksgiving dinner. Thanks were given to God for a harvest that meant the continuance of life itself.

Turkeys are a tradition in America, a symbol. Like many symbols, they are easy to understand once you know the full story about them.

There are many symbols and customs in the Church too, and sometimes they may seem strange. Yet they also become easily understandable once we have studied them.

The Church today is one of the world's greatest sources of history. But it is moving along with history—for even while the old customs are maintained, there are changes and new interpretations to keep pace with our changing world.

Keep pace with the Church.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

IN GOD'S TIME

Lesson for December 1, 1974

Background Scripture: Isaiah 40; Galatians 4:1-6.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 35.

A youth in a Confirmation Class once asked me: "Why was Jesus born when he was? Why wasn't he born earlier or later?"

He isn't the only one to have wondered what was so special about the day into which Jesus was born. Why then?

In his letter to the church at Galatia, Paul indicates that it was not coincidental that Jesus was born when he was, but that this happened "when the time had fully come" (Galatians 4:4). He is saying that in God's wisdom the time was right for Jesus to be born. Jesus was born when he was because the time was ripe, there was a readiness of some kind in the world.

Comfort my people

Today we can see that it was a good time for Jesus to be born. Some historians see it as a time that was ripe for the rapid spread of a new religion. Some religious historians believe that the Jewish religion had evolved to a point of readiness. Others have pointed to the specific combination of political, religious, economic, and social factors that made it "the right time."

Still, we must acknowledge that there were probably other reasons known only to God that made this "the fullness of time." Man, even at his best, cannot ever comprehend God's sense of timing. Centuries later in retrospect he may see a logic in history that would not have been apparent to a contemporary. But for the most part, man simply must trust that God will do what must be done in his own time.

The hardest part, of course, is for man to wait patiently for God. Much of the message of the prophets to the Jewish people was one of counseling patience. In Isaiah 40, for example, we find the prophet saying:

Comfort, comfort my people, says your God. Speak tenderly to Jerusalem, and cry to her that her warfare is ended, that her iniquity is pardoned... (40:1,2)

They who wait for the Lord

His message came to a people, however, who had grown impatient. Since they had not received aid, some of them had concluded that God had forgotten them:

Why do you say, O Jacob, and speak, O Israel, "My way is hid from the Lord, and my right is disregarded by my God"?

But the prophet is counseling them that those who are patient, who are willing to wait for God's deliverance in his own time, will receive what they look for: "... but they who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength..."

This is the same message that God gives us today. The prophecy of Isaiah that counseled patience is renewed in the advent of our Lord Jesus Christ. In God's own time the promises of hope will be fulfilled.
